"Beats the old team any day, Dad"

AWHILE back, he figured out just what a new tractor would do for his farm. He didn't have enough cash in the bank to handle the deal. So he talked things over with his bank manager, fair and square. He got his bank loan - and the tractor. From now on, he expects to work more acreage, increase his farm income. Soon the bank will be repaid.

He looks to his chartered bank for market information, too, and any other banking service he may need.

That's what he wants. That's what he gets. Sound business all round!

SEEDTIME and HARVEST

Dr. F. B. HARRIS, Director, Canadian Seed Service, has been named as the Canadian representative to the 1932 International Seed Congress, to be held in London, England, from September 1st to 10th, 1932.

SEEDING, RUST-RESISTANT WHEATS

One of the greatest achievements in the history of agriculture in Western Canada is the introduction of rust-resistant wheat varieties in plant breeding. The importance of this achievement is emphasized by the fact that rust caused wheat to be lost to the value of $100,000,000 in the United States in 1928. The problem of the breeding of rust-resistant wheats is a very serious one, and the threat of one and more rusts of wheat is a constant danger. This rust, even when it is in check by rust-resistant wheat, is always a serious enemy, and the best of wheat varieties are not immune from it. The Larks then visited Stettler and returned their 4 week at the hands of this club by beating the Imps 5 to 1 a very rugged, rough and hard fought game.

The 10 second mark of the third period, when the Larks scored Ralph Young Gray Menzies a 3 to 0 victory.

Stettler took the lead only to lose it up. This set the stage for Harold Patrick who was the hero of the game to score the winning goal with just over 4 minutes remaining in the game.

The score in the game was kept to a minimum by special goal tending on both sides but especially by the Larks goalie Dick Roy who made many a sensational save in the game.

The FORD TRACTOR
Makes More Of Its POWER

Hydraulic Touch Control Is Key To Ford Tractor Versatility

The Hydraulic mechanism is integral part of the design of every Ford Tractor... it's not an accessory or an extra, or an afterthought.

It's built into the tractor - hydraulic pump, piston and steel oil pressure lines - away from dust and dirt - no external hose connections... no hydraulic fluid leaks to cause your implement shed floor, implements or clothes. That's why the Ford Tractor's hydraulic touch control is smooth positive and quick.

The Proof-meter Gives You More Accurate Control Of POWER

Maple Leafs Win Two Straight

The high flying Alix Maple Leafs made two straight over the Lacombe Generals by soundly thrumping the club, Young Watt F. Young and one B. in a Central Alberta League game Saturday night in Alix. It was the second such beating that Alix has administered to Lacombe with a similar score of 5 to 2 in their first encounter.

The Leafs opened fast and poured it on the Generals goal for 3 unanswered first period goals, but were held in the second to be outscored 2 and only have a 4 to lead. The final game was all Alix with the home team now making all over Lacombe and completely outplaying them in every department. They racked up 21 total goals without any retaliation from the hapless Generals.

When you add it all up...

When you consider the men, women and money needed to operate 3,700 branches—you see what is looking after the greatly increased demands made by busy Canadians upon their chartered banks.

In ten years... with bigger staffs and higher wages, payrolls have jumped from $40 million a year to $125 million

... taxes, federal, provincial and municipal, have risen from $8.5 million to $28.7 million a year

... interest paid to depositors has increased from $92 million to $27.8 million a year.

And these are only three of many expenses banks. Yes, today more than ever, it costs money to run a bank.

Pioneer Resident Passes At Lacombe

On January 17 the district of Alix mourned the passing of a number of its old residents, Walter Gertrude Hall Parley. Mr. Parley was in his 96th year, about 60 years of his life having been spent in the district where he resided until his death. The second son of the late Rev. John Hall Parley of Brandon, Manitoba, England, Walter Parley was educated at Trinity Grammar School, Malvern College, and St. John's College, Oxford. He resided in M. A. at Oxford in the 1880's and later spent 2 years at the University of Toronto, Canada.

In 1890 he joined his brother Edward who came to Canada. They were called, together the two brothers took to ranching, first at Wolf Creek near Poncha, moving to the Buffalo Lake district before the close of 1890.

After his brothers marriage in 1891 Walter Parley established his permanent home at the Dartmouth Ranch, Alix. In 1897 he married Mary Young of Alix. They were the parents of four children, Mary, Young, J. Parley, M. Parley, M. Parley, M. Parley.

In his earlier years Mr. Parley took a great interest in local affairs, he and his brother were among a small group of pioneers who built the first small log church at Lacombe now known as St. Joseph's.

Walter Parley was one of the most enthusiastic members of the Hansted Lake Polo Club. This club played at the tournament in Edmonton at the inauguration of the province in 1905. Among other activities Mr. Parley was president of the Alix U. F. A. and a Director on the Provincial U. F. A. Board in the early days of that organization. He was an active member of the St. Patrick's Anglican Church, a Justice of the Peace and Game Warden at Alix, and an original member of both the Alberta Wheat Pool and Central Alberta Dairy Pool.

Mr. Parley is survived by his wife, the Hon. Mrs. Parley, and two sons, Harry and Edward. Mr. Parley was predeceased by his brother Edward MacKinnon who died in Poncha on September 17, 1931.

The funeral service was held on January 22 at 2:30 pm from the Alix Legion Hall with Rev. F. C. Austin officiating. Interment took place in the Alix cemetery.

Christmas Seal Fund Closing Date

February 1st will be the closing date for the 1961-62 Christmas Seal sale in Alberta. It was announced today by G. S. Laikie, Lethbridge, president of the Alberta Tuberculosis Association.

Provincial receipts to date total $178,224, which is still $4,769 short of the $183,000 objective.

This amount is the very least that will permit the Association to carry out its extensive program in 1962-3, which includes early diagnosis through mobile units and x-ray installations in hospitals, vocational training and rehabilitation, tubercle testing, nursing services and welfare, research and health education, public and professional.

For Drumheller and district, the total now stands at $2,686, which is $1,516 from the $2,000 objective. J. F. Watkins, chairman of the Drumheller Elksmen Club TB Seal Committee, reports that a large number of former contributors have not yet been heard from, and urges everyone to "send in that contribution now."

Christmas TB Seal contributions are income tax deductible, and may be sent to the Drumheller Elksmen Club TB Seal Office, Drumheller, Alberta.

THANK YOU!

We wish to thank our readers and advertisers of the Alix district for their loyal support of the Alix Free Press during the time we were privileged to publish the paper. The problem of trying to publish a weekly newspaper, however, without modern typesetting machinery is a difficult job, and we found it impossible to carry on any longer.

Lorraine will, however, continue as local editor of the paper and we trust that under the new arrangement the same loyal support will be given her and the new publisher.

YES, SIR, that's Grande, the sweet old thing with the pointed ears who turn up occasionally on the Rawhide Show, broadcast Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays at 8:00 p.m. on CBW, 9:00 p.m. on CBC-CFM. Of course, Grande is not the CBC staff comedian Miss Ferguson, but Rawhide, who says he's played with the same comedian, claims it's just an optical illusion. The picture was taken on the occasion of Grande's first appearance before a CBC microphone with a live audience. It started for weeks on a radio street corner selling Christmas cards and I could buy my radio license and hold my head high.

LEAFS HOLD STANDING IN LEAGUE

ALIX — The Leafs gave the fans a thrilling game when they played the Eds on Thursday night. The score of 4-1 at the beginning of the first 15 minutes of the game indicated a battle of attrition. In these last few minutes gave the Leafs the advantage and they scored. This left the score 4-1 for the Eds. In a last desperate attempt the Leafs drew their goalie to gamble the ice for seconds of game time for that tying goal. A throw shot from the line off the Eds' hip line gave the Eds the deciding goal to finish the game in a 4-1 score.

ALIX-LACOMBE

On Saturday night the last game in the league for Alix was played on home ice against the Lacombe Generals. Again the boys not only showed good hockey, but more spirit, unmatchable by any other team. The home town club came away with a 3-2 score several times. The second period showed a score of 4-1 with the Leafs not scoring the Generals 3-1 in the third stanza only to be beaten by one goal in a score of 5-1.

77TH ANNUAL WINTER CARNIVAL

ALIX — Next Friday evening at 7:30 the Alix Athletic Association presents its annual Ice Carnival at the Arena. Once again, the carnival committee, under the direction of Chick Larnburg and Ed Garret, have spared no effort to make this year's show bigger and better than ever. Several new and novel ideas have been introduced to make a full evening of fun and entertainment for everyone.

The highlight of the program will be a Fancy Skating Revue under the direction of Florence Nelson, who, this year, has been instructing the local Fancy Skating Club. With the help of four members from the Wainwright Club, Mrs. Nelson has lined up a program with 11 fast moving acts which will give every member of the Alix Skating Club a chance to perform before the home town fans.

The 25-dancers Leduc Band, under the direction of Bruce Nash will set their feet to a band stand in the Arena and, accompanied by six pretty Majorettes, will give a fine performance.

will add plenty of color and life to the program. Costumes and fast dances will be the order of the night for the kiddies and, judging from past results, the many novelties and humorous costumes will be a source of great amusement to all seeing the show. Chorus, special songs and colorized skating will give a gala ceremonial appearance to the proceed

The late evening program will substitute a modern dance on the ice, with a full dance band in attendance. Novelty dances, prizes and a special square dance competition on ice will provide hours of fun to both the participating and the spectators. The lunch counter will, of course, be entering to the large crowd, and everyone is advised to get there early and avoid the inevitable last minute congestion at the door. Above all, mark Friday, February 22, as Carnival night in Alix, and turn out to see the best show yet.

Buick Custom Roadmaster

"We did it Again!"

The dynamic designs planned here are the 1952 Buicks.

They have the mightiest engines in Buick history.

They have the biggest brakes of any power Buick.

They are the quietest cars that Buick ever built.

They have the richest fabrics and most coloring that ever graced a Buick's interior.

They have the greatest amount of usable trunk space since tires moved off the front fenders.

They have the most superb ride in Buick's history.

They have the finest workmanship that Buick research has ever devised.

And with all their power, they deliver more miles per gallon.

But that is not all.

For those who wish it, there is a brand-new version of power-steering on the ROADMASTER series that works like a helping hand—gives you the same new feel of control you have always known, but never taken more than four pounds of effort to turn the wheel.

You'll find a host of notable features in all Buicks—ROADMASTERS, SUPRA and CUSTOMS too—plenty to make them, as always, the standouts by far in their fields for ride, for comfort, for style, for room, and for power.

Come in—look this triumph over triumph over—and you'll decide that now is the time to put your best foot forward and own a Buick.

Equipment, accessories, tires and models are subject to change without notice.

Father, a former cook, made a delicious layer cake with peanut butter. It was his birthday cake, but before the great day arrived his youngest daughter cut and ate a generous slice. When Dad discovered the eat in his lovely masterpiece, he exclaimed to the family: "If the one who took that piece of cake will admit it I'll give her another piece." Brownies Go To Settler

ALIX—Last Friday night the Brownies took their debut-parade to Settler. They gave the same performance in the ice carnival here as they did for the Settler carnival. No prizes were given there, but the girls received a wonderful ovation in appreciation for their grand effort.

Mrs. Len Johnson directed the girls' set, costumes and decorations. One really felt that "mash of Holland" when they saw the windmills and tulips surrounded by the blue and white of the Dutch girls. This was a well thought up performance, worth sharing with Settler friends.

THE BEST AND THE MOST FOR YOUR MONEY

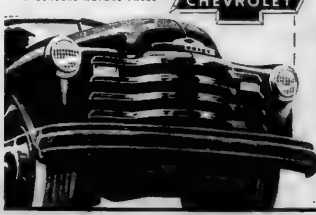

Nineteen-fifty-two brings a new era in Truck Transportation — made possible by Chevrolet engineers! Here for '52, are new Chevrolet Truck models to choose from than ever before! They carry bigger payloads! They'll haul loads faster — powered by the famous valvetrain-head Chevrolet engines rated up to 120 horsepower.

It's a fact! Wherever trucks must really earn their way, wherever costs are figured down to the last cent — that's where a 1952 Chevrolet Truck, and only a Chevrolet, fills the bill! That's true whether your job calls for a custom delivery or an extra-heavy!

See for yourself. Check Chevrolet Trucks point for point — count up the features that make Chevrolets more than other. The Leader! First in value, first in demand, first by far in actual sales!

FWUA Meeting Held

ALIX—The regular meeting of the FWUA was held in the UFA hall on Saturday, March 1. The members undertook to sponsor another art exhibition. This year artists from all Canada will be represented, the work having been done at the Banff School of Arts. The exhibition will be on display around the second week in May. In order to raise funds for the art display, members decided to hold a tea on April 11.

Following the completion of business, Mr. Young, Red Cross representative from Lacombe, addressed the members on the various phases of Red Cross work. Mr. Young then brought up the topic of the local 1952 Red Cross drive, feeling sure of the co-operation that has always been shown by the other groups in the community. The FWUA agreed to take the preliminary steps to get the 1952 canvass started. Mr. Young pointed out that Alix was losing the 15 per cent of the total canvass, which is customarily returned by any branch of the Red Cross.

The FWUA was asked to contact the other local organizations with the view to re-organizing the Red Cross branch in Alix.

NEW FEDERAL TAXES HAVE SHOT UP ON AVERAGE NEW CAR

EDMONTONIAN CAR TAXES

The Canadian who buys an average priced new automobile today must pay nearly eight times as much in sales and excise taxes in the federal government as he had to pay on the same car in 1930. And he pays more than five times what his American cousin pays to Washington on a similar car. On a representative sedan (figures shown in the above graph), the sales tax has increased from $20.70 in 1930 to $124.49 today, an increase of 158 per cent. But the big hike has been in excise taxes, up from $4.81 in 1930 to $254.57 today, a boost of 730 per cent. Federation Automobile Association of Canada argue that although cars are used to get to and from work, they are taxed in the same class as slot machines and juke boxes.

Coin Dating Back To 1745 Owned By Alix Couple

ALIX—Recently an article in the Lacombe Globe told of a rare dating back to 1763 owned by Mrs. Kathleen Neeson. However, Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Knight, of Alix, have a fair shilling piece in their possession dating back to 1745. The coin is in very good condition and carries the picture of King George II on it. This coin is 267 years old and was given to Mr. Knight by his aunt in England 35 years ago. Formerly owned by Mr. Knight's father, the rare coin was found with old family jewellery which was sent to Canada at the time of his death.

OIL INTEREST KEEN; LAMBERTON GULF NO. 4 BEING DRILLED

ALIX—The oil wells being drilled near Nerve on the Lambert farm by Tommasevich Brothers Co. (Inc.) is being closely watched by the citizens of Alix and district. Many feel the result of the well will be an inference on the oil future in the district and may be the future of the village. On Monday night Mr. H. A. Krane reports drilling down to 5,100 feet marked in hard Hordern. Hordern coming to bring down in this 12,000 foot interval and pressure to reach the 6,500 mark. Twenty drill stem test curing 15 feet per day and testing in 17 foot pipe set at 1,500 feet.

There has been a heavy gas flow at the rate of 30 million cubic feet per day. This natural gas flow is being captured now. A little oil has been found at times being mixed with water and mud.

Many interested by-standers drill on Sunday. Although some 15 miles east and south of Alix, this is only one of several wild cat wells being drilled nearby.

United Church Young People's Disbanded

ALIX—Last fall the United Church minister, Rev. R. Oldier, organized a young people's group in Alix. These young people were divided into three groups. Senior intermediate and Junior, which met once a week.

When the young people were first organized great enthusiasm was shown by the younger set. They met groups from other towns and planned many get-togethers. However, as time went on, other activities seemed to draw the interest away from the club. This week it was reported that the Young People's group has been discontinued. It is hoped that some next fall they might be re-organized and activities taken up which might lead the interest of the members.

Safety Essay Competition In Rural Schools

The first farm essay competition sponsored by the Alberta Safety Council, has begun for rural students of grades five, six, seven and eight in Alberta.

The announcement comes from R. D. Jorgensen, M.L.A. chairman of the Farm Safety Essay Committee of the Alberta Safety Council. The competition is open to all school divisions and already about one-third of these have indicated that they will participate. Entries from grades five and six will be judged separately from those of grades seven and eight. Awards will be made in each school division for the best essay in each of these two groups.

Personal first prize awards to the authors will be specially designed pins featuring the Green Cross for Safety flanked by heads of wheat to symbolize agriculture. The school rooms from which the winning essays come will receive handsome wall plaques to commemorate the occasion. Some school division superintendents have indicated that their office may provide an additional prize for the young writers.

Posters and pamphlets on farm safety are being sent to school superintendents as their entries are received at the safety council office. This information deals with carbon monoxide, fires, explosives and farm machinery (except tractors). The present essay will be confined to a choice of those subjects and future competitions will deal with other accident hazards such as tractors, animals, hand tools, etc.

The farm committee of the safety council believes that safety education should be started early in life. They are receiving valuable assistance from the Department of Education and Agriculture. Other members of the committee besides Mr. Jorgensen are: W. E. Frame, Chief Superintendent of Schools; R. Himmig, President, Alberta School Teachers' Association; E. B. Swindhurst, Department of Agriculture; Howard Stutchbury, manager, and Paul Lawrence, safety director of the Alberta Safety Council.

SPENDS TWO HOURS SKINNING STEER, GETS $1.79 FOR HIDE AND LABOR

C. Jorgenson, a farmer of the Strome district, has a "beef" about a steer's hide, and he'll defy anyone to say his complaint isn't warranted.

One day recently, Mr. Jorgenson spent two hours with the hide of a steer to skin a two-year-old steer. The hide weighed 52 lbs. and what with the price of skins and other things, Mr. Jorgenson figured he should get approximately $12.00 for it.

When the buyers in Edmonton got to him they immediately weighed it for shrinkage. That left 47 lbs. A pair of shoes, with the hide, approximately 48 pounds, costs $1.79. Farmer Jorgenson does not get for one pound of hide. Only 1/2 of that figure is in a pound!

But that isn't all. Out of the $1.79 price he had to pay $1.50 for shipping charges. The net return on one steer's hide, plus a pair of shoes for each of two men skinning, was exactly $1.29.

Mr. Jorgenson says he has a "beef" about the transaction that he has more than skinning a steer in the transaction.

In a five-year period, the automobile sales and service tax total $499; in 1950 these taxes totaled $45; sales tax has increased 128 per cent, excise tax 1360 per cent.

Competition Rules For Farm and Home Improvement Plan

Edmonton Agricultural Society are sponsoring a farm and home improvement competition to be judged sometime next fall. This is the first annual competition has been run.

At a meeting held in the Mayne Harris Building Board Room the evening of April 1, the rules of the contest were outlined. Miss Ruth Whaley, Home Economist, outlined what improvements could be made in planning a home, a person should have in mind these important items, the convenience of the home and the livability of it, adequacy of the home for the family, with plenty of bedroom space. Mr. Campbell, Liberty, outlined around the home. One thing to avoid is too steep stairs. Stairs will be good or taken away on such things as the type and condition of the working facilities. An evidence of good housekeeping is important.

Pilgrimage Miss Whaley's advice on how a farm home should be planned. Mr. J. A. Whitford, B.A., of Mayne Harris, and Mr. Campbell, Liberty, talked on the planning of the house grounds. He stated that only good grounds go along with a well planned home. Kitchen plans are not necessary now as they are previous. Better a few shrubs, flowers and little square of lawn will look after themselves and thought if planning will be the scoring mark.

The next speaker was Mr. J. M. Proulx, B.A. of Mayne Harris and Mr. Campbell, Liberty. Mr. Proulx dealt with relation and self conservation. He said planning a turn to save entails a rotation including the growing of vegetables in relation of fields thereby for one quarter to one half the land in the future crops rotated with grain. Mr. Proulx said that with proper long vision planning, the necessary farming machinery can be obtained for the requirements of a farm program with an economy of purchases in both type, quantity and numbers required.

The final speaker of the evening was Mr. J. Proulx, B.A., an assistant agriculturalist and works in all municipalities. His speech of the content is the plan of the Proulx mentioned that was

Falls On Saw; Fatally Hurt

CONNYVILLE, Tex., May 1. — A man was killed by a saw while working on a farm in this northern Alberta district. The victim fell from the saw while cutting a road.

Planning the farm buildings there are a number of things which should be kept in mind such as the placing of buildings; their proximity to fields being a chief consideration and access to the main road important. He pointed out, however, that once a farmstead is set up, it is not easily changed. In this instance, if the farm buildings are badly laid out, through no fault of the present owner, then the general appearance and upkeep will help add or detract from the overall adequacy of buildings, their saving devices and fence and coral repair provides some of the sound advice.

Find "Easy Route" To Interior B.C.

DELLA COOLA, B.C. (UPI). — The dream of engineers to build an easy route for a highway between Bella Coola on the north coast of British Columbia and the interior of the province may have been realized.

A party, led by Mount Ranger Bill Bennett, has found a "wild" cut-off route "over grass-land" cut-off route about 80 miles up the Bella Coola valley.

Plans for the highway to the interior were blocked by the government for several years because of the high cost of building a road through the mountains.

The investigation party reported there was little more than 1,000 feet of rock involved in the cutting proposed route.

There are 45 miles of roads in the Bella Coola valley and an additional 10 miles would give Canada her third outlet to the Pacific.

AN ARTIST'S IMPRESSION of the interior of the Canadian Pacific Railway's new restaurant counter cars which will go into service soon to feed over 50,000 immigrants who will arrive in the country during 1952 is shown above. The new cars follow a design conceived by the CP's design and dining, mechanical and electrical departments. They were designed last year with stripped-down standard dining cars to meet the need for newly designed equipment. Their aim is to provide a dining car which will meet the needs of the immigrant.

FARMERS URGED NOT TO BURN STUBBLE AS STRAW IS VALUABLE

EDMONTON.—G. R. Sterling, Supervisor of Soil Conservation and Weed Control in the Department of Agriculture has issued a warning to farmers to not burn stubble, in the interests of Soil Conservation.

In his statement, he says: "If farmers think heavy stubble is a nuisance, stop and listen: If you burn it, it's gone. If you keep it as trash cover you stop soil drifting and water erosion.

Trash cover holds moisture in the soil where you want it. It decays to provide food for your crops.

Did you know that 100 pounds of straw or stubble per acre supplies as much nitrogen as 75 pounds of 11-48-0 or 50 pounds of 16-20-0 fertilizer? Why burn it? Here's how to handle heavy trash:

Use a blade type or wide shovel cultivator — or use sharp (11-48-0) or 50 lbs (16-20-0) to go over it. Field twice. Scarify windrowed straw first.

Three ways to scatter straw: Use an oscillating harrow.

Butter Output Shows Decrease

EDMONTON.—The Alberta Agriculture Department announced that butter production in the first three months of 1952 was 2,651,666 pounds, a drop of 432,000 pounds from the same period a year ago. Factory shows production in the period amounted to 280,000 pounds as against 268,000 pounds a year ago.

Cultivate across the windrow with a wide shovel cultivator from which alternate or more heads have been removed. You can use an ordinary cultivator if you take off enough heads.

Drive across the rows with an ordinary dairy rake, but open the teeth 18 inches or more, depending on the amount of straw. What about seeding?

You can seed through trash cover with a disc drill, or with a seeding attachment on your tiller or discer. Pack the land after seeding. Don't worry if seed shows at the straw stage. Straw and stubble is valuable. Don't burn it.

U.S. Fighter's Landing Forced

EDMONTON An F-94 Thunderbolt fighter plane of the United States Air Force made a belly landing at the Edmonton Municipal Airport, the pilot escaped without a scratch.

The flier found it impossible to lower his wheels and decided to land the landing. He was returning to the Base in Alaska in formation with three other F-94s. The other three landed without difficulty after a brief stop-over.

A bad landing could be completely over again to double the production of the aircraft.

Reporter Enjoys Writing News

STANTON — Friends, I enjoy writing these news items every week, very much. And I agree with the editor—Alix is a good town, so how about a good paper? I know this is a very busy time of year with planting, etc., but surely you must have more than that would be of interest to your friends and neighbors. Please phone your news items to the editor.

MRS. B. M. GIESSELMAN, Station Reporter.

Farmers Face Labor Shortage

EDMONTON.—Alberta farmers face a definite shortage of farm labor, F. H. Newhouse, assistant director for the provincial agriculture department, reported.

He said the province has about 700 to 800 immigrants from Europe, most of whom would work on a year-round basis on farms.

But he doubted if many of them would arrive in time to ease the present peak labor demand, resulting from start-up season harvesting of 1951-crop grain and seeding of 1952 crops.

Mr. Newhouse said the number of immigrants arriving for farm labor will be only "a drop in the ocean." Most farmers were having to rely on transient workers to handle the spring work and these men often were not to be found.

Two Men Killed, One Injured When Struck By Car

EDMONTON, B.C. — Two men were killed and one seriously injured when struck by a car while walking on the highway near Mayne Harris. The victims were identified as Patrick E. Sprague, 40, of Edmonton, Alberta, and Albert J. Dornan, 46, of Mayne, B.C., and the car was injured was owned by 27-year-old Mr. Joseph Maurin.

The men were hit by a car after it had been stopped. A truck, carrying a load of lumber, was also involved in the building.

Sprague, who arrived at Mayne Harris from Alberta, was engaged about 50 feet and died instantly. The other Dornan died while en route to hospital.

Toronto Gunman Undergoes Surgery

TORONTO — Steve Backus, gunman charged jointly with Lester B. Pearson with the murder of Sergeant of Detective Edgar Ford, was reported "improved" following an operative Thursday.

The operation was performed to permit drainage of fluid from his chest. Police said his condition had improved enough to be taken off the critical list.

Suchan was wounded in Montreal in a gun fight with police during his capture.

EDMONTON
RE ENTERED FAMILY)

Judge In District Court Grants Appeal

By HENRY THOMPSON

An application for an appeal against an order issued by a magistrate under the Domestic Relations Act was granted and the case brought up for trial before Judge McEwen in the District Court at St. Paul, March 25.

The court decided that the husband's action in returning to the farm did not constitute desertion within the meaning of the Act. The husband had followed his wife on her teaching work and failed to better his financial position by other jobs and a picture show business. His action in leaving the school teaching for the farm was a desire to provide better living conditions for the family.

The wife's refusal to follow her husband's occupation and the husband's equally determined stand that he would not support his family in any other mode except in the new home he had built for the family, drew some pointed remarks to both parties in their lack of true consideration for the true interests of the three children.

The father again in this court expressed his desire for the return of his wife and children and did not in the court or in the other, express any disparaging remarks of evidence against his wife's character. His answers to all questions by the solicitors drew only the briefest denial of the bare facts of the case.

In comparison, the wife's lurid explanations of stormy scenes in the marital relations were highlights of a damaging picture to the husband's character, conduct and ability and proved the truth of the old saying that "love is blind". The fact that they lived only seven miles apart and went to school together, left no doubt in my mind that the case had judgment in showing a man with all the shortcomings that have developed since the marriage.

Contrary to general opinion, action in domestic relations cases, the apparent insanity of the courts in favor of women is based on statistical fact. In the majority of cases the evidence clearly shows a man is more likely to be at fault. The evidence in this court conclusively proved the husband made many sacrifices to save the marriage and was still fighting to save the piece.

The court had no jurisdiction in the matter of custody of the children and it is assumed further litigation will take place to this end.

The judge in his summary of the case on announcement of his decision, reminded both parents of their responsibility to the children and suggested the father might contribute something to their support, providing further action.

Storage Beef In U.S.A.

United States current holdings of beef in storage at the figure of 34 million pounds is the greatest reported for this time of year since 1944 and the second largest since 1926. Frozen beef amounts to about 20 million pounds or about three-fourths greater than the storage figure. All shows of pork in storage total almost 600 million pounds while, while not a record, is the highest figure since 1944.

U.S. Army Recruit Gets First Pair Shoes

The U.S. Army is grappling with the strange case of a recruit who never heard of the draft... had never ridden in an elevator... and was wearing his first pair of shoes.

The soldier is 26-year-old Peter Grainger, a husky mountaineer son of a New Mexican prospector. Peter told his startling story to army recruiters in San Antonio, Texas.

He said he had decided to join the service after his "paw" died, and set off on his own from the isolated rock hut in northern New Mexico where he and his father lived alone.

When the male died he got a lift from a passing motorist.

Grainger showed up in sheepskin trousers with a shovel over his shoulders. Recruiters checked and re-checked his tale, but could find no evidence that he had ever registered for the draft. Finally they decided to accept him and stop searching the records.

Peter had only two complaints today: He felt "a little sick" from his first auto and elevator ride. And he complained of red tape, because the army wouldn't give him a gun and send him out to fight.

Chinese Singer Features Contest

DRUMHELLER — May 8th. 15-year-old Chinese girl who has been in Canada for a year, poured charm into the first annual Drumhell Rotary Club international amateur talent show. She was placed first in group two of the singing contests. This pretty girl sang her first number in English and then gave a number in Chinese, the first Chinese song to be heard here. When she arrived in Canada a year ago she could only speak a few words in English.

Another most colorful number was the solo song which was won by Jean Makar and Albert Kostick, of Newcastle, singing a duet in Ukrainian. They were dressed in gorgeous colorful Ukrainian costumes. Verena Roblin, of Newcastle, was a popular winner in the junior dance. Her outstanding number was a Czech dance and she was crowned in Canadian uniform. Arthur James, of East Coole, strided in Welsh costume, entranced the large gathering when he won the vocal finalist solo results.

Agriculturally Speaking

By G. W. ROBERTSON

This section saw the age-old story of flood conditions and flood damage set new and staggering records. While we were reading the news of the disaster in the north, we moved from the process of water erosion of our own soil worked its relentless way. Up and down our municipality old gulches were deepened and broadened, new gulches were formed and a good many tons of our best topsoil were washed into the lower spots, into the creeks and on to the river.

That is not the whole story "for many farmers are well aware of what is happening to our soil. Some are taking very definite action in the matter of control. One such is E. A. Elliott of Delta.

From a very modest start in the business of growing wheat rather more than fifteen years ago, Mr. Elliott has gone on to become something of a specialist. His field on his farm is more than two or at most three years away from the top stage. Grasses now growing include Crested Wheat Grass, King Red Fescue and Ryegrass. This spring there is no apparent water erosion on his farm.

From the growing of grass Mr. Elliott went on with the next logical step and built a grass seed cleaning plant. This seed he has been able to bring his seed up to the highest standard.

It's Up To Us

The success of the Canadian Cancer Society's fund campaign in northern Alberta is now up to the country. That's the word from crusade headquarters in Edmonton. With campaigns at most country points just getting underway, the fund has reached over $70,000, almost halfway to the minimum objective of $88,000.

If district campaigns can do as well as these, the following year, success is assured. Due to this, however, the cancer society has extended its campaign through to the end of May. Early returns from a few points have been encouraging, but some points are not yet mobilized. Where no campaign is organized, people interested in fighting cancer are asked to send their donations to Crusade Against Cancer, 11225 Jasper Ave., Edmonton.

At least $68,000 is required to maintain the society's year-round campaign of education and research aimed at stamping out

Dairymen's Dilemma

Losses of dairy products in Canada are being quite a problem at the present time. They have lost the British market for over a year to the lack of dollars in the U.K. and Korea. They have also lost the Japanese market for a year or so because of the restrictions imposed by the Congress of that nation. They have also lost the market in the United States for dairy products because of the restrictions imposed by the U.S. Congress. Last year 32,000 dairy cows and heifers were exported to the United States.

Some of these happenings have resulted in the probability of a substantial surplus of butter and whole milk being produced in Canada. Consumers are looking forward to much lower prices. Producers, with high fixed costs, will need some help, and are not so happy about the outcome.

Beef Floor Price

The 25-cent-a-pound floor price for good steers, basis Toronto, will work out to 22.35 cents in Calgary and Edmonton, according to Rt. Hon. J. G. Gardiner, federal minister of agriculture. The floor is fixed until next July. The floor for the month of July will be announced the first of June. Mr. Gardiner said that the floor will be maintained until the United States embargo on Canadian cattle is removed.

Driving Violators Tested

In one of the nation's metropolitan cities recently, a new approach to the problem of chronic driving violators" was tried. A city official announced that eleven motorists, who had been chronic violators, had been referred to a university center for psychological tests to determine their "driving personalities."

One of the cases referred was a motorist, who, since 1918 had run up 11 violations including passing a red light, speeding, making a wrong turn and failing to keep to the right. This driver was asked if he would be willing to undergo the emotional test and replied in the affirmative.

A director of the tests say they are comprised of a series of tests administered over an eight-hour period. The examinations are psychological and do not include actual drivlicense. On the other hand, the tests will have to show up this deficiency and help the driver correct his faults. Such a critical analysis is a badly-needed part of driver-ability tests, which too often allow the unfit behind the wheel of an automobile.

It's all right to work by a schedule, if you can keep up with the schedule.

Farming—Russian Style

Reports from inside Russia indicate there is mounting discontent among Soviet citizens because of the steadily increasing price of collective farm livestock and the steadily decreasing number of individually-owned livestock.

These agricultural experts believe the average collective farm family in Russia has less than one cow, less than one pig and less than one sheep, and less than one calf. Since this is the average, it is evident that some collective farmers own no livestock at all.

This situation — the trend toward collective farm ownership of livestock — has been steadily since the Communist collectivization program first began in 1928. In addition, collective farm ownership of livestock has increased to 51.8 per cent of the cattle known to exist in Russia; in 1932, the collective farms had 37 per cent of the cattle. Meanwhile, privately-owned cattle, hogs, sheep and goats declined steadily in number that date.

Glass Paper

The president of a company known as "Globe Inc." announced in San Francisco that newspaper would "start being produced from glass instead of wood" and that within a decade newspapers "will be printed on glass."

Facing the last phrase literally, think of the problems that would be solved:

- No more stale jokes or cartoons about "fish" sticking his nose in his paper for breakfast table.
- But then, neither can you hide from a "pest" behind your paper on the train.

(From the Westlock Witness)

Co-operative business is getting to be big business in this country. A lot of money, and a tremendous amount of merchandise changes hands in the existing co-operative set-up. Yet, the system is being carried on through the most direct support of private business, through inment. Dealers added their voice from time to time protesting the situation. Some can quarrel with the proposition that it is right for a group of persons to band together to buy merchandise in quantity to sell themselves at a lesser final cost than that asked by private business. If they wish to do the job "among themselves," that is well and good. However, it is wrong that private enterprise should be taxed to provide government administration that promotes or encourages co-operative buying and selling, while the co-op is not levied.

er that profit is given back to the buyer as a dividend, or whether it is held by one person or a corporation as a return on investment and is immaterial. The profit is there, and if profit is taxed, all should be taxed.

It is to be hoped that the coming parliamentary session will act on the many appeals submitted on tax structure.

THAT DEVON PORT SPREAD

By HENRY THOMPSON

The people of this family must for the time, remain anonymous, but let me assure you, readers, they are not a flimsy or a flimsy imagination. My interest in the family dates from three and half years ago. Their cousin, a staunch democratic Canadian, spent his early boyhood days on an estate disputed by armies on Polish soil in the First Great War. He is an interesting seagull and a good friend. I was in this man's house when he received word from his cousin. The text of which was an inquiry for any knowledge of his cousin's family. Plans were discussed that some evening he had his cousin come of Canada.

The family are now in Alberta. Their story, unlike many others, has a happy ending. Hardships under the iron bonds of Communist Russia is an unbelievable revision of human nature's delusions, back to the dim ages of ancient history. A repetition of Hitler's horror prison camps, the only comparison possible to the modern Canadian mind. Separated from his father, this family of six persons survived exile in Siberia, with all the deprivations of semi-starvation, sickness and cold, to be once again united as a family. They express great appreciation for the organizations that made this possible, particularly the British Government, who gave them sanctuary and befriended them. All it was possible for them to come to Canada.

General Sakorsky's deal with the Russian Government, whereby Polish soldiers were to help in the resistance against the Germans, demanded the release of any Polish people in Russian hands. The mother and her four children were moved to Persia, India and thence to the Colony of Tanganyika in Africa. The husband's movements are obscure for obvious reasons, but the re-union took place on the hot sands of Africa. A big contrast with the deep snows of their first Siberian habitation. Their treatment and associations with those in Authority away from Russia, a much greater contrast.

Competent services of the Red Cross in bringing scattered families together, arranged a reunion of one of us who have been graduated our kit to the Red Cross funds will not appreciate the merit of this organization so do these Polish refugees. Helpful and enthusiastic for their place in the free air of Canada, united again after all hope was gone and life itself was a burden.

They were forthrightly removed from their farm home, where the family was born and raised. The eldest boy was sixteen years old when there was no word from the father who had been arrested several months before, accused of being sympathetic to democratic ideals. No one dared inquire for lost relations, to have done so meant swift reprisal. First knowledge that the father still lived, came to them in Africa.

The only act of kindness, they were to receive by their Russian captors, was through a private soldier.

The officer had instructed them to leave everything as their abodes would only be for a short period. This kindly private had secretly advised the mother to take all the food and clothing they could carry, as they would never see their home again. Acting on this advice was the means of saving them from starvation and some misery on the way but can trip into their bleak Siberian exile.

The horrors of that trip, with only the few clothing and bed things they were able to carry to the train, was not described in these columns. Men, women and children were packed together with no sanitary arrangements or privacy. All refuse must pass through a small hole, in the centre of the car, in full view of the doorway when opened. The sealed cars were opened at division points for inspection. Soldiers lined the doors with loaded guns, while examination was taking place by officials. On the latter part of the journey, women were ordered to their own bodies of any unable to survive the ordeals of the journey.

One year with a cement bed and over a year sleeping on round poles with a vicious diet of very black bread and water, did not improve the father's health. However, in his travels since his unceremonious departure from Russia, his health improved greatly—so much so that he was able to pass our own strict requirements in this regard. Our immigration officials are greatly hard boiled and the entrance of the family was delayed some time on this account.

The two sons and the youngest daughter are at work, the other sister hopes to find work, but would like to be in the same district if possible, they are all eager to make up the lost years spent in travel to escape from a man's clutches. One marvel at the come back of the human body and survival of the spirit of democracy under such excruciating circumstances. They had flailing circumstances. They had to the materialistic communist ideology to receive help from their compatriots.

The mother is working on some Devon Port Forest, done in wool beautiful cubism work, but the work is a masterpiece of artistry, to which my cumbersome vocabulary can not do justice. It is a diamond-shaped design of such exquisite blending of color that it gives one a most pleasing sense of satisfaction in its effect; none of the brilliant colors that stifle your senses of beauty but rather that self-satisfying exhilaration that comes to one who observes the indescribable home of the rainbow.

The wonder is not so much in the work itself, but the fact that through all the horrors of her experience she has retained the ability to depict the culture of her lost homeland. Every material thing, spiritual and moral fabric of a lifetime, had been so ruthlessly deprived her in the evil uprooting that has become a national tragedy for those who dare to think of their principles.

Just a few hours, with some of the qualities of high education, this Polish immigrant has given expression to the very essence of democratic ideals—some life—the foundation from which all the finer qualities strength bear their richest fruit. A strength that will ensure our triumph over the materialistic Communist concept of Russian Communism.

Regina Man Has 1739 Naval Medal

REGINA, Sask. — (BUP) — A tarnished 211-year-old medal, commemorating the capture of Puerto Bello in Panama by a small British naval force in 1789, hangs in the home of a Regina man, his most treasured possession.

The British government struck 150 medals in honor of the victory over a strong Spanish force of ships and troops, but only two are believed still in existence, one of them belonging to Albert J. Massey of Regina.

The medal has on one side a bust of Admiral Edward Vernon, commander of the Royal Navy's Caribbean squadron, with the words, "Admiral Vernon took Puerto Bello."

On the other side is a picture of six full-rigged ships and the words "With six ships only."

In the sun-washed bay into which Admiral Vernon led his daring fleet, Sir Francis Drake, the famed Elizabethan explorer and adventurer, was broken in 1580.

Massey said he found the medal in 1900 while working on a construction project near New Brunswick, Kent, in England. The only other one reported in existence was found in Canterbury two years later.

The difference in price is more than double the amount that the farmers have invested in the construction costs and building wiring costs to get the power.

Farmers through Rural Electrification Co-operative Associations are accomplishing a great deal of work in the neighborhood way which could not be accomplished as well or at all through the ordinary electric company—and doing it themselves without waiting on the taxpayer's money for help.

EROSION ROBS YOUR FARM

By L. W. RASMUSSEN, District Agriculturist

How much farm land is lost by erosion each year in the Lacombe Municipality? A local resident asked this question the other day.

It is doubtful if this figure has ever been accurately calculated, and it is difficult to establish, but one thing is sure, we are losing more good soil every year than most of us realize.

My requiring friend travels about this district a good deal. He visits a lot of farmers in his work and sees a lot of fields. He cannot help but feel concerned about what is happening before our eyes.

We are rapidly ruining what was in many cases good farm land. Much of it is becoming a disgrace to civilization, unfit any longer to support either man or beast. Ugly gorges across fields and through what was once gentle and natural water courses are becoming all too prevalent a sight.

Farmers in many cases are no longer able to cross these gullies with ordinary farm machinery. Whether they like it or not, nature is taking its revenge and forcing them to work smaller fields.

It sometimes seems that the conservation agricultural extension fowls, crops, trees and other soil worker can talk about the benefit of good relations and the use of the soil. But when it comes to it is also in the face, without seeing too many results for his effort. Surely no one can deny that it is lack time that we did something to at least stop the gullies on good farm land from getting any wider and deeper.

These gullies and the enormous evidence of even a greater loss of good fertile soil which is blowing and gradually but steadily moving by sheet erosion, to fill our ditches, abutments, creeks and rivers and lakes.

It was impossible to give my interested friend a definite answer. He has himself been making some calculations. He estimated that each year the Lacombe Municipality is losing the equivalent of one-half section of good farm land. I do not know how close he is to being right. I know that the situation is bad and in my humble opinion it is getting worse every year. It is high time that every individual land owner and operator in this municipality take stock of his own situation and does something to stop this tremendous loss on his own farm. It is not only an individual or municipal loss, but is rapidly becoming a provincial and national problem.

We who enjoy the privileges and freedom of a democracy, sometimes think that we can do as we please with our land. Our land title does not give us that license. We are merely custodians of his use for a brief period of time. It has been said that it would be a shame today to build a single loaf of soil. Many that are proved and neglect can destroy that soil in a very few years. Unless this step is stepped by an enlightened people, many I venture to predict that other steps will be necessary before we can prevent it.

FOURTH TIME FAVORITE—Connie Brook, who has been voted the best radio comedienne of the year for the fourth consecutive time, by the national radio listeners. The part was taken by Radio and Television Mirror Magazine. Applauded equally by critics, the glamorous girl is the daughter of Miss Brook, the school-nurse of Madison High school on that delightful Sunday show, "Miss Brook's" "Our Kids Stories" is heard each Sunday at 5:30 p.m. on CFTY.

relativity. This is not a threat. It is just common sense.

If you do not believe in soil conservation or in a mixture, for this purpose. Some Alfalfa and Alfalfa can also be used to advantage with these grasses.

It is time that we stop kidding ourselves. The hour is late and the need is great. Next year may be too late. Flash floods and a spring run-off may move your unprotected land away to the ditches or on to the neighbors. Push these runways down and seed them down to start. Do it now before they get any worse. You may still have a few that you can be proud of in years to come. It can be done. We have plenty of examples where this method has been used to stop and repair field gullies on farms located in the Elkville, Bentley, Lacombe, Aik and Mirror districts. A great deal more remains to be done, just as soon as possible.

Mannville District Farmers Discuss Toad Flax Control

VERMILION—The provincial government will consider the request of the council of Mannville municipality to share in a toad flax control program. A. M. Wilson, field crops commissioner, told a large gathering of farmers in Mannville recently. Purpose of the meeting was to inform farmers about the toad flax special area set up just north of Mannville.

The Mannville municipality proposed to sell sodium chlorate at a reduced price to farmers for destroying toad flax. Mr. Wilson advised farmers to treat outbreaks of toad flax with sodium chlorate. He said that where toad flax infests a whole field the cost of getting rid of it is likely to be more than clean land is worth. D. R. Horvath, supervisor of soil conservation and weed control, said it is better to dust the sodium chlorate directly on the ground than to disperse the chemical in water and to spray the plants and the ground. He said most of the failure in treating a field due to too light a treatment. He warned of the danger of fire in handling sodium chlorate.

Mr. Stetling advised the use of blade cultivators rather than rolling implements in summer-fallowing to get rid of toad flax. The meeting was sponsored by the agricultural extension.

ARCTIC TERN FLIES FROM POLE TO POLE EACH YEAR

By JOHN E. BYRD

(British United Press Staff Correspondent)
OTTAWA—(UPI)—The Polar expeditions of Admiral Richard E. Byrd are short hikes compared with the summer vacation flights of an unusual bird from Canada's frigid arctic.

The bird is the arctic tern which flies at least 25,000 miles a year to enjoy the kind of summer weather found at the north and south poles.

When it's summer in the northern hemisphere, the tern is found in the Canadian arctic. But as soon as winter approached, the tern spreads his powerful wings and flies in the south polar regions to enjoy the summer sunbathes found in that isolated part of the world.

The tern returns at the south pole until just before winter sets in. Then he embarks on the return 12,000-mile flight for the north pole and another, to him, balmy summer.

Dr. H. F. Lewis, head of the Canadian Wildlife Service, said ornithologists cannot explain the strange behaviour of this unusual bird.

Bird experts know that the arctic tern is not fond of snow and ice and refuses to stand the winter either within the arctic or antarctic circles. However, they are unable to explain why the bird prefers arctic and antarctic summer weather, and avoids other lands with more moderate climates.

Dr. Lewis said it now is believed that most arctic terns fly to the south polar regions by way of Europe. After arriving on the other side of the Atlantic they fly directly south and most of them don't stop until they are within the antarctic circle's area. However, some don't travel any further south than the tip of Africa.

While the terns are in the northern hemisphere, most of them fly well within the arctic circle. However, some are found as far south as Massachusetts.

The arctic tern is a swallow-like bird resembling a high-flying swift. It is from 14 to 17 inches in length, but has a six-to-eight-inch tail which is forked. It has webbed feet but doesn't like swimming though not walking. Just flying.

The arctic tern is a fish eater. Some ornithologists believe this may be one of the reasons why it like to summer in the polar regions. There are relatively few

Publicity Killed Veterinarian

OTTAWA—Work and publicity was responsible for the death of Dr. Lester Moore, John Sinnett (L.—Springfield) said Wednesday at the Commons Agricultural Committee.

The 58-year-old Federal Health of Animals Branch veterinarian was found dead Tuesday in his Weyburn, Sask., hotel room. He had been in charge of the foot-and-mouth disease eradication program at Weyburn, 78 miles northwest of Regina.

"It is evident," said Mr. Sinnett, "that this man worked day and night doing his very best either birds in the area, and the terns have practically no competition in their search for food.

Other ornithologists advance the theory that the arctic terns like the money, rocky, terrain of the pole summers. They point out that neither the Canadian arctic or the arctic inside the antarctic circle which the terns inhabit are ever snowed out during the summer season.

to keep out this plague. He wanted to hand as he could. Yet he must have seen headlines in newspapers "condemning him for doing the job he's done."
"Work and publicity has driven this man to what he did do. This kind of publicity is the worst kind of publicity for Canada. If we want to destroy livestock producers in Canada, headlines like this will do that very thing."

George Murray (L.—Cariboo) asked Agricultural Minister Gardiner, during the committee's discussion, to comment on the "tragic case of Dr. Moore."
"I don't want to refer to it," Mr. Gardiner replied.

In the two-year period from 1941 to 1951 five persons emigrated from Canada for very serious persons who immigrated to Canada.

Field Supervisor, Morris, Alta.

A weed which is recognized as being noxious has established a firm foothold in Sturgeon Municipal. At this time it may still be possible to eliminate this weed from the district and all are asked to help in any way they can.

The weed is Toad Flax and the known area of infestation is three miles west of Ramsay. There may easily be other areas unknown to the weed inspector. Anyone who is in doubt about the appearance and habit of this weed should visit that field and examine the plant. Any small patches of this weed which may appear in any field should be dealt with as effectively and as soon as possible. In small spots chlorine can be applied. At the moment there is a limited supply of chlorine on hand in the Municipal Office which can be purchased for such work.

There is a very useful little bulletin on Toad Flax and its control which may be obtained from the Municipal office or which will be mailed to any taxpayer on request.

After the splendid outcome of the plans for a club last summer it was seriously assumed that the Agricultural Society would undertake a similar venture this season. It plans to do so, but is so doing it hopes to make this rally the conclusion of something of much greater consequence.

This summer a short course on Leadership Techniques will be held in Drumheller. There is no doubt within reason on candidates. Neither age, sex, color, race or religion are mentioned in the general plan. It is hoped that any who have had experience in leading clubs or groups of any kind will mix in to attend. Those who are new on the job of leading, organizing or directing group activities of any kind should find the course helpful.

The entire programme consisting of lectures, discussion, recreation, and social get-togethers, has been outlined by the Department of Extension of the University of Alberta. The date set for this short-course is from July 16 to 26. These friendships have had a chance to form and the group has become something of a value. Last day will be devoted to a rally, similar to that of last summer.

Some may be interested to learn that one of the chief architects of the plan has been B. C. Hillier, who spoke to the rally last summer, and of further interest, in years that our old friend, Mr. R. P.

Deep Sea Explorations

A few weeks ago the British research vessel, the Challenger, Tropic, was launched to a depth of almost seven miles in the Atlantic Ocean, about 100 miles southwest of Guam.

Exporting under the sea did not begin until the middle of the eighteenth century. Early equipment used for measuring depths included a heavy weight and a line about half inch in diameter. Each hour of descent cost the operator two or three hours to haul and raise the weight.

The next method was of American origin. This device called the Lucas, was attached when it hit bottom. The time was taken from the start to the end of the fall. In 1874, it was believed that an American ship set a speed record by making a five mile descent in two and a half hours.

Winning by hand was replaced by steam winches. The Challenger was the first to use a hydrophone, which picked up the sound of the bottom. This device was used to locate the bottom of the sea. By using the speed at which sound travels, depths could be determined.

Deep sea explorations have revealed that the Pacific is far from a "bottomless sea." A few examples are the Midway Deep (24,000 feet), the Canyon Deep (23,000 feet), the Kermadec Deep (31,000 feet), and the Solomon Deep (31,000 feet). It has been learned that there are over 10,000 deep canyons in the world's oceans. Many such canyons have been found off the coasts of the United States.

According to Dr. Hans Pettersen, Director of the Oceanographic Institute of Copenhagen, Sweden, in another ocean, new continents will appear in the middle of our present oceans. Dr. Pettersen believes that the Atlantic Ocean will remain its well known shape. That a new continent would appear along its whole length is what he thought would be two Atlantic seas.

Buying A Car In Britain

An example of the economic strain caused by the Great Depression in Britain was indicated recently when a spokesman of the British automobile industry said that British citizens are now waiting five years for a new car from the date of order.

The reason this long wait is necessary, he said, is that the British automobile industry is now reported to run much slower than several years ago, and goods are scarce. During the British depression, great foreign cars were taken over by British firms. The British automobile industry is now waiting five years for a new car from the date of order.

CHARTERED BANKS HAIL RETURN NORMAL, COMPETITIVE, BANKING"

MONTEBELLO, Que. — L. G. Gillett, President of the Canadian Bankers' Association declared here today the chartered banks "welcome a return to normal competitive banking" with the lifting of bank credit restrictions by the Bank of Canada a month ago.

In his address to the annual meeting of the Association, he stated that restrictions on both consumer credit and bank credit had been lifted in recent weeks and were "welcome steps, as they created a belief that inflation had been brought under some measure of control in Canada."

"I am sure I am speaking for the whole business community in saying that, just as everyone was prepared to co-operate speedily and completely with the government in its anti-inflation program, we welcome removal of restrictions and impediments to ordinary business practice as they become necessary or inadvisable."

In applying the bank credit restrictions, the banks sought to further the national interest and save the wise removal of restrictive banking, so long as it was an integral part of Canadian life. If the policy contributed to the lessening of inflationary pressure in Canada and helped to preserve the purchasing power of the consumer's dollar the banks are content and amply repaid for the sacrifices and inconveniences involved.

"From all this, it should not be gathered that all danger from inflation has been left behind. Far from it, but I will say this much we have been and still are vigilant and stand ready prepared for whatever the future may hold."

Mr. Gillett saw prospects for Canadian business over the next few months "made cloudy" by various uncertainties. But he believed that still active inflationary pressure would tend, at least temporarily, to be kept in "monetary balance" by the opposing forces of deflation which had shown some signs of developing.

Mr. Gillett reserved judgment on the estimate of some observers that the decline in consumer rise material prices pointed to "an end of inflation and even a decline in business everywhere." Conceding that "they may well be right," he suggested that accelerated deflation spending might offset the slackened demand for the products of some industries.

With inflation stopped off, at least temporarily, and tremendous plans afoot for private capital investment in the next few years, Mr. Gillett asserted Canadians had "every cause for confidence over the long pull." He cited figures of the investment program, running into hundreds of millions of dollars, planned for the mining, pulp and paper, electrical, chemical, aluminum, oil and other industries, and commented:

"These figures of future capital investment are merely scattered examples of what lies ahead in Canadian development. They illustrate the basic fact that Canada has the greatest accumulation of 'undeveloped' natural resources in the world and that Canada is on the threshold of spectacular progress and development, the opening of a dynamic era."

The Association had emphasized that it had been private enterprise that had built Canada to its present dimensions and is laying plans for such marked development in the immediate future.

"It is in the spirit of enterprise that is on the march in Canada today," he continued. "So much so, that it sets Canada apart from almost all other nations. It has given Canadians the second highest standard of living in the world and permitted this country of only 11 million people to do more, and in a shorter time, than any comparable nation."

"Our progress has been based on work, thrift, invention and enterprise, and if we hold to these principles—and are given peace—our future progress is assured."

Mr. Gillett took the occasion of the meeting to raise the question of how much longer it would be possible to avoid an increase in the rates of interest on bank lending, in the face of substantial rises in the costs of doing business.

In this regard he said: "We all know that unlike other countries, there has been no general increase in banking interest rates in Canada for many years, but in the face of steadily rising costs, we do not know how long this can continue."

Pointing out that the total of three items of banking cost—staff salaries, taxes and interest on savings deposits—had more than doubled between 1944 and 1951, he commented:

"In most businesses, when costs go up, selling prices follow, but that has not been true recently of interest rates in Canada. Lending rates have gone up in the United States, in Britain and in several other countries. We have tried to keep them from going up in Canada but, frankly, I do not know how much longer we can succeed."

In this connection Mr. Gillett emphasized that, contrary to opinion sometimes maintained, returns to bank stockholders were not high. "Usual and ambiguous" estimates of 14 per cent and 18 per cent dividends were calculated on the nominal par value of shares. Actually, 1951 statistics showed an "exceedingly modest return" averaging between 4½ and 4½ per cent in shareholders' equity investments, including the provision paid to buy most bank stock and the profits put back in the business as rent or reserve.

Mr. Gillett pointed also to the tremendous expansion of staff and operating facilities which the banks had had to undertake, in order to keep abreast of the demands for banking service from an increasing population, an expanding economy and newly developed areas of settlement. In the past 16 years, the number of chartered bank employees had increased by over 81 per cent, and the number of banking offices had increased by 484 to a total of 3,776 branches and sub-branches. In the same period, Mr. Gillett noted average salary rates had been based on a scale comparable favorably with the levels prevailing in similar fields, and early this year the banks had initiated the five-day week in selected branches to attract and retain a high calibre of employee. This had been necessitated, he said, because "we were losing trained, competent and well-paid employes to other institutions that were closed on Saturdays."

"We are grateful to the banking public for its acceptance of this innovation in Canada," Mr. Gillett added. "We have tried to minimize inconvenience to our customers by providing extra banking hours on Fridays in most of the branches closing Saturday, particularly for making deposits and cashing pay cheques. I take this opportunity to acknowledge the splendid co-operation of bank customers in this attempt to meet the working conditions of bank staffs."

Mr. Gillett reported that despite considerable publicity about bank hold-ups, there were fewer last year than in 1949 and there had been 45 convictions for bank robbery across Canada on top of 44 in the preceding year. Since January 1, 1950, the banks had paid out a total of $114,298 in rewards to citizens who had aided in apprehension of bank robbers, to police forces in recognition of outstanding efforts by their members, and in gratitude to widows of police officers and citizens killed in attempts to apprehend bank robbers.

RANCHERS AT CZAR CONSIDER ESTABLISHING BANGS FREE AREA

CZAR—About 40 cattlemen from the surrounding district attended a meeting in the town hall at Czarc on Tuesday evening, June 17th Dr. J. O'Donohue, extension veterinarian from the Alberta Department of Agriculture, gave a very informative address and led an extensive discussion relative to establishing a Bangs-free zone through compulsory vaccination in the Provost section.

Dr. J. A. Rubeck, district agricultural inspector from Wainwright, dealt with the need of establishing an anti-rabies band zone with in need to operate a compulsory calf hood vaccination program in this district. Moving picture slides were used to illustrate the effects of Rabies disease on humans, victims of this almost incurable fever. There were many questions and the meeting lasted about three hours.

Dr. O'Donohue gave the information that lots of the calves vaccinated at between six and nine months of age, with strains 15 vaccines will be protected for life from Bangs, and the government of Canada supply the vaccine free in all provinces. 1,000 calves were vaccinated in Alberta five years ago, and 10,000 calves were vaccinated in Alberta in 1952. There are seven brandeis restricted areas now in Alberta.

Care Required . . .

Dr. Ballantyne. He advises, however, that there are still many who do not start building up livestock resistant herds. These men should arrange with their veterinarians to get their calves down this year, or let their calves with the local district agricultural or Agricultural Services Board. Delay may be costly as in the example quoted.

WIDESPREAD USE OF DISINFECTANTS RECOMMENDED FOR FUR FARMS

During the hot summer months, fur farmers should employ strict measures to disinfect thoroughly all grinding and feed equipment with non-toxic disinfectants, says J. Kolubsky, Fur Farm Supervisor, Alberta Department of Agriculture. A little extra care at this time may prevent trouble at a later date.

Beet boxes should be examined every second day and all unused food removed. Failure to do this can result in heavy losses of hils due to food poisoning.

The ranch yard should be raked clean of all debris. Sprinkling of lime and DDT underneath saws will eliminate objectionable odors to a certain extent and keep down the fly menace as well as disease.

GRASSHOPPERS

Although no more outbreaks of grasshoppers are expected in Alberta this year, local outbreaks may occur and should be controlled immediately, advises W. Lecky, Supervisor of Crop Protection, Alberta Department of Agriculture. The local outbreaks have already been reported from the Peace River area, and farmers in other parts of the province are advised to remain on the alert and report to their district Agriculturalists at once if action is indicated.

Minor outbreaks in the Peace River area have occurred in the Peace district about fifty miles south of Grande Prairie, and in the Dunsmuir area. Both hails and sprays containing the insecticide aldrin can be effective in providing complete control if these materials are used while the hoppers are still confined to their hatching areas. Most aldrin fields are now too far advanced for effective use of hails, Mr. Lecky says, and in this case sprays should be used with care, although hails can be used until the crops cover the ground completely. Sprays are probably more effective since one spraying is usually equal to at least three hail applications.

Wherever local outbreaks of grasshoppers occur in the province, the District Agriculturalist should be consulted immediately, advises Mr. Lecky. Materials are on hand for effective control, but prompt action should be the watchword.

"A loan from the bank saved my barn!"

"I HAD a big investment in my farm and I had to protect it. For one thing the barn needed a lot of fixing. I found I could get a Farm Improvement Loan that would cover all the repairs at terms I could afford. So the barn's fixed and my livestock, machinery and crops are protected. I actually saved money by repairing the barn right away."

FARM IMPROVEMENT LOANS can also be used for

- New implements, machinery and equipment.
- New foundation or breeding livestock.
- Farm electrification.
- Fences, drainage and other developments.

Parent's Home Scene Of Nuptials

Shades of brown decorated the home of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Johnson of Red Deer when their youngest daughter, Mary Helen, became the bride of Mr. Richard Malcolm Moore, youngest son of Mrs. Dora Moore and the late Charles Moore of Bentley.

Mr. R. H. Thackery of Bentley presided at the double ring ceremony and her only jewelry was a tiny rhinestone necklace, the gift of the groom.

She carried a colonial bouquet of red roses and white lilies. Miss Betty Reed of Hanna was bridesmaid and little Shirley Johnson of Alta made a pretty flower girl. The bride-maid was a gown of blue satin with matching short-length gloves. Her coronet was of matching fabric, and she carried a colonial bouquet of pink carnations and white lilies.

The flower girl's gown was pink over taffeta. Her head-dress was of pink net with pearl trimmings and she carried a delicate bouquet of yellow lilies. Mr. Stewart Wilson of Bentley was best man.

Wedding music was played by Mr. H. Rogers of AHS, sister of the bride.

Members of the bride looked charming in a mauve crepe gown with lace, yoke and white accessories. Her carriage was yellow cream.

The mother of the groom wore a printed silk gown with beige accessories and tallinn rose corsage.

About 30 guests attended the reception where the bride's table was covered with a four-colored wedding cake, embedded in pink tulle and flanked by matching candles.

Mr. Macdonald proposed the toast to the bride.

Mrs. Reed of Calgary was in charge of the social hour.

For travelling, the bride donned a blue satin dress gown, topped with a pink shawl and white accessories. Her carriage was pink and cream over cream.

On their return from their honeymoon, the newlyweds will make home in Bentley.

Shower Held For Jean Clark

ALIX — On Friday evening, June 8, the Tidy Teeners held a shower in honor of Jean Clark in the 100F Hall. A very interesting program was put on by the girls. A number of songs were sung, with Miss Sanderson at the piano. Miss Elaine Primm then presented the bride-to-be, Mrs. Clark, and the groom's mother and Maude Waddy with corsages of carnations.

Clubs read a very humorous reading about a "Dish Rag Doll," and then a few kind words presented Jean with a basket loaded with gifts, and was brought in by a few of the Tidy Teeners.

Besides many useful and lovely gifts, the bride-to-be received a chest of drawers in the Daffodil pattern, and a tea set, the Miss Rose. Jean thanked all her well-wishers very warmly.

A delicious lunch was served by the girls and a happy evening was ended.

Mr. Danny Deane and friend are visiting Dora's mother, Mrs. Mary Deane.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Whitfield and family are visiting relatives in Alta.

Mrs. Frank Smith and boys, of Lethbridge, spent several days at Mrs. Hansen's visiting her brother, Benny Weeber, other relatives and many old friends.

Mrs. Agnes Larkin is visiting many old friends in Alta while up for Miss Larkin's wedding.

Mrs. Dora Hansen left Monday for Red Deer enroute to Jasper where she is going to work.

ARTHUR MAISEY DRAWS LUCKY TICKET

ALIX — Yesterday, June 28 was a lucky day for Arthur Maisey of Mirvoo who his ticket No. 662 made him the grand winner of the 1962 Ford custom like sedan, given away by the Alex Agricultural and Athletic Association at their annual sports day June 25. The A.A.A. made Mr. Maisey many trouble-free years of driving with his beautiful new car.

Alix's seventh annual sports day, the most successful in years. The feature attractions were the chuck wagon races and doggy. The horses took the first prize. J. Lander second and M. Walker third. In the doggy it was Orville Strandsford first, Bonnie Lakin second, and W. Kitchin third.

The Roman race again saw Orville Strandsford leading the pack with R. McCulloch second, and J. Lander third. In the car race, first prize went to the Alex Athletic and Walker and J. Lander with Orville Strandsford second.

The parade was a real eye opener and the folks who lined the sidewalks really got a thrill and most have experienced a sense of pride as the parade headed by the Ladies' Aid and members under the leadership of Band Master Bruce March, rolled through the main part of town and on to the Alex Athletic park where the floats were awarded and prizes were presented. First prize went to the A.A.A. float sponsored by Jennings Garage, second was won by G. Smith with 1819 in the Redhawk city and fourth to the IGDE.

To all those who gave so generously of their time and ingenuity to make this a parade to be remembered the association wish to extend a hearty vote of thanks. The tractor bailing contest gave it to be another very interesting event and produced some very skillful operators and very brave competition. It is planned to change this event at some future date.

From a financial angle the sports day was very gratifying. A fair estimate of net proceeds from the car raffle and all other receipts would be $1700. This will meet all obligations of the A.A.A. and leave a substantial balance for future operations. A bigger and better show is planned for next year. See you then.

Miss Sanderson Completes 25 Years As Teacher

ALIX — The regular meeting of the Alex and Rural Association, was held last week. The highlight of the evening was the presentation of a chest of silver in the Daffodil pattern to Miss Sanderson by Glen Hunter on behalf of her past and present pupils. Miss Sanderson taught in the Alex school for 25 consecutive years.

Before an altar loaded with flowers and ferns, Anne Isabel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Larkin of Alta, exchanged vows with Wilfred Albert, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Kroonm of Red Deer.

Rev. E. Olmsted performed the ceremony and Miss M. Sanderson played the wedding music.

Given in marriage by her father, like him was clanking in a gown of satin featuring a fitted lace bodice with a nylon net yoke with pearl bead trim, green, gold collar, and his bride also wore a lace gown and her only jewelry was a delicate pendant, the groom's gift to the bride.

Miss Jean Larkin was her sister's bridesmaid. She wore a floor length gown of silk green tulle. She wore a beaded shawl and a long length necklace. Her matching chapel veil fell from a braided cascade coronet and she carried a cascade bouquet of variegated carnations in shades of pink and yellow.

Little Shirley Johnson, preceded the bride, scattering rose buds, and carried pink carnations to match her hat and floor length gown.

The groom was attended by his brother-in-law, Mr. Harold Simon of Red Deer. Donald Kroonm and two Larkins entered the guests in a grey-wheeled wedding cake topped with baby roses.

During the signing of the register, Shirley Johnson and Shirley Larkin, both wearing "Miss This Home" and "I'll Walk Beside You."

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Larkin wore a two-piece afternoon frock of cream checked fabric with white accessories and a corsage of red roses.

The mother of the groom chose a two-piece navy and white crepe dress with white accessories and red roses on corsage.

A reception was held in the Red Hall where the Ladies' Aid returned to about 40 guests seated

The annual meeting of the Inner Mission, which was held July 8 at the P.U.A. Hall. Mrs. Macdonald was in the chair. Mrs. A. McLaughlin, secretary, gave a report of the year's attendance which showed a total of 1458 for all of the churches and societies held.

It was decided to order new hymnals of a type more suitable for children, and a better method of arrangement of churches was planned.

The date of the picnic was set for August 3rd, with Mrs. D. Macdonald as the secretary. The Ladies' Aid reported on their work in church.

The following officers and teachers were then elected: Superintendence, Mrs. W. Suberwiler; Assistant Superintendence, Mrs. D. Macdonald; Secretary, Treasurer, Mrs. A. G. McLaughlin; Nursery, Teachers, Mrs. H. Russell, Mrs. G. Martin; Primary Class, Mrs. T. Sandberg; Junior Class, Mrs. H. Sandberg.

At tables decorated with peonies, pansies and tall lighted tapers. The bride's table was covered with a three-colored wedding cake topped with baby roses.

Mr. Harold Simon proposed the toast to the bride in which the groom appropriately responded. He also offered congratulations to the groom on the occasion of his birthday and to Mr. and Mrs. J. Kroonm, cousin of the groom on the occasion of their sixth wedding anniversary.

For a honeymoon in Edmonton, Jasper, Banff and Calgary, the bride changed in a teal gabardine suit with white accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

On their return the happy couple will make home in the Red Deer district north of Bentley.

An opportunity to broaden acquaintance, study different methods of land preparation and enjoy a holiday, is at hand for any who care to make a trip to Lethbridge. The Drumheller District Agricultural Society has made arrangements with the Dominion Experimental Farm there to visit that district. The staff and farm have been placed at the disposal of the visitors for the days July 24, 25 and 26. Any who care to make this trip are welcome. It is expected that a good portion of the first and last days will be required for travelling. However, from the time of arrival until departure some of the staff will be on hand to take care of any difficulties which may arise.

Some items of interest which will be illustrated at first hand include irrigation, trash cover practice resulting from an extensive use of blaw machinery, and farming under dry land conditions. Of particular interest will be a visit to the St. Mary's dam. On that trip an engineer who understands the structure and workings of the dam and of the irrigation project as a whole will accompany the group.

Sleeping quarters are available at the Experimental Farm for any who care to bring their own blankets. Those who choose to take advantage of the many fine hotels and motels which are serving the public in Lethbridge may have reservations arranged by the Experimental Farm. The accommodation on the farm itself is free. Rates for other types of accommodation may be obtained by writing to the office of the District Agricultural in Drumheller. In order to reach an estimate of numbers in attendance all who are intending to make this trip are asked to notify the District Agricultural in Drumheller, or T. McLaughlin, Secretary of the Agricultural Society.

Wife of Alberta Cabinet Minister Active in Parliamentary Women's Work

OTTAWA—Mrs. George Prudham, wife of Alberta's minister in the Dominion Cabinet, is an active worker in an association of Ottawa women whose husbands are members of Parliament.

The ladies have the reputation of being hard, consistent workers at the knitting and sewing projects they undertake. And Mrs. Prudham is one of the most enthusiastic supporters of this group which helps to dispel the loneliness of women who find themselves far from home, with a husband who works, often, 16 hours a day on committees, parliamentary and party work in the national capital.

Recently the M.P.'s wives put on a display of work done by the group during the spring and winter months.

Alfonsa signed in warm red, yellows and browns, were hung on the wall, and piled neatly in rows were baby's knitted hats, coats and booties, at a display of work by the knitting group of the Parliamentary Women's Association.

The display held in the ladies lounge at the Parliament Buildings, revealed the results of many months of clicking knitting needles, and a 4 needles work through cloth.

Two complete baby's layettes including diapers, shirts and clothing will be sent to the Canadian Save the Children Fund while the warm alfonsa will be distributed to military hospitals overseas.

Each Wednesday since March members of the group have met to combine their efforts in aiding the hospitals and the fund. The association is headed by Mrs. W. M. Bendickson.

Receiving guests during the afternoon was the general convenor, Mrs. W. G. Wark. Conveners representing all groups of the association were: Mrs. Victor Quirk, Mrs. George Prudham, Mrs. J. Smith, Mrs. R. E. Knight, Mrs. C. E. Johnston, Mrs. F. L. Larson, Mrs. W. D. Wylie, and Mrs. J. L. MacDougall.

Following the display, tea was held in the Parliamentary dining room under the co-sponsorship of Mrs. Walter Tinsley.

EDMONTON, ALBERTA, THURSDAY, JULY 31, 1952

Threaten Trial For S.C. Official Who 'Misused' Taxpayers' Money

A threat to put the minister of economic affairs, A. J. Hoole, on trial for 'misuse' of public funds, was made last week as the Alberta election campaign moved into the home stretch.

The charge was made by Liberal leader H. C. Brown, who said he would attempt to have the minister tried before the Legislature and made to pay for alleged use of public funds for Social Credit campaign material.

The threat drew a reply from Attorney-General Lorne Maynard, who said Brown's charges were "typical of the misrepresentation practiced by the Liberal people which the people of Alberta resent."

Mr. Brown referred to a series of 14 pamphlets, a booklet entitled "The Alberta Story," and a movie of the same name which he said are being distributed through the publicity branch of the department of economic affairs.

"PROPAGANDA"

The Liberal leader said these publications are "nothing more or less than pure political propaganda." He accused the Social Credit administration of a "flagrant abuse of its rights and powers."

The movie alone cost $25,000 of the taxpayers' money, Brown said.

The government publications, paid for by public funds, are also being distributed by the Social Credit party as a political group, and not as an agency of the government.

Many of the publications Mr. Brown referred to, and which were printed by the taxpayers' money, are displayed in the offices of the Edmonton branch of the Social Credit League.

The government's action in publishing this "propaganda," Mr. Brown said, "attempts from the basic belief that they can get away with anything."

Liberal Candidate Opposes Cross In Hand Hills Provincial Riding

Re-election to the legislature of Dr. W. W. Cross in the Hand Hills riding, as prevented by last-minute naming of a Liberal candidate to contest the constituency in the Aug. 5 general election. Dr. Cross, minister of health and welfare in the Social Credit government will be opposed by F. W. Slemm, district farmer.

Although Mr. Slemm's nomination came late, the action was a Liberal headquarters and he will conduct an extensive campaign throughout the riding.

It was reported in several newspapers on local news which the Liberals centered have been ignored by the government, and on Dr. Cross' record as minister of health.

Several public meetings are to be held in both constituencies, and each will tour the constituency, meeting with the voters and discussing the issues.

Dr. Cross' department has been the subject of widespread criticism during the past few years. In 1928 a Royal Commission made several recommendations, including a suggestion that emphasis under the department's name should not be sent to the United States. At the last session of the legislature, Dr. Cross and Premier Manning said the government did not feel bound by the Royal Commission's recommendations, and would not implement any of the board's suggestions.

What Benefit Have YOU Received from Alberta Oil?

The Manning Government proclaims that Alberta is benefitting from huge oil revenues. If that is so, you, the taxpayer-citizen of this province should have some personal benefit. But what good has the oil boom done for you?

OIL ROYALTIES: If you are like most farmers of Alberta, holding only surface rights you get a few measly dollars while the government and the oil companies reap millions! A Liberal administration will pay holders of surface rights a royalty of 2½%.

HIGH TAXATION: The huge revenues reaped by the Provincial Government haven't reduced your taxes! While the government wallows in a $80,000,000.00 surplus fund your town and municipal taxes are higher than ever before!

IMPASSABLE ROADS: The Provincial Government continues to reap automobile and gasoline taxes, but steadily neglects all but a few miles of Provincial highways. With high taxes and high revenues you are still obliged to drive on many Provincial highways that are neglected and so badly rutted and rough that cars and trucks are worn out years before their time.

RURAL ELECTRIFICATION: With millions in excess revenues the Government tells you you can have electric power on your farm if you are prepared to pay $1,000.00 or more for installation. A Liberal government will speed electrification of Alberta farms with interest-free loans to large co-operatives and thus eliminate the individual financial burden.

The stamp is to be printed in blue and red—the third time that two-colored stamps have been issued in Canada. In 1955, the Imperial penny postage "map stamp" was printed in red and blue, and in 1952 another two-color stamp commemorated the visit of the King and Queen. This is the first time that Canada has been selected for an International Red Cross Conference, and only the second time that it has been held in the Western Hemisphere.

"CARE" MIDWIFERY KITS COMBAT CHILDBIRTH HAZARDS IN ASIA

OTTAWA — To help save the lives of mothers and babies in rural villages of India and Southeast Asia, CARE today asked Canadians, Americans and South Americans to provide native midwives with essential equipment and supplies.

In co-operation with the United Nations' World Health Organization, CARE has prepared two midwifery packages whose contents range from forceps to sterile bandages. Canadian Director, Neil MacNeil announced. A $25 basic midwifery kit contains instruments plus enough supplies to deliver 12 babies. A $10 replacement kit has supplies for seven additional deliveries.

Distribution will be made through midwifery training centers conducted by WHO in conjunction with the governments of India, Afghanistan, Burma, Ceylon, Thailand, Indonesia and other Southeast Asian countries. Orders may be sent to CARE, 75 Albert Street, Ottawa, or any local outlet of the non-profit agency. Delivery will be made in the donor's name.

For lack of properly trained and equipped midwives, Mr. MacNeil cites, WHO reports show that in India alone, 200,000 women die each year through causes connected with pregnancy and childbirth.

while 4,000,000 women suffer

"Most of the people of India and Southeast Asia live in scattered villages where there are no hospitals or clinics," MacNeil explained. "Untrained midwives, without washing their hands, deliver babies in crowded huts. They rest the umbilical cord with a nesting bowl, or two sharp stones. They wrap mother and baby in grimy-linen rags.

"It will take years to develop adequate medical facilities. Meanwhile, WHO is teaching midwives the rudiments of good health practice. But such training is meaningless unless the midwives are provided with proper instruments, with sterilizing bowls, with soap and towels and sterile dressings. For countries whose health problems are as vast, even the small cost of such items is prohibitive. By sending CARE's midwifery kits, Canadians can promote the progress essential to the stability of the free world."

His midwifery packages were compiled under CARE's World Health Programme, launched this year to enlist public support for health projects based on WHO surveys of critical needs. Donors will receive a CARES evidence receipt giving the names and addresses of the recipient centre. Contents include:

Midwifery Kit, $25—Waterproof, reinforced canvas carrying bag; a stainless steel bowl, tray and two pairs of forceps; a pair of chrome surgical scissors; two plastic bottles; 34 sterile packets, each containing two umbilical ligatures, one elastic bandage and a gauze pad; one safety pins; a soap container; a cube of soap; a nail brush; two hand towels and two cotton aprons.

Replacement Kit, $10 — Four pairs of soap; two such of hand towels, nail brush and cotton aprons; 14 of the sterile packets.

Closing Services Held At Lacombe

LACOMBE — The closing service of the Seventh-day Adventist annual conference held at Lacombe, Alberta, was attended by approximately 5,000 people from all parts of Alberta. Offerings received for foreign missions and work in Alberta amounted to $13,414.47. Book sales totalling $3,100 were reported by E. H. Bennett, Book and Bible House manager.

Highlighting the meetings on the last day, Saturday, was a baptism of those who live in isolated districts. This service was conducted in Jack Fish Lake by Pastor Alvin Blair, minister of the Calgary Central Seventh-day Adventist Church.

George E. Taylor, president of the Alberta Conference, announced the erection of a new office building in Calgary which will be the new headquarters of the denomination for Alberta. The move from Edmonton will take place this fall.

Three hundred and forty-eight aggregate years of membership in the Seventh-day Adventist Church Sabbath School was the record of eight people attending the services on Saturday, July 15, at the annual camp meeting.

In a report presented by Pastor L. B. Davison, mentioned in the first camp meeting Sabbath School exercises held at Poncha, Alberta, July 15, 1932. When the large audience was asked if any were present who attended this first Sabbath School, 48 years ago, eight people stood to their feet. They were Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Rich, Chester Kiet, C. G. Anderson, L. G. Leavitt, Mrs. Edna Bates, Mrs. Hazel Schram and Mrs. Calvin Smith.

Some of those last remembered how they came to that first Seventh-day Adventist camp meeting great changes have taken place by sleep-moving accretion. Surely since that time.

North-Western Utilities . . .

one in the Rural Lower Cretaceous. Three wells were non-productive and were abandoned. The completed wells indicate that this area will be a possible source of gash and gas for the company's system but no plans have been made to connect this field this year to the company's main transmission pipeline system.

In the Viking-Kinsella field the company is enlarging its office buildings, and is building a house for its field superintendent, Mr. Roland Brooks. In addition, this year a new permanent camp will be built at the south-easterly end of the Kinsella field on the north-eastern limits of the Village of Irma. This camp will consist of a foreman's house, a building comprising a garage, work shop, and office, and a small staff houses for single male employees. The south-easterly portion of the field will be operated and maintained from this camp as well the transmission capacity of the natural gas to the very camp at Wainwright, also the distribution systems and customer service for the communities in this area. This will make the third permanent camp in the 4½ square mile Viking-Kinsella field, the other two being located just north of Viking and of Kinsella.

Towards the latter part of May, work was commenced on 24½ miles of 14" transmission line between the Viking field station and Edmonton. Twenty miles of this have been completed, in addition to 25 miles laid last year. The remaining 4½ miles, it is anticipated, will be added this fall. This will bring the 40½ miles transmission pipeline from Viking to a point within some 17 miles east of the city limits where it will be tied into the existing three lines, and will greatly increase the company's deliverability capacity for the coming winter. When this year's program is complete the company will have in operation 152 miles of transmission line.

Work is proceeding on doubling the existing plant immediately east of the city. This increase in the size of this plant seems necessary in order that the company could handle the increased quantities of gas which will be available and which it will purchase from the Imperial Oil Limited gas conservation plant at Tiro.

Extensions are being made to the transmission system in the Edmonton area for the purpose of serving two large industries namely, the Polythene plant of Canadian Industries Limited now being built east of the city and the Acme Brick Company's plant near the Town of St. Albert.

Some major improvements are underway in the Edmonton distribution system at the present time. A new 14" line is being laid in 106 Ave between 113 St. and 124½ St. replacing a 4" main which was installed in 1924. The purpose of this is to provide additional capacity to the western and northwestern districts of the city. Shortly, work will commence on a new 16" main to serve the Ritchie District, the industrial area along the Calgary Highway and the Parklands Subdivisions. Many other improvements to the distribution system are planned for the balance of the summer and the early fall. Service is being extended as rapidly as possible to all new residential and industrial areas in and adjoining the City of Edmonton. The company expects to add approximately 2,000 new customers to its system this year, which will bring the total number it will serve by the end of 1932 to something in the neighborhood of 45,000.

130 Acres a Day on LESS THAN A TANKFUL

Read what one owner has to say about his John Deere Model "T" Diesel. "Pulling a 20-foot Surdon Tiller, we cover 130 acres in a 14-hour day with an average fuel consumption of 1.45 gallons per hour." Figure it out, that's 22.5 gallons out of the 22 gallon tank—better than six acres worked for every gallon of fuel used.

Amazing economy? For most tractors, yes.

but for the Model "T" such outstanding operating economy and big duty capacity are everyday occurrences. If you're looking for large acreages . . . have extremely difficult conditions . . . do custom work on a variety of farm jobs, the Model "T" is the tractor for you. Moral Delinquency Could Be Curbed

Alta Free Press: To curb moral delinquency by people in a church and to be inspired any day. This is too important to be relegated to one day a week. Joining a church is a personal matter between the person and God. It does not have to be made into a public show. Many people are self-conscious about doing things in public and do not join.

Our ministers are indifferent about this.

Stettler School Division No. 26

The Divisional Trustees are contemplating the disposal by sale or removal of many school buildings within the Division, a situation that has arisen through centralization of schools and in a few cases by there being no children of school age in the district.

The principles set down by the Minister of Education regarding such schools are as follows:

1. That any school building is the property of the division and that the onus rests on the local district to establish the undesirability of its removal or sale.
2. That a building should not be allowed to stand idle and unused for any extensive period because of consequent rapid deterioration.
3. That if the people of a local community desire to use a building, erected prior to the establishment of the division, for community purposes, though such building is not used for school purposes, they should be given reasonable opportunity to purchase it at a modest figure.
4. That it is not the responsibility of the school division to retain and maintain, and to suffer the deterioration of school buildings for occasional community use.
5. That if there is reasonable possibility of the school building being required for school purposes in the district in which it is situated in the not too distant future, it may be retained in the district.

The following school properties are under consideration as to their disposal:

ACADIA

Any objections to the disposal or otherwise of these buildings should be submitted not later than September 7th, 1932, to the office of the Stettler School Division No. 26, at Stettler, Alberta.

New W.G. Grain Loader Hits Edmonton Markets

The W.G. Grain Loader, the latest thing in farm machinery is now being manufactured in Edmonton. The Loader was designed and is being manufactured exclusively by the Machinery Designers of Canada Ltd. for the William Goett Co.

The company operated in Calgary for four years, with most of their units being shipped north. When an opportunity presented itself whereby the company could locate in Edmonton with some prominence and realizing the potential field for their product in the Edmonton area, negotiated with the William Goett Company, which has a contract to turn out a minimum of 200 loaders by October 15, 1932, plus any other products such as may be desired by the company.

This new grain loader is outstanding because it is the only fully ball-bearing loader on the market.

The company expects to expand rapidly into a good sized manufacturing company, which will

Relief Work Valued $17,914

LACOMBE—Local and overseas relief work valued at $17,914 was reported by Dorcas welfare societies of Sabbath-day Adventist Churches in Alberta during 1950 and 1951, Pastor Ira D. Pollett, Adventist welfare director for the province announced recently at the annual church conference in Lacombe.

Members spent 16,715 hours in volunteer work for society projects, which included aiding destitute families in their communities, collecting and shipping of clothing to Korea and care of the sick.

Mr. Pollett, who arrived from St. John, New Brunswick, this week to take over his new assignment, held his first public meeting with Dorcas workers from all parts of Alberta this morning when plans for opening health and welfare centres were announced. Mr. Pollett replaces Pastor L. L. Beck, recently transferred to Saskatoon.

Local church welfare directors who gave reports of their activities at the meeting included Mrs. Ruth McAfee, 1004 51 Avenue, Edmonton, Dorcas leader for the Edmonton Adventist Church, and Mrs. Ann Wetzel of Bentley, president of the Edmonton area Dorcas federation. For Calgary, Mrs. Bernard Kramer, 404 E. 24 Street N.E., Calgary, president of the Southern Alberta Dorcas Federation.

Marriage Is a Serious Matter

"Marriage is a lifetime partnership which should be given careful and prayerful consideration," declared Pastor W. A. Nelson, church leader for Canada, speaking to the delegates attending the annual Seventh-day Adventist convention being held on the campus of Canadian Union College in Lacombe this week.

He observed that many people give more thought "to the purchase of a tractor or car than they do to the choice of a life partner." Speaking on the subject of love, courtship and marriage he pointed out that "so many shattered homes have been wrecked due to a lack of love for which there is no substitute."

Emphasizing the importance of Christian homes to the community and nation he said that the "sacred institution of marriage must be guarded at all costs." Mr. Nelson stated that "no consideration should be given to divorce as an easy way out, but rather as much effort should be expended to keep the home together as was put forth to woo the bride."

Listing some of the essentials to a successful and happy home, he mentioned the need for real love based not on the superficial characteristics but instead on the intrinsic qualities of each. The folly of trying to reform the other's faults after marriage rarely succeeds.

It never pays to keep throwing up to one another the faults and mistakes "that only cause bitterness." Mixed marriages "invariably add tensions and strains which often prove too much," should be avoided.

All Motorists Safety Stickers Should Be Renewed Now

Alberta motorists should now renew their motor vehicle safety stickers, if they haven't already done so.

The Provincial Government's Motor Vehicle Branch announced that July 1 marks the end of the first 18 months of the vehicle safety testing program. All present certificates of approval and safety stickers expire 18 months from the date of their issue.

New certificates of approval and safety stickers are being issued to the 1800 service stations and garages which have been appointed as official testing stations for the safety inspection program. The former stickers will not be used after June 30.

The motor vehicle branch also announced that a new windshield sticker of the transfer type is being issued this year following complaints that the previous sticker did not stand up well to wear.

Mr. E. R. Hughes, deputy provincial secretary, urged all motorists to arrange for a new inspection of their passenger cars well before the expiration dates of their present safety stickers. This would save delay and inconveniences.

The government safety test costs $1, which goes to the service station to cover the cost of examination. Inspection includes a visual check of brakes, lights, steering and other vehicle parts whose efficient operation is essential to safe driving.

The Russians surprised a lot of people at the summer Olympics.

Stettler School Division No. 26

The Divisional Trustees are contemplating the disposal by sale or removal of many school buildings within the Division, a situation that has arisen through centralization of schools and in a few cases by there being no children of school age in the district.

The principles set down by the Minister of Education regarding such schools are as follows:

1. That any school building is the property of the division and that the owner rests on the local division to establish the undesirability of its removal or sale.
2. That a building should not be allowed to stand idle and unused for any extensive period because of consequent rapid deterioration.
3. That if the people of a local community desire to use a building, erected prior to the establishment of the division, for community purposes, though such building is not used for school purposes, they should be given reasonable opportunity to purchase it at a modest figure.
4. That it is not the responsibility of the school division to retain and maintain, and to suffer the deterioration of school buildings for occasional community use.
5. That if there is reasonable possibility of the school building being required for school purposes in the district in which it is situated in the not too distant future, it may be retained in the district.

The following school properties are under consideration as to their disposal:

ACADIA SERVICE

Any objections to the disposal or otherwise of these buildings should be submitted on or before September 7th, 1952, to the office of the Stettler School Division No. 26, at Stettler, Alberta.

CNR To Rebuild Jasper Park Lodge

MONTREAL—The central building of Jasper Park Lodge, which was destroyed by fire in July, is to be rebuilt and will be ready for the 1955 season, opening next June.

Donald Gordon, chairman and president of the Canadian National Railways, made this announcement following discussions with Robert Semple, general manager of hotels and G. F. Drummond, chief architect of the system.

Although it is too early yet to say what the final design will be, Mr. Gordon stated the company means to retain the rustic character of the former building which, with the surrounding bungalow, none of which was injured by the fire, will make Jasper Park Lodge world famous as a summer resort.

Already preliminary sketches have been prepared and from final drawings will be made. The intention is to begin work on the new building early before the present season closes September

Fish Horries

"CATCH OF THE SEASON"

By M. C. Farley
Fall is in the air. Gardeners are crowded with fishermen. They are having some success too. If we can judge from the "tales" we hear. Nevertheless, are you making the most of the opportunity to add flavor contrast to your meals through the use of fish? "Out of the lake—into the frying pan," that is the slogan of the expert fishermen. It is a good one, too. The flavor is best, and the fish is most tender when it is fresh.

It is no simple as it sounds! Not quite! First, of course, it has to be cleaned. After cleaning the fish, wash quickly in cold water and "dry" it. Never allow fish to soak because flavorless fishes are lost.

The often fish is not served, especially to dinner guests, because the bones are objectionable. Why not remove the bones? First, it is done. Insert a sharp knife at the tail above and to one side of the backbone. Loosen meat by drawing the knife in and down the spine of the fish where the ribs are. Turn the fish over and repeat the same process on the other side. Now you are ready to trim the raw fish into an appetizing dish.

Fry frying is one good method of cooking fish, especially in the case of shiners. First, brown the fat before you place the fish in the pan. This helps to prevent the "fish odor." Next, place the fish in the pan with the skin side next to the source of fat. Do not cook too over cook. Fish is a tender protein food, but "overcooked" taste that is found in salmon.

South Champs Meet Northern Champs

ROWLEY Mr. and Mrs. J. Rowley and family motored to Kamloops to the double-header baseball game between Kamloops City, who are Junior Southern champions, holders of a 4-0 Westlink Melville, holders of Junior Northern Championship. These two games were the beginning of the Alberta Championship playoffs.

Curd of Thanks

I wish to express my sincere thanks and appreciation to my friends and neighbors who so kindly helped out with my work at home. Also for get well wishes while I was in Lacombe Hospital.

—JOHN DITTO.

Shish, as it requires less cooking.

Do us the professional chefs' courtesy. They consider fish to be cooked when the cooking protein is no longer colorless but has changed to a cream color. Each should peel apart easily and the fish should be moist and flavorful.

There are so many other ways to render fish palatable. Here you tried baked stuff? Well! A three to four pound fish is just the right size. It looks attractive, easy when served cold and garnished with lemon slices, tomato wedges or sliced hard-boiled eggs.

Of course, if the catch has been a "whopper," why not freeze some for use later on. Wrap the fish in moist (a good paper), or place it in a plastic, cover with milk and store it in the coldest part of the refrigerator. To prepare fish, that has been frozen, do not thaw in a plastic, cover with milk and cook. Thawing fish eliminates some of the fatness and eliminates the "fishy" taste.

If you serve fresh fish, do not use vinegar and salt to the main course, but make the most of "the catch of the season!"

Expect Shortage Of Farm Labor With Heavy 1952 Field Crops

EDMONTON — Field crops commissioner A. M. Wilson said last week that the problem of getting farm labor to help with Alberta's expected bumper harvest this fall likely will be more serious than last year.

Main cause of worry is that crops are running ahead uniformly in all parts of the province. Mr. Wilson said he feared this uniform harvest would add to the difficulty of moving farm workers from one farm to another.

The commissioner said, however, that the harvest outlook is not without its bright spots. The step of the 1952 crop should secure record financial returns to farmers. The crop, while heavier than last year, is not "indigestible" as it was in 1931, making it easier to handle. Mr. Wilson, reporting that indications point to "very limited" storage space in the Alberta grain elevator, said farmers now are preparing to use every available granary, barn and box house.

He said they are preparing to use "even empty bedrooms".

HARVEST HELP MOVING WEST

OTTAWA — The big seasonal move of western farm workers to help western farmers harvest their crops has started, the Labor Department said.

About 2,500 workers will be needed and recruiting is under way in Ontario and Quebec. Only experienced farm men will be used.

The recruiting job is carried out under agreement among the railways, the Federal Government and the governments of the three prairie provinces.

Those who volunteer get a low extension rate of $18 for travelling west by train and $11.50 for the return trip.

The department said the bulk of the western movement will take place in the latter part of this month and early in September. No worker will be taken from an eastern area where farm labor is scarce.

Offering Of New Range Sheep Breeds

Alberta sheep breeders should benefit from the sale of about one hundred ewes of the Canadian Corriedale, Rambouillet and Rambouillet breeds. These have been developed to grow good wool, provide a good carcass and be well adapted to use Alberta range conditions.

The Canadian Corriedale had its start at the Lathbridge Experimental Station in 1910 from a cross of Lincoln rams and Rambouillet ewes. Since then some New Zealand Corriedale blood has been added.

The Rambouillet, another new breed, originated from pure breds at Manbyville Range Experiment Station in 1925. Rams were crossed on Rambouillet ewes and a thick bodied, deep, compact animal has been developed with good wool characteristics.

The Rambouillots being offered are the result of long and careful selection to improve the carcass and maintain wool production.

Sale will be by auction at Manbyville on the occasion of the annual Range Station Field Day on August 30. "Joek" Blacklock of Saskatoon will wield the hammer.

Stettler School Division No. 26

The Divisional Trustees are contemplating the disposal by sale or removal of many school buildings within the Division, a situation that has arisen through centralization of schools and in a few cases by there being no children of school age in the district.

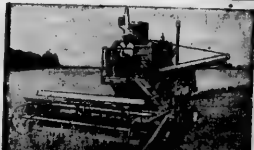

The principles set down by the Minister of Education regarding such schools is as follows:—

1. That any school building is the property of the division and that the onus rests on the local district to establish the undesirability of its removal or sale.
2. That a building should not be allowed to stand idle and unused for any extensive period because of consequent rapid deterioration.
3. That if the people of a local community desire to use a building, erected prior to the establishment of the division, for community purposes, though such building is not used for school purposes, they should be given reasonable opportunity to purchase it at a modest figure.
4. That it is not the responsibility of the school division to retain and maintain, and to suffer the deterioration of school buildings for occasional community use.
5. That if there is reasonable possibility of the school building being required for school purposes in the district in which it is situated in the not too distant future, it may be retained in the district.

The following school properties are under consideration as to their disposal:

ACADIA SERVICE

Any objections to the disposal or otherwise of these buildings should be submitted not later than September 7th, 1932, to the office of the Stettler School Division No. 26, at Stettler, Alberta.

Home Builders Asked To Keep Prices At Minimum

EDMONTON — Hon. George Prudham, addressing a meeting at the Macdonald last week, said that home builders should do all in their power to keep the prices down.

Work On Fourth Drive-In Started

A fourth drive-in theatre to be located just east of the city is the first stages of erection it was reported last week. This one will be built by Edmonton and Calgary interests at an estimated cost of $117,000.

Near the plastic plant it will be one-half mile south of Highway 16. A group of men consisting of Jack Diamond, Alvin Murray and Joe Feldman, operators of a Calgary drive-in and Ben Galey of Edmonton, purchased the site at a cost of $12,000.

Believed to be the largest drive-in in Canada, this theatre will have a capacity of 2,013 cars. While full operations will not begin until next year, it is hoped to have facilities ready for 300 cars this fall. Car parking equipment will be installed, it was stated.

A drive-in theatre is under construction on the Napanee road and will be operated by Western Theatre Ltd., which now operates two theatres on the city's outskirts. Named the Northside Theatre, this one will open when the season begins next year. Norman C. McDonald, supervisor of the two theatres said. Plans for a second theatre announced earlier have been abandoned he said. This was to have been east of the city too.

Truck Rolls Over; 3 Men Injured

CZAR — Three men were injured when the truck they were riding left the road and rolled over on High No. 13, about three miles from CZAR. Two were kept in hospital, while the third was released after treatment. The accident occurred on Saturday, August 26.

Mr. Prudham spoke to the Edmonton House Builders' Association at a dinner meeting held to honor W. M. Griesenthwaite, president of the National Home Builders' Association, and a group of visiting officials.

He urged that builders stop relying on the wealthy people as there were not enough of them, and that to accept the rising cost as inevitable. "It is the duty of the builders and the government to meet the needs of the smaller income brackets," he said. "Co-operation of every individual is what the success of democracy depends on," the speaker continued.

Mr. Prudham, federal minister of mines and technical surveys, said "It was deplorable the way the tendency toward asking for more money for less work was growing, and that this tendency could not be blamed on any one group. Privileges do not come without responsibilities and it is impossible to enjoy an easy life without paying for it. We must get to work if we want to develop this country of ours. There are others looking at our rich country and maybe before too long they will be running the country without asking to do so."

Listing current developments from iron ore in the east to oil in Alberta, uranium in Saskatchewan, and aluminum in B.C., he went on to say that there is prosperity in Canada today. Mr. Prudham said that he was proud the Canadian dollar was at premium and that Canada was going to build the St. Lawrence seaway to grow. "This country is beginning to grow and I am proud of it," he commented.

To Pay $300 Fine Rather Than Jail

REINHOLDER — Adam Murar of Airdrie was fined $300 and costs with an option of spending the next three months in jail when he appeared before Magistrate Hawkins in police court last week. Murar was convicted of keeping liquor for sale. He chose the $300 fine.

The activities of the District Agriculturist on the afternoon of Saturday, August 23, dealt with a very considerable slate of business.

Business pertaining to the immediate future concerned plans for the grain shows to be held in the latter part of October. Longer range items entered in the minutes for further consideration at later meetings include a follow up of the leadership course which was offered in Drumheller this summer, and a trip to the Brooks Experimental Farm following the eastern of the trip to Lethbridge this year.

The Flower Show in Rummey on the afternoon of Wednesday, August 27, was the office of the District Agriculturist on the afternoon of Saturday, August 23, dealt with a very considerable slate of business.

It is difficult indeed from the standpoint of usefulness, profit or work accomplished to justify a flower show. It is like trying to justify flowers, poetry or music. From the standpoint of the community, the school, the church, the home, however, we can hardly think of any of them without poetry, or music or flowers. In its flower show, Rummey has the partial fulfillment of a beautiful dream. Over the years may it go on ever more nearly approaching the dream which first inspired its beginning.

HOMEMAKER'S NOTES

By MARGARET C. FAIRBairn

A Good Lunch Planned well, and well served, goes well at school days. School days are here again. After your children back to school, a diet of sandwiches? Sandwiches for lunch every day can become monotonous.

A well-planned lunch can be in order, meals, filling the day long needs. Do you include meat, fish, cheese, eggs or some other protein food in every lunch box meal? Try sending baked beans in small jars to be reheated at school. There is very little extra work in preparing this type of lunch as the meat can be left overnight in the refrigerator, or prepared fresh for the school.

At home, the lunch can be made at home. Fruits and vegetables and lettuce contrasts to any lunch. Apples or carrot sticks, whole tomatoes or lettuce wedges are crisp and good. Fresh or stewed fruits should be included as a dessert. Fruit salads are ideal as they are so appealing to any child.

All nutritious lunches include milk in some form. Milk as a hot cold beverage, as a cream soup, as a milk pudding will help supply each child his requirement, a "quart of milk a day."

A well planned lunch "pays well" in better health and happier children. Sandwich suggestions and ideas for lunch for hot school lunches are to be found in the bulletin "Lunch Boxes and Hot School Lunches" available from this office.

Wedding

A wedding of wide interest was celebrated at St. Barbara's Anglican Church, Calgary when Donna May eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald McLeod of Lethbridge, formerly of Calgary, became the bride of Mr. William H. Buchanan, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Buchanan of Alix.

Before an altar decorated with bouquets of gladioli, Rev. J. E. Mitchell performed the ceremony. Guest pews were marked with white bows.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of traditional white satin and lace styled with a stand-up collar, hip-length sleeves and a yoked waist. Her fingertip veil of lace edged illusion, fell from a small lace cape trimmed with pearls. She wore as her only jewelry a single strand of pearls, gift of the groom, and she carried a bouquet of white carnations and roses.

Miss Patricia McLeod, sister, was maid of honor. She wore a pink bubble-length gown styled with strapless bodice and a matching short-train lace cape and a matching head-dress completed her ensemble. She carried a bouquet of pink carnations and white stephanotis.

The two bridesmaids, Miss Mary Jean Buchanan, sister of the groom, and Miss Patricia Paul, were gowns of turquoise and yellow net respectively. Both carried bouquets of pink carnations and white stephanotis.

Mr. David Buchanan was the bride's brother. He and his guests were married to their wives by Mr. James Walker, cousin of the groom.

During the signing of the register Miss Joan Turner sang "The Lord's Prayer".

Following the ceremony, a reception for 150 guests was held at the Starline Sky Room where the bride's wedding reception was held.

The bride's wedding cake was a tall white cake with ivory and white decorations. A carriage of Tallman drove completed her escort.

Mr. Buchanan, mother of the groom, wore for the occasion a navy dress with pink accessories and a carriage of pink roses.

The bride's train was styled with a three-tiered cake with white and pink and finished with white of carnations.

A toast to the bride was proposed by Mr. Mitchell, and toasts of congratulations were read by the groom.

Leaving for a honeymoon to Vancouver and Victoria, the bride wore a suit of blue grey material with a powder blue shirt and navy velvet accessories.

A carriage of blue roses and white stephanotis completed her outfit. The young couple will make their home in Uxley, Sask.

NEW EDMONTON BRIDGE SUBJECT OF DISCUSSION

EDMONTON — Preliminary discussions opened last week between the city and the provincial government on a proposed new $4,000,000 six-lane high level bridge over the North Saskatchewan river at Edmonton.

The meeting, between City Commissioner D. B. Menzies and Highways Minister Gordon Taylor was described as "co-operative". The talks were aimed primarily at acquainting Mr. Taylor with the city's bridge situation, as a minor step in the cabinet at the time of the former discussion.

Re-opening of the talks was suggested at a recent council meeting by Ald. Duncan Innes, who asked council to approach the province on what contribution it would make toward construction of a new bridge.

The present High Level Bridge has been described as inadequate for Edmonton's increasing commuter traffic. Suggestions have been made both for conversion of the top deck of the bridge, at a cost of $1,000,000, to permit vehicular traffic, and for erection of a new bridge entirely.

Good Harvest Weather Speeds Threshing, Combining in District

Eagle's Walk

Antiques

DOWN LOOKER, Mont. — While out in a valley, Marvin Parnow, of Deer Lodge, saw a golden eagle circling in the sky. Suddenly, the bird folded its wings and plunged downward. A few feet from the ground, the eagle threw out its wings, beating the dove and stabbed its sharp talons into the back of an antique store. Chase Warden Lee Barton declares the eagle has been hitting an average of one town a day since June 1st and he does not believe this hitting is coincidental but also will have Barton had suit filed.

Government Inspections Coming Of District Potato Plots

W. Lobay, Supervisor of Crop Protection, Alberta Department of Agriculture, reports that around 6,500 acres in the potato growing areas of Edmonton, Calgary, Brooks and Lethbridge will be inspected this fall for signs of the highly contagious bacterial ring rot. This annual inspection is part of the work undertaken by the Department to ensure protection and improvement of the province's potato industry.

Although it is only fifteen years since bacterial ring rot made its appearance in Alberta, the highly contagious nature of the disease could have resulted in tremendous damage in that time if it had not been for the interest and vigilance of both growers and officials.

Inspections will be made first on fields for which planting permits were obtained this spring, and growers whose fields are found free from ring rot will be given a certificate to that effect.

If infection should be found the crop will be handled in such a way that danger of spread of the disease will be eliminated. For the protection of himself and the industry, any grower who failed to obtain a planting permit this spring should see the inspector within his area, and request that an inspection of his field be made. Inspections will start at the beginning of September and are expected to be completed by the end of the month.

Every grower should be familiar with the symptoms of bacterial ring rot to help in the crusade to eliminate this disease. Diseased plants are usually stunted only late in the growing season, and the first sign is rolling of the leaves. The leaves soon lose their color and become thin and smooth to the touch. One or more stems in a hill may wither while the remainder appear healthy.

When affected plants are dug, some of the tubers are usually badly diseased. All cretations from sound to decayed tubers will be found. The bacteria that enter the tubers, spread in a ring in the tissue just below the skin surface, causing in that region a creamy, yellow, crumbly and cheesy rot. The portion of the tuber outside the area of rot can easily be separated from the inner part.

Suspected specimens should be mailed immediately to the Field Crops Branch, Department of Agriculture, Edmonton, for verification of the disease.

Local Residents Return From New York

WIMBLEDON—Mrs. Adamson and Bob returned recently from a trip to New York. They visited Mrs. Adamson's daughter, Mrs. N. Berke, and her family while there and also spent much of their time at the Bronx Zoo, Statton and Coney Island, a baseball game at the Polo Grounds, Radio City Music Hall, the world's largest apartment store, and the top of the Empire State building. Enroute they visited relatives in Winnipeg and Hamilton, and spent a day at the Canadian National Exhibition.

E. L. MATHER, S.O., Assistant Director, Soil Conservation Farm Service, Winnipeg, Manitoba.
Conservation by the Federal, Alberta, British Columbia, Saskatchewan, Manitoba, Ontario, Quebec, New Brunswick, Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island, Newfound Land, and the Yukon, Northwest Territories, and Nunavut.

The Importance of Soil Conservation
Because of mechanization the exploitation of the soil in North America is possibly the worst in the history of mankind. Already in the comparatively short history of the United States 40 million acres of choice farm land have been ruined, 100 million acres have lost 75% of the top soil and a further 100 million acres have lost 25% of the productive layer.
Four billion acres of arable land, at the present time, feeds the world's population of 2.5 billion human beings. The population of the world is increasing rapidly, while at the same time the soil resources are being destroyed through erosion.
Soil Not Thoroughly Understood. Doubtless the lagged scrambling block in soil conservation is the fact that many people think of soil as simply a mixture of minerals and organic matter, which must be cultivated in order to produce a crop, and which tracks up the kitchen in wet weather. Soil is indeed a mixture of minerals and organic matter but it is also a living mass of its organisms. The work of these organisms is to change the raw minerals and organic matter of the soil into plant food. Without them no crops could be grown, and without organic matter the soil organisms have nothing on which to live. Organic matter is important in other respects also. It enables the soil to absorb moisture and to retain it. It holds the soil together. Without organic matter and fibre the soil has no binding material. It is then at the mercy of every wind that blows over it and every rain that falls upon it.
Soil Failure Destructive. Most of our erosion takes place on bare fallows. Nature always supplies a protective cover. We could protect our fields of the trash and stubble remaining after cropping was utilized to the best advantage. Burning, carter cultivation, or the wrong choice of implement can destroy that protection. We need a change in our attitude toward the soil. We must all work for conservation. You get too have a responsibility to the soils of Western Canada.

This Agriculture

By G. W. ROBERTSON

Despite the fact that 1952 has proved a bumper crop, has given us fairly ideal conditions for operation on the farm, and in general has been just what we needed, we could have wanted it to be just a little more so. The year will be remembered most for wild oats. In fields that were supposed to be clean wild oats flourished and it was difficult to tell by looking at some fields whether they were wheat or wild oats.

Under such conditions a man would be held indeed to suggest that at least he had found an effective measure of control for wild oats. On the negative side one thing can be said quite definitely—burning of stubble is not likely to afford any very effective measure of control.

A publication recently received has this to say about wild oats:

"This weed is responsible for more crop loss than any weed in Western Canada. Its control is difficult because the seeds can lie dormant for many years and germinate when conditions are favorable. When wild oat sheath they contain moisture and will not grow until they have been dried out and later placed in cool moist soil."

"Shallow cultivation is essential because if wild oat seeds are buried deeply before a thorough drying they may lie dormant for years, to later dry out and germinate when brought to the surface. Over a period of years, many deeply buried seeds will die. Therefore take care not to bring up a fresh supply by deep cultivation."

"Most wild oat seeds germinate in the spring. This means that it is possible to 'grow out' a crop in early spring."

"The effectiveness of summer-fallowing is often wasted by early seeding the following spring. Wild oat seeds near the surface should be allowed to grow, then cultivate before seeding the crop."

"The following is a summary of the best practices for wild oat control:

1. Shallow tillage.
2. Early, shallow spring tillage of stubble land, whether it is to be summer-fallowed or cropped, to provide air necessary for wild oat germination. In any one year no many wild oats can be killed by

The W.I. met at the home of Mrs. Duncan Wilson on Wednesday with a good attendance. It was decided not to have a grand-mothers' party this year but would put the money and effort toward a card party to help the Greek and Korean children. Lunch was served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Eckvall.

Thugs Who Crippled District Garageman Get Long Jail Terms

GAINFORD — The two Montreal men who shot and wounded a Gainford garageman earlier this year have each been sentenced to long penitentiary terms for their crimes. Following trial in Edmonton they were sentenced to 14 years and 10 years in penitentiary Friday after pleading guilty to armed robbery and shooting of Rudolph Ruffer.

Howard Pugsert, aged 31, was given 14 years imprisonment by Mr. Justice Boyd McBride while his accomplice, 25-year-old Paul Buscy, was sentenced to 10 years in prison.

McBride said the crime was "one of the gravest offences to come before me, the facts as described to me are terrible."

The two thugs terrorized the village of Gainford last June 26 when armed with automatics they held up a grocery and stole $25. When they entered the garage of Rudolph Ruffer a scuffle followed and the garage owner was shot in the neck. The bandits fled into dense brush surrounding the settlement and managed to elude a large posse of Mounties aided by an RCMP search plane and police dogs.

However, Pugsert was arrested by Edmonton city detectives at a pool hall three days later and Buscy was nabbed by railway police at Moose Jaw.

The sentence will be served in the federal penitentiary at Prince Albert, Sask.

"My son has chosen banking"

When a bank manager retired last year, he wrote his General Manager to tell why he was proud his son also had chosen a banking career:

"I shall always recall my banking days with pleasure and I cannot think of any other occupation that gives one a greater opportunity to meet people and form lasting friendships. I have been privileged to serve the bank in three provinces... That my son has chosen banking is also a great satisfaction to me. He is most anxious to make good on his own account."

Any young man on the lookout for an interesting and worthwhile career—for opportunities to grow and get ahead—should take a look at banking. Have a talk with the bank manager in your neighborhood branch. It may well prove an important turning point in your life.

LETTERS TO LOUISA

Dear Louisa,
 Do you think a girl of fifteen should work? All of my friends say no.

Answer:
 Don't start working just because your young friends have asked to do so. You must think for your health and is expensive.

Dear Louisa,
 I met a girl while I was in school and fell in love with her.
 She is all that anyone could wish for a wife.

Report 121 Days Without Frost

The Federal government's experimental station at Lacemba, Alta., reported that this summer was one of the longest frost-free periods in its history.

The Central Alberta district reported that the summer was frost-free, compared with 121 days in the year 1931.
 The longest frost-free period in the district's history was in 1931, when there were 121 consecutive days without frost.

Easterners Help
 Complete
 Western Harvest

The near completion of harvest can be attributed, to a certain extent, to the more than 1,500 eastern men who came west to help with harvest operations. According to figures released by F. R. Newcomer, director of extension, provincial department of agriculture, the number who came west this fall exceeded that of last year, when only 957 found their way west.

Some of the workers came directly from eastern Canada, where Newcomer said, and others came from the United States. First working in Manitoba and a Saskatchewan district.

"This has been the first year in some time," he said, "that the number of harvest workers has kept up with the demand. Very few reports of harvest workers have been received this year but it will be satisfied."

The western movement of harvest workers is aided, with the exception of "a few workers who may still find the province after completing work in Manitoba."

Turkey Supper, Bazaar To Be Held November 26

ALIX — The Ladies' Aid met at the home of Mrs. E. Holworth Wednesday. A large attendance was out and many articles handed in for the bazaar. It was decided to hold a turkey supper November 26 with the bazaar, instead of the usual tea and bazaar.

Miss M. C. Parry, District Home Economist, gave an interesting talk on practical clothing hints and choosing your electrical equipment. After which the Ladies Aid and Institute served the crowd to sandwiches, cake and coffee.

HOMERAKER'S NOTES

By Margaret C. Fargy, District Home Economist

"A RICHER—AND BETTER BAZAAR"

Is this the slogan for the fall bazaar you are now planning? Books, mitts, aprons and lunchboxes top the list of best sellers at any sale of work.

A new and practical apron style is fashioned with large pockets across the bottom edge. These pockets come in useful to carry cutters and furniture polish while doing your housecleaning, or to keep your small green gloves when you are gardening. Bizarre denim fabric in a dark color is a good choice for material. Here is how to begin.

Cut out a waist length apron with a straight lower edge. Cut an extra piece, the length of which is the same as the bottom edge of the apron, and its width should measure one-half that of the apron width. Finish the top edge of the extra piece with bias tape. Then sew it to the lower half of the apron skirt. Make three pockets by stitching it onto the apron in two places. Finish the extra piece with bias tape. Then sew it to the lower half of the apron skirt. The denim fabric is a good choice for material. Here is how to begin.

It is easy to create an attractive quilted lunchbox bag which "Bibbix work" is a new method of supplying design by using the sewing machine. For the cloth choose a fabric such as Indian head which can be bought in an array of colors. It is very important that the design "go with" to the cloth is simple, and involves straight lines. The design is most attractive and easy to do if it is made from one continuous line which crosses itself to make geometric forms. Then the design on the wrong side of the cloth. Wind six-strand embroidery cotton on to the bobbin of the sewing machine. Use the cotton thread that matches the color of the cloth or the embroidery cotton as the top thread. Place the lunchbox cloth right side down in the machine and stitch along the design.

Try it! Create something new and different for your fall bazaar.

SAVE CHEESE UPSTAIR!

Did you know there are fifty different kinds of cheese made in Canada? Do you know cheese, in its many forms, to add zip to these autumn meals?

Cheese is one of our most valuable foods and should have a prominent place in meals of both adults and children. Because of its high protein content, cheese is in the same class as meat, fish, poultry and eggs. Are you aware that cheese offers the same top notch protein found in meat, but at a substantial saving?

Canadian cheese is elegant "as is" with breakfast toast, but now and then you'll want to include it in omelets, scrambled eggs, biscuits or as a main dish in the form of soufflé and casserole dishes.

Cook cheese at a low temperature. High temperature cooking—baking and broiling—disintegrates it. When making a cheese sauce add cheese at the last and cook only just until melted.

For recipes using cheese write for the bulletin "Cheese Dishes" available from this office.

Despite our winters' stimulation, most humans bludge their bulk of their efforts in exchange for the necessities of life, and some even fail to get there.

EAT NOT DIET

Home Style Reducing Diets Don't Work

By ELMER WHEELER

"HOLD ON to your hats, boys—here we go again!"

That's what I should have said to myself. There I was all set to start dieting again, just like I done three times a year ever since I first noticed that I couldn't stand up straight and still see my feet.

Dieting again, just as I'd done dozens of times before. I was an old hand at it now. I knew all the angles.

I dug out my old diet books. Brushed up on my caloric charts. Put a diet of what to eat and what not to eat in my vest pocket and I was on my merry way.

I NEVER BOTHERED with seeing a doctor or a diet expert. I already had all the answers, so why spend money to have someone else repeat them to me?

No need to see a doctor, I told myself. All I had to do was eat meat and starches, as it's books say, and do push-ups.

Best exercise in the world, pushing yourself up from the floor.

All I was eating was one real meal of milk—it was good and one got fat on just one meal a day?

Why, I was eating like a bird. Couldn't help but lose weight. It was plain and simple logic.

I cut all salt out of my diet.

My breakfast was now merely a double orange juice (a fellow's system needs fruit, of course), three slices of dry bread (nothing fattening if it isn't white, I figured), some peanut butter, jam and black coffee. No cream or sugar.

Well, that's the typical dieting fad, which makes a profession of it. I didn't eat a single thing for lunch. Well, that, is nothing heavy.

Just a large bowl of soup or cream of chicken. A handful of crackers.

Then a sandwich. Nothing heavy about that, certainly. A slice of milk—it's all right, isn't it? No pie. Not me.

Somehow I managed to get through the days. Each night I would rush home, fall weakly on the divan, and wait for dinner.

Either, how late! But why not? One meal a day couldn't hurt a fellow, could it?

My diet spree was in full swing now.

I kept right on pushing away at the pounds. Give 'em no quarter, was Elmer's motto.

Never let up. One meal a day, no heavy meals till night.

No sugars, no starches.

Years ago, I had learned you should never weigh yourself every day, because if you found you hadn't lost five more pounds every time you stepped on the scales you were disappointed.

So I waited to weigh myself at the end of three full weeks, when the results would really show.

It isn't until you've done 10 or 15, maybe 20 pounds, that you really begin to feel you're accomplishing something.

DOUBLE-RING WEDDING FOR MISS JANET TALLMAN

At a recent double-ring wedding ceremony in Crescent Heights United Church Miss Janet Ross Tallman, R.N., daughter of Mrs. W. C. Tallman and the late Mr. Tallman, became the bride of Mr. Ernest Park, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Park, all of Calgary.

Rev. W. B. Ashford officiated at the evening service in a Thanksgiving ritual setting of thyrses, thyrses in shades of bronze and yellow.

Given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Ross Tallman, the bride wore a strapless floor-length gown of white Chantilly lace, with a lace bolero jacket. The bouquet of white flowers was carried by a bridesmaid and a flower girl.

Miss Janet Tallman, the bride, was a strapless floor-length gown of white Chantilly lace, with a lace bolero jacket. The bouquet of white flowers was carried by a bridesmaid and a flower girl.

The groomsmen were Mr. Joseph St. John, the usher was Mr. William Jones and Mr. Arthur Richardson. The wedding music was played by Mr. E. E. Chappin at the organ, Mr. Ross Tallman, Mr. Douglas Walker as soloist sang "The Lord's Prayer" at the beginning of the service, and "I Love You Truly" during the signing of the register.

The wedding reception was held in the War Amps hall, where the bride's uncle, Mr. Joseph McAllister, proposed her to Mr. Ernest Park and Mr. Park left on a motor trip through the United States, and upon their return will reside in Calgary at 2810 16A St. N.W. For travelling the bride wore an orchid-shade gingham and a Persian lamb cape with dark green accessories.

Janet Tallman was born and lived in Alta until she went in training as a nurse.

Mr. Park's hour of triumph was at hand. So was the whole family. They all gathered around for the important announcement. The Special Bulletin from every newspaper was strung to the bride's feet. She stood on the scales. Held my breath. Smiled smartly at the little party.

Then I gasped. My family gasped. The scales gasped. Something must be wrong. I feared.

It was four pounds heavier than when I started my "diet" last three weeks ago.

No sugars—no starches—black coffee—one meal a day, and I gained instead of lost weight! (Elmer) in trouble. You can benefit from his experience by following his "Seven diet." Send now for the new "Seven diet" and see next week's paper or YOU too can start the Fat Free Diet.

Obtain Sheep and Swine Breeding Stock Early

The fall sales at Edmonton and Calgary offer an excellent opportunity for livestockmen to discuss their problems, and those who intend are able to select personally the quality stock they require. The Calgary sale will be held this year from October 21 to 23, and the Edmonton sale from October 23 to November 1.

A. J. Charvat, Livestock Supervisor, Alberta Department of Agriculture, advises that good years are a slow supply and will be difficult to obtain later in the fall. Make sure of your requirements in advance. If you are unable to attend one of the fall sales, see your district agricultural agent and discuss with him your livestock needs. Quality breeds and rams are available at cost under the Alberta Department of Agriculture's Livestock Improvement Policies, with express shipping charges prepaid to eligible applicants.

BANG'S DISEASE OF CATTLE

DR. H. E. BALLANTYNE, Director of Veterinary Services
Alberta Department of Agriculture

This disease is the most important infectious cattle disease in Alberta, affecting both beef and dairy herds. It is important for two basic reasons: (1) Causes an estimated net $2,000,000 to $3,000,000 loss to Alberta each year. (2) Causes several cases of undulant in humans in the province every year, as the disease can spread from cattle to man.

The high loss is calculated on the number of calves born annually in Alberta, and the reduced milk production for that same period in dairy herds. The value of infected animals is further affected by the loss of example of the loss to the farmer.

A calf born in the spring of 1932 had a disease in its calves born in the spring of 1933. The calf was dead. "They were weak, of course, but if they had more in two years for beef, they would have meant $10 extra gross income to that farmer. Now, due to Bang's disease, he is going to be short of income. That's a lot of money to lose. That loss could have been prevented very easily if the calf had been vaccinated five years ago. It would be a Bang's resistant herd through the Bang's vaccination. Give this serious thought. Losers due to Bang's disease can be prevented. If you have a clean herd now, protect your income and also the health of your family by building up a Bang's resistant herd. Don't wait until you have the disease in your herd or in your neighbor's herd across the fence.

First recommendation may be cost. Make arrangements with your veterinarian to get your heifer calves vaccinated every year. Or fit them with your District Agricultural or Agricultural Service. A bulletin on Bang's disease is available from your District Agricultural.

The Alberta Department of Agriculture recommends calfhood vaccination coupled with good herd management as an economical practical way to prevent and control the disease. The cooperation of all cattlemen will be greatly appreciated in building up a Bang's resistant herd by having all heifer calves vaccinated this fall.

Store Grain Above Ground On Floor

Dr. H. E. Gray said if stored produce must be investigated, the department of agriculture, Ottawa, says a granary with a wooden floor above the ground is best. It is better than one large one. If grain is tough and damp the following procedure is recommended by Dr. Gray: 1. Repair leaky roof. Windows and doors to exclude rain or snow. If the floor is concrete, cover it with moisture-proof paper. 2. Clear walls and floors well and sprinkle a small amount of hydralite lime over the floor and sweep it around to fill the cracks. 3. If insects or mice were present last year, coat the inside walls with whitewash containing one quarter of a pound of lysol per gallon.

4. Fill the granary to the plate. 5. Ample space between the grain surface and the roof must be provided for ventilation. 6. Open bins or piles are risky. If available well drained ground or even a thickness of two or three feet of straw should be used. This should be common sense.

Following these suggestions should eliminate a good percentage of loss in grain storage as grading and therefore loss at sale time will be kept to a minimum.

If you want to be happy, never set your mind upon anything which is in the power of others to withhold.

EXPECT NEAR-RECORD FARM INCOME FOR THE 1932 CROP YEAR

MONTREAL.—Farm cash income in 1932 may come close to the record set in 1931, the Bank of Montreal Business Review comments, but adds that net farm income may be somewhat lower.

Noting that "Canadian agriculture has rarely been more influenced by the course of nature than in 1932," the Bank of Montreal analysis describes the February outlook of food and-meat products, since eroded, and the present enormous wheat harvest, as "a dramatic and contrasting event, such without precedent. To indicate their effect, the bank emphasizes that 80 per cent of all Canadian farmers' cash income in 1931 was derived from the sale of cattle, hogs and wheat. To this must be added the "incalculable indirect consequences for food processors, distributors, exporters and consumers."

In general, the R. of M. notes, "output of agricultural products has been more than adequate to meet demand, and a broad decline of farm prices during the year has underlined the role of agricultural price supports."

MEAT EXPORTS DECLINE

The review points out that, even before the outbreak of foot-and-mouth disease, exports of cattle and hogs to the United States had declined drastically, due to the narrowing differential between Canadian and American beef prices. Exports of pork products, mainly to the United Kingdom, had also dwindled rapidly, with prices declining since mid-1931, though rising domestic consumption was enough to maintain hog marketing. Nevertheless, hogs, like cattle, continued to increase in numbers. Partial solution to the surplus resulting from the U.S. "foot-and-mouth" embargo were found in government purchases for the U.S. Navy, a supply meeting to the U.S. in a four-way arrangement with the U.S. and New Zealand.

The 1932 wheat crop is, by a wide margin, the "largest ever harvested in this country's history" and of very high grade, the bank notes, "the highest wheat prices since the war—much wheat poses manifold problems of storage and distribution."

The carry-over into the present season of the 1931 wheat harvest, the largest since 1905, gives if exports again reach last year's level, with domestic consumption continuing steady, the carry-over at the end of next July would be about 250 million bushels.

EXPECTED INCOME IS STILL DOWN

Noting that farmers' cash income during the first half of 1932 was only slightly less than that received in the same period of last year, the review points out that the better grades and record bushels of the current harvest, plus final participation payments for the 1931 crop, should bring enlarged receipts. "On the other hand, returns from livestock sales are likely to continue below a year ago." Average prices received for agricultural products at the farm have declined to about 1931 level but prices paid by farmers for the goods and services they buy have risen slightly since mid-1931, the bank states.

This suggests that, "even if the gross income of the agricultural industry this year should approximate that of 1931, net income may be somewhat lower."

The review stresses that, though the "vagaries of nature cannot be reversed," their ill effects for the farmer are being limited by governmental price supports which underwrite products that last year accounted for about 80 per cent of all farm cash income in Canada.

The bank and analysis comments that, unlike the situation in the U.S., "the net budgetary cost, of farm prices support in this country has been very small." But, "with prices of farm products hovering about the cost of farm price support could not actually be a more important item in the farm budget than it has been in the past."

Careless Shot Causes Near Tragedy

EDMONTON—A careless hunter caused a near accident when Richard Hafe and a hired man were hunting grouse.

After passing the teams and nets, the hunter fired a shot, striking the rear leg. They started, breaking the back of the first team. One horse then reared sideways into the ditch, pulling his mate under the wagon tongue, causing quite a stir.

The hunter seized the tangle, jumped into his car and hurriedly drove off.

JASPER'S NEW MAIN LODGE TO BE READY FOR 1953 SEASON.

JASPER — Donald Gordon, chairman and president, Canadian National Railways, recently completed his first visit to Jasper since the destruction of the main lodge by fire on July 15. He made a careful survey of the preliminary plans for the new building, which will be approximately one-third larger than the original lodge.

"I am delighted with the work that has already been accomplished," said the railway president. "The speed with which the debris was cleared away and work commenced on the excavation for the new building is amazing. I am much impressed with the early work of the contractors and they have promised to have the new lodge open to us by the middle of May next. I have every expectation that this date will be met," declared Mr. Gordon.

While concrete and steel will be used in the construction of the new one-story building from the fireproof point of view, every effort will be made to carry out the existing rustic type of exterior and interior that prevails in the adjoining guest cabins. The new dining room will be much larger than the old one and will seat more than 800 persons at one sitting. The executive office, guest registration and shops, along with the dining room, ball room and ticket office, will be on the raised main floor, while immediately below will be the rest rooms, recreation and other public rooms.

The general arrangement on the ground floor will be most attractive—with the dining room so placed that it will command a spectacular view of Lac Louise and the mountain ranges from its large picture windows. "When we open for business on June 15 next, we will carry on the tradition of the former lodge and will offer the public one of the finest culinary kitchens to hold their own in the world over," said Mr. Gordon.

The new time a good-looking girl smile at you, smile back.

"A very valuable citizen"

When a bank manager was transferred recently a group of citizens wrote the bank in tribute to his years of public service:

"During the time he was here, we found him to be a very valuable citizen. He always took a deep interest in our community, so we feel we have lost a valuable asset. However, we feel sure that his replacement will be made with a man of similar calibre."

A bank man, by the very nature of his work, becomes part of the life around him. During his training in various branches, and as he takes on growing responsibilities, he learns more and more about people and how his bank can help them. And he brings to his community his personal readiness to serve in any way he can.

FAT BOY DIET

Scientific Diet Aids Reducing

It is a fact that a person who is overweight is not only a burden to himself but also a burden to the community. The scientific diet which has been developed by the University of Toronto, Canada, is a diet which is designed to help a person lose weight without losing his health. It is a diet which is based on the principle of balance.

MILK PRODUCTION IN DISTRICT UP DURING POST-WAR INTERVAL

EDMONTON:—At the October meeting of the Edmonton District Planning Commission, the Technical Staff reported the completion of a survey of the "Milk Shed." Mr. Gertler explained that by computing the acreages used for milk production in pre-war years with the acreages in immediate post-war and subsequent years, much useful information had been gleaned.

In his report, Gertler showed that in pre-war days there was a comparatively narrow band around the metropolitan area used for milk production but that the area has gradually widened out very considerably and also retired considerably from the city fringe.

Land previously devoted to cropland to grain raising is now being used for milk production. This is a clue to rural population development, since more labor is involved in dairymen than in the case of grain raising.

The unexpected also affects the growth of the town and the economic prospects for the district; all of which information is of considerable value in overall planning for the district.

A report was presented by the Public Relations Committee showing that it had been necessary to change the dates for the planning conference from October 20 and 21 to November 13 and 14; and that this conference will be held in the New Memorial Hall in South Edmonton.

Regia are being taken to try and make the program attractive and informative and it is hoped that there will be a large attendance by those interested in the future of Edmonton and district.

The Commission tentatively adopted recommendations from the steering committee recommending possible amendments to the regulations covering the milk general plan insofar as the A and B zone greenbelts are involved. These proposed amendments will be referred to the council of the member municipalities for their reaction and further information regarding the same will be given it and when it is finally adopted by the commission.

ALIX: 4-H GIRLS WIN RECOGNITION

ALIX—Five years of hard work culminated in coveted Blue Ribbons for Miss Barbara Foster and Miss Elaine Primus of ALIX. The girls won their firsts, the Dominion Trophy, at the Royal Winter Fair in Toronto, competing against garden club teams across Canada.

The girls won the right to enter the Royal Winter Fair and represent Alberta in Toronto when they came out on top of the provincial competition held at the Old Agriculture Building this summer.

For five years Barbara and Elaine have been busy with their club members and have outstanding records. During the winter months they completed projects in clothing, food and home decorating. Each summer the girls become active gardeners. The gained practical experience by planting and caring for a garden plot. The produce from the garden was carefully stored or frozen for display at the club's Achievement Day and for use during the winter.

A great deal of credit is due their leader, Mrs. E. Primus who was always on hand with help and encouragement.

ALIX and district groups extend to Barbara and Elaine a host of congratulations for their exceptional achievement.

FAT BOY DIET

Keep Calories Low If You're Reducing

While my "house-made" diet wouldn't work, the scientific diet furnished by my doctor certainly began to do the trick. And I'm pointing out to you some simple means that'll really knock off those unwanted pounds. Each move into the number of calories the man consumes.

YOUR WILL reduce you:

Breakfast:
Average size tomato juice
2 soft-boiled eggs
2 slices crisp bacon
1 slice may spread, butter, salty

Light coffee or tea

Pilins' too

Lunch:
Light soup, esp.
Normal blue plate of meat/fish
Two vegetables
Vinegar salad
1 slice any bread, butter, salty
Jelly dessert
Buttermilk
Black coffee

Not bad

Evening dinner:
1 thin soup
1 order moist meat, fish or beef (meat 3)
1 slice bread for
"wash stick"
If longer salad
2 fingers cheese, pie, ice cream

And you're gaunt! ...

SO YOU'LL LOSE this over first without reading the figures. I'll point out that it was more than the self-administered diet.

Yet this totals less than 1200!

Within the bounds of this diet, you stand to lose no less than a quarter of a pound a day!

Now just think upon the dieting I do over, you can up as much as 1000 calories a day and hold the weight!

And remember hold the Former Munson Resident Killed In Car Accident

MUNSON—News has been received here of the death on Nov. 5 in a car accident of Mrs. James Sanderson of Portland. Mrs. Sanderson was the former Olive Dair, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Dair, pioneer settlers in the district. Olive, as she was known to all, came here with her parents in 1910 and resided here for 10 years prior to her marriage, and held the position as one of the early (triple) operators in the village. She and her husband moved to Portland in 1925, where they have resided ever since.

Mr. Sanderson is survived by one brother, Bud, at White Rock, B.C., and two sisters, Mrs. Paul Armour and Mrs. Max Armstrong, both in Vancouver.

Funeral services were held on Nov. 8.

Coyotes Kill Pup In Barnyard

GIBBONS—Last Tuesday evening coyotes which seem much on the increase this year, braved the barn yard of Mr. W. J. Gibbons and killed his five month old pup.

The pup has endeavored himself by his activities for seeing danger and trying in his way to inform them and it was killed on the farm they had a pet-bear dog running up. Much to the disappointment of the owner, the mutilated body which had been exposed by the coyotes.

Many like these reports have been made in the past and later this fall and it seems all who can should recognize a coyote hunt or be on the watch for them.

HER GIFT

I have no gifts, she often said. Although she never tired of doing loving little things. For folks she most admired.

She cheered the sad and lonely. With friendship's kindly way. And many a burdened heart. She eased along its way.

She gladly gave her willing hands. And held her heart out, too. For nothing was too great or small For where she could do.

She always said, "I want't there When gifts were passed around." But evanescence of her kindness On every hand you found.

And up in Heaven she will find Her gift was given of being kind. BETTYE RAMSDELL

Progress in Fight Against Bacterial Ring Rot

One Alberta potato area freed from ring rot and promising progress in two of the remaining three is the story behind the ring rot survey report this fall.

Calgary was the area in which the inspectors failed to find a single ring rot infested field. W. Lohay, Supervisor of Crop Protection, Alberta Department of Agriculture, advised that this is the first time that any ring rot infested area in the province has been cleaned up since the survey and inspection service started some fifteen years ago.

In the Brooks district only five acres were freed with a trace of ring rot out of 1188 acres inspected, Mr. Lohay reports. If the improvement of the past few years continues, he says, the Brooks district may next year be the first major potato producing area in Alberta to be freed from the ring rot pest. Progress in the Edmonton area has been satisfactory, although not quite as striking as in the Brooks and Calgary districts.

Leithbridge is the only area this year in which the incidence of ring rot has not been reduced. Although there were fewer heavily infested fields than last year, more fields containing a slight trace of ring rot were found. This condition, says Mr. Lohay can be attributed to shortage of good seed last spring, which resulted in the planting of some inferior local and imported stocks. Potato growers, he says, should be aware that freest of the Alberta potato areas of ring rot will add to the export demand for Alberta stocks. That good quality potatoes can be produced in Alberta is a fact well known to the trade.

Eggs on

STORES, Conn.—If you want plenty of eggs from your hens, put a red light in the poultry house. Air raid regulations blacked out the brilliantly-lighted poultry houses along the New Jersey coast, according to R. C. Platt, Rutgers University poultry expert, and so farmers turned on dim red lights to let the hens see how to eat and drink. The red light had a secondary to have the hens lay on the nests. Egg production rose and along with, experiments have confirmed the red light's effect on hens.

A ladder should be installed, moment and occasion, and store are apt of them about.

EDMONTON, ALBERTA, WEDNESDAY, DEC. 31, 1952

ALBERTA AGRICULTURAL SOCIETIES COMPLETE MOST SUCCESSFUL YEAR

EDMONTON—The directors are pleased to report that your organization has just completed its most active year since reorganization five years ago. Your officers have been able to carry out all true wishes expressed at the 1951 meeting.

These were the opening words of President H. Miller of O.R.A. in calling to order the 44th annual meeting of the Alberta Agricultural Societies Association at the Commodore Hotel, Edmonton, Monday, December 15th.

Thirty-five official delegates, representing the 42 Alberta Agricultural Societies from Lethbridge to the Peace River were in for the meeting.

The meeting approved a formal constitution outlining Association objectives to assist member organizations carry out the work outlined for Agricultural Societies as defined in the Agricultural Societies Act. During the past year a central office has been established in Edmonton to co-ordinate the work, and to serve member Societies. Membership fees for 1952 were increased $5.00, across the board, to provide further funds for the expanding service. The 1952 fees will now be, for all Societies, $10.00 for those operating Class C Plans, $15.00 for those operating Class B Plans, and $20.00 for those operating Class A Plans.

Of the 42 active Societies six operate "B" Plans, nineteen "C" Plans, and 17 do not operate Plans.

All features of the 44th annual year in their respective communities. Six directors control the destinies of the organization, two representing the Societies in the area north of Edmonton; two from the central part of the province; and two from the southern part, below Red Deer.

The 1952 directors selected for the north: Walter Barrett, Wainwright, and E. S. Parsons, Master Farmer from Boyle's and president of the Athabasca Society; for the central region: Don Evans of Wainwright, and Clyde Stauffer of Exton, representing the Denbigh Society; and for the south: C. H. Parry of Lethbridge, and W. H. Miller, O.R.A.

Mr. Parry is president-elect for 1953, with Mr. Stauffer re-elected vice-president. MacDonald Holmes is secretary-treasurer, maintaining the central office of the Society at 105 C.P.R. Bldg., Edmonton, in conjunction with his work as Farm Service Director of Radio Station C.F.R.N.

Miller Denies

Box Car Shortage

EDMONTON—At a meeting of the Manitoba Associated Chambers of Commerce here, Transport Controller Roy Miller said that there is no shortage of railroad equipment to handle the record 1952-53 grain crop.

Record shipments of grain from Canadian ports were forecast.

In criticizing the reports of a "box car shortage," Mr. Miller said "the volume of grain moved will depend on the volume of sales, the capacity of terminals and the availability of shipping on the Great Lakes."

What we don't know is to what extent the load will be in this way, one ship.

MACDONALD HOLMES, R.R. (Agricultural Secretary-Treasurer, Alberta Agricultural Societies Association, with offices in the C.P.R. Building, Edmonton.

Better Safe

Than Sorry

Soil drifting is most severe in those falls which are open, mid, and remain almost snow-free into early winter. Also the erosion, for instance. Considerable wind erosion resulted from the severe wind storm experienced by the northern part of the province this fall, says G. H. Sterling, Supervisor of Soil Conservation and Weed Control for the Alberta Department of Agriculture. This was particularly true of summer-fallowed and which had been worked recently during the summer season and left completely devoid of cover. However, while some fields defied badly, others just across the fence remained undisturbed. The difference in such instances, Mr. Sterling notes, was usually a bare field compared to one protected by trash cover.

Fields not covered with snow dry out even though they are frozen. Strong winds readily move small particles of dry dust and soil. On trash covered fields these first-to-move particles are trapped and do not blow away. On bare over-worked fields the initial movement dislodges more and more particles. These in turn go to work in the manner of a sand blast with disastrous results when winds are strong and sustained.

In the spring the danger of unprotected summer-fallow drifts is increased by the drying effect of alternate freezing and thawing. Under these conditions trash cover is even more valuable than in the fall.

The amount of trash cover farmers have increased in the northern part of the province during the last two or three years, states Mr. Sterling. Those who have not adopted this valuable farming practice should do so otherwise their soil may drift both in the fall and spring of the year. It is wise to learn from the experience of others rather than learn the hard way from bitter personal experience.

Cold Showers Help You To Stay Slim

By ELMER WHEELER
Cold showers (eight) knock off more weight than hot showers or baths. Begin when you are cold the body calls for more heat. Inside you are mechanical cylinders that start your motor fast. We call it shivering. Or goose pimples, which are nature's way of bringing blood to the cold surface.

This article costs you calories that dissipate themselves trying to warm you up.

There are 1,000 calories in a pound.

If you're mechanically minded, with a good head for numbers, figure out how many goose pimples it takes to shiver off a pound.

Working muscles, the tension and drooping of fat bags harbor the most fat.

For needed exercise on the "cold street," try shivering in synchronization with your workday as you shiver it back and forth across the surface.

For reducing the tendency try talking to the bathroom and work each morning on all fronts. You'll never mean a four-legged animal with a bay window or have you?

B.C. Apology

COURTENAY, B.C. (UPI)—National CCF leader F. J. Coldwell has refused to meet Premier W. A. C. Bennett's demand for an apology for a reported statement that British Columbia's new government "stayed in racial prejudice."

Speaking here, Coldwell said he had no intention of apologizing to Premier Bennett or "anyone else" on his western speaking tour.

Coldwell then repeated his charges that the United Church movement has "dictatorial attributes, unbecomingly unbecomingly and through its leader, Robert Low, has displayed anti-Semitism and racial discrimination."

Coldwell said he could prove that Low had preached "racism and anti-Semitism."

He also attacked Alberta Premier E. C. Manning for statements that "parliamentary opposition had only a nuisance value."

Straw Mosaic Of Winter Wheat

Alberta members of the Canadian Phytopathological Society meeting recently in the Science Service Laboratories, Lethbridge, received a job when a destructive virus disease of wheat, now in this area, was reported by Dr. J. T. Blythe. Before coming to the staff of the Plant Pathology Laboratory here last June, Dr. Blythe had specialized in the winter diseases of cereals and grasses at Lethbridge. South of the head, the virus disease, straw mosaic, is in the growing winter wheat crop. The current long open fall has allowed this disease to become widespread, especially in early seedlings.

Early symptoms of straw mosaic on both winter and spring wheat consist of dark chlorotic streaks or dashes running parallel with the leaf veins. These lighter green markings may be seen distinctly even when held to the light. As the disease progresses a general yellowish mottling may appear and eventual death of the affected part follows. Diseased plants are stunted in varying degrees and complete or partial stunting of the head or poor filling of the kernels result.

New straw mosaic is spread is not known. Its pattern of spread, however, is similar to that of some virus diseases of other crops which have been shown to be carried by insects.

Until more is known about this disease it is recommended that winter wheat plants, spring as well as winter types, be eliminated from areas to be sown. This removes possible sources from which the disease may be spread. Thus, new seedlings should not be made alongside an infected growing strip.

To further avoid chances of infection, winter wheat should be sown as late as it is practical to do so; and spring wheat as early as possible. These practices have proven effective since they allow the crop to get started at a time when insect populations that may act as virus carriers, are low.

It is believed that straw mosaic may not be new to the southern Alberta winter wheat zone. Winter wheat has had an up-and-down history here, and farmers have gone out of it on a wholesale scale on former occasions. Going out of winter wheat has been blamed on the build-up of root-rot where this crop is grown too many years in a row. To the average person the result from straw mosaic on the maturing wheat plant is similar to that caused by the root-rot. That straw mosaic may have been overlooked is therefore not surprising.

Seeding Forages On Grey Wooded Soils

OTTAWA — Experimenters on grey wooded soil sub-stations at 3000 ft. in the Alberta hills have shown that good catches of forage seed can be obtained on these soils by working the land early in the spring and then delaying seeding until after a good rain. Says A. N. Lamont of the Northern Experimental Station, "Seeding at this time not only ensures moisture conditions suitable for the rapid germination of the seed but the firm, firm, frost-baked and perilsous chert seedling, an essential in securing small forage crops."

Deep seedlings may be made after a rain without further rainfall but should a hard frost come the land should be harrowed prior to seedling. Under no circumstances should this operation be deep enough to freeze the seed bed.

Tests have shown that best results are obtained when small forage seeds are not sown deeper than 1 1/2 in. and the soil is left.

packed immediately after seedling under field conditions, good results can be obtained by making sure that the seed-bed is firm. The pressure springs on the drill should be released when seedling. Harrowing or packing after the drill is advisable if a packer is used, care must be taken to avoid excessive pulverization of the soil which would increase the danger of heaving.

Mrs. Wise Makes Fondant

When Mrs. Wise was a little girl, candies were a real treat in her home. It seems now that the "violation of sugar plums" have passed away for many children. Unfortunately candy making has become a daily habit instead of the occasional treat. Mrs. Wise is aware of the dangers of too much candy eating, and her children have not developed the candy habit. One of the benefits they have reaped from this is a real enjoyment of the Christmas season.

No candies are as rare as home-made candies, says Miss R. J. Lewis, Nutrition Specialist with the Women's Extension Service, Alberta Department of Agriculture. Her friend Mrs. Wise always makes her own. She and her children have a lot of fun together preparing these Christmas delicacies for gift packages as well as for themselves. With a smooth, creamy fondant as a base—and lots of imagination to work on it—what a variety they have!—stuffed dates, figs, prunes, cherries and raisins, fruit or not necessary; nuts, honey, vanilla, coconut, etc. of all kinds with a candy coating.

Mrs. Wise has learned the secret of handling fondant. The plasticity is not moved, while the fondant cools, so this may change the rendition of the candy. When the cooling syrup is lukewarm Mrs. Wise tests it by holding her hand underneath the plaster. It is time to begin to work the mixture. Using a spatula she works forward and backward toward the centre. Soon the mixture changes to a creamy white mass which she can take up in her hands. After about five minutes the fondant is becoming soft, smooth and velvety in texture. Then it is placed in a covered jar or crock to ripen. Fondant should be allowed to ripen at least a day or two before using. It will keep in good condition for several weeks.

FAT BOY'S DIET

Shouldn't Tempt Will Power Of Dieting Mate

By ELMER WHEELER

Now it's time to give some advice to the wives of husbands who are trying to shake off a few pounds with this diet.

If the wife isn't dieting, it's a good idea not to eat your streak in front of him while he's dieting with less food than usual.

SERVING FatBoy "special diet dishes," while you sit back and gloat down split pea soup, mashed potatoes and gravy with side orders of pork chops, won't do him as much good.

If you must eat that way, do it as soon as he isn't around. Do your eating up to supper-time, then slow down and eat what Fate calls.

Resists temptation from the peer group.

Trim the fat for him in the kitchen, so he won't slide down a burlap when you aren't looking.

Help him keep from "calorie-chasing" himself.

LET FATSO check, of course, that he is really doing the picking and the choosing, but you do this for him back in the mysterious corners of the kitchen.

Snack your own sweet tidbits in the afternoon when the girls are around gossiping, but keep them hidden from the old man.

Don't be a martyr, either. If you let him think it is tough on you, if you are around saying, "This is certainly no picnic for me—but for your sake, Aloysius, I'll stick with you," he'll say, "Ah, nuts!" and go down in the corner.

By adding 1,000 a day you gain by taking off 1,000 you lose. Four pounds to go!

SON, GEORGE THE DEAN SAYS

Federal Geological Surveys Made Oil Discovery Possible in Alberta

OTTAWA — Mines Minister Prudham says the Social Credit government in Alberta is claiming credit for oil developments when it knows the discoveries would not have been possible without the aid of federal surveys and geological maps.

Mr. Prudham, member for Edmonton West, spoke in the common Thursday night. He devoted his 45-minute speech to criticism of the Social Credit government of his province, and of Solon Low, leader of the Social Credit party.

He derided Mr. Low as the "mumbo-jumbo" of Ottawa who represents the "Poor River" district of Alberta. Mr. Low makes his home in Dallas.

The federal geological branch, said Mr. Prudham, made surveys of all and natural gas areas of Alberta long before the turn of the century. The industry still looks to the federal geological branch for much information.

The federal government still is attempting to find a way to develop the tar sands of northern Alberta, estimated to hold some 500,000 barrels of oil.

The solution would be found only through co-operation of federal and provincial governments and private enterprise.

The Alberta government, he said, has done little to help the coal industry although it has received millions in royalties. The federal government has paid royalties to the industry and has loaned $700,000 to a coal company.

Mr. Prudham said Mr. Low had said that Alberta has the best coal reserves in the world. The federal government has loaned $700,000 to a coal company.

Ranch-Raised Mink Best Value Of Fur Production

Now fur production in Alberta for 1961-62 totalled $1,492,375. This includes both ranch-raised animals and wild animals which were trapped.

In the year ending June 30 there were 1,665,477 wild animals trapped in Alberta, valued at $1,785,148. Ranch-raised animals, during the year ending August 31, yielded 182,252 pelts, their value being $2,786,537.

The high value of ranch fur production was due mainly to the 112,478 ranch-raised standard mink. They were valued at $1,808,569, while 24,125 mutation minks had a value of $166,850. Wild standard mink trapped totalled 1,088 and were valued at $79,317.

Muskrats and muskrats brought highest returns for the trapper. Muskrats totalled 1,488,268 and were valued at $716,365, while 554,569 muskrats brought $659,407. Ermine, or ermine, numbered 82,283 for a value of $162,621 and beavers, valued at $145,266, totalled 12,382 trapped.

Five fox were few in number and low in value. A single blue fox was trapped in value being only $6.54, and four ranch-raised blue fox averaged $16 each.

MARLER REAPPOINTED AFA PRESIDENT AT ANNUAL CONVENTION

EDMONTON — At their three-day convention in Edmonton, AFA delegates returned Roy C. Marler of Bremner as their president. L. E. Pharis of Macgrath was named to the first vice-presidency, and K. V. Kapler of Strome was second vice-president, with James McFall again named secretary-treasurer.

Ninety delegates attended the convention which saw several sweeping resolutions passed and heard as guest speaker, Hon. J. G. Gardiner, the Federal Minister of Agriculture.

Among the resolutions approved was one urging federal and provincial governments to pass legislation which would provide the final settlement of disputes between employers by a properly constituted board of arbitration.

Delegates to the convention also asked for a provincial-federal contributory health insurance plan, full medical, hospital, dental optical and other health care.

The Alberta government was asked to introduce a car insurance plan in the province and make an immediate start on a provincially owned and controlled rural electrification system. The AFA wanted car, theft, and fire insurance coverage to be provided at cost on an optional basis through the Alberta insurance office.

The convention urged that a plebiscite be taken to determine if establishment of an egg marketing board on an experimental basis is wanted by the majority of poultry raisers and farmers in Alberta, and the provincial government was asked to establish a board to enquire into the "whole question of vegetable oils invading the dairy fields of Alberta, and to the effects of this invasion on urban and rural economy, and on the health of Albertans."

The board of directors was re-elected. Members are: Roy Marler of Bremner, president of the AFA; the FFA president, Henry Young of Millet; Phil Baker of Lethbridge; L. E. Pharis of Macgrath; K. V. Kapler of Strome; Mrs. W. C. Taylor of Wainwright, president of the Farm Women's Union of Alberta; L. R. Jensen; Hugh Allen of Hinton; Ben Plummer of Haines; and John Frey of Armon.

Tabled also by the Federation was a report on the proposed merger with the FFA. Delegates voted to continue efforts to "institute closer co-operation" between the two farm groups.

A Penny Saved

"It's a Much Greener Earth," McFall has about 100,000 old tin pennies in a keg in his store. He doesn't like them, however. He's keeping them out of circulation because people confuse them with dimes. When the keg is full he'll dump 'em on a bank.

You may have any number of good reasons for not doing anything but nobody is interested in any of them.

FAT BOYS' DIET

Finds 2 Months Of Reducing Real Success

By ELMER WHEELER

In just over two months, I lost 34 pounds, dropping my weight from 240 to 186 pounds on a diet of 1,500 calories per day.

With some sound medical advice and some good literature, I was able to reduce in this reducing business. Maybe you've done the same by following this Fat Boy diet every week.

First, I found that I wasn't eating what I thought I was eating. I made a list of the calorie content of different foods, and as I ate in my Fat Boy Calorie Chart which I've sent to you readers free on request.

I found out that you could still eat a lot, and yet if you ate food low in calorie content, you couldn't help but lose weight.

So I set myself on my 1,500 calorie a day diet. And you know of my housewife and female office workers should eat less than that—no less, 1,200 calories a day.

Anyway, I set myself on a diet to lose a three-day, 4,500 calorie a day. By doing that, if I ate too much one day at a party or something, I could eat the next day and still stay within my calorie limit.

I learned that a lot of exercise really won't help much in reducing. Trouble is, you go out and get a lot of exercise in hopes of losing weight, and you run up so many calories you can't lose any weight by exercising.

One thing I learned was that if you can lose weight, and keep it off, you're a success. You're not likely to turn into a Fat Boy again.

I LIKE my "new look." I look like I fit in again, in current fashion, like the Artie boys look in the ads, and that long-legged fellow in the Hart Schaffner ads smiles at me again.

He he! I'm a prospect once more for clothes. Ties hang by three sets to every one. Hats, shoes, the whole lot, you see, it seems like more you like to strut around in fine fashions!

It's good to be a Thin Guy, all right. It's good to be in 186 pounds.

Father and Son Saved From Death

GIBBONS—Mr. Pete Lucasta and his son, Albert, had a narrow escape from death by asphyxiation recently. Working in the closed garage while waiting for the car to warm up, the two men were overcome by Pete's daughter in a semi-conscious condition and rushed to hospital. Two minutes later in the closed garage they have passed away.

The seat will come up with me. NOR DO my friends worry when I sit down at the tables for they haven't enough food to fill up Old Hollow Leg—or that I'll eat of their antique chairs.

Like the clamor of my "new look."

I can wear double-breasted suits again. With plenty of white shirt and tie. We more plain dark colors to hide my shape.

I can wear belts again. No need for suspenders any more. I'm back in the belt tie business—they don't get lost under my double chin any more—and I can go swimming once more and not feel ashamed and hide behind a towel.

I'm happy with my new look.

THE 1953 PONTIAC brings Canadians a completely new line of automobiles with 29 body styles in five series. New styling inside and out, new colors, improved riding qualities, greater vision and roomier interiors are among the highlights. Available are eight and six cylinder engines, the latter with substantially increased power. Options such as Powerglide or Hydra-Matic automatic transmission, depending on the series; Power steering; and the Automatic Eye, an automatic headlight dimmer, are available at extra cost. Shown here is the Custom Catalina.

NEW PONTIAC SHOW MANY IMPROVEMENTS

The 1953 Pontiacs—a completely new line of automobiles—were introduced to Canadian motorists recently by General Motors Products of Canada Ltd. Twenty-nine body styles in five series with important improvements incorporated in body design, styling and color, riding qualities, ease of steering and greatly increased all-round vision are offered throughout the 1953 Pontiac range.

This year, Power Steering is offered as an option at extra cost on Pontiac models equipped with automatic transmissions. Available, too, is a choice of eight- or six-cylinder engines, the latter with substantially increased power. Again this year, two automatic transmissions are offered: an improved Powerglide or dual-range Hydra-Matic Drive, depending on the series as an option at extra cost.

Three of the series Pathfinder, Pathfinder Deluxe and Laurentian are mounted on 135-inch wheelbase and offer collectively three four-door sedans, three two-door sedans, 180 club coupes, two sport coupes, and a business coupe. As an aid to easier parking, there is approximately two inches less over-all length than formerly in these three series through less front and rear overhang—a result of the new position of bumper guards and bumpers.

The Chiefair Special and Chiefair Deluxe series have been lengthened to 123-inch wheelbase and offer collectively three four-cylinder engines with all models available in the Chiefair Special. Available in the Chiefair Special are a four-door sedan, a six passenger station wagon and an 8 passenger station wagon. Chiefair Deluxe includes a two-door sedan, a four-door sedan, Deluxe Catalina, Custom Catalina, convertible and a station wagon.

Features of the new bodies which are immediately distinctive include a two-piece curved windshield, roomier interiors, high rear deck contour, greater trunk space, new rear fender design, completely revised styling of steel body and new luxurious interior design.

Series, and both Chiefair and Laurentian carry large, one-piece wrap-around rear windows on all closed models, while the width of the rear window in the Pathfinder series and the Pathfinder Deluxe club coupe has been increased by approximately four inches. The Automatic Eye, GM's famed automatic headlight dimmer, is offered on all 1953 Pontiac Series as an option at extra cost.

A new front and suspension system designed for easier steering and steadier ride, is offered on both Chiefair Series. In addition to leveling out the roughest roads, Pontiac's new front and suspension greatly improves steering and handling on curves and corners—a feature to be appreciated by those who do considerable driving in cities or over winding roads. Their springing on the new Pontiacs has also been improved.

In the new Pontiacs, there are many other appearance changes which begin at the front bumper and extend the length of the car. The new bumper styling gives an impression of massive strength. There is a completely re-designed more massive radiator grille the elements of which carry out the styling theme of the car.

In this assembly the traditional Pontiac Indian head medallion is held midway between the symmetrical centre grille blades on a chrome bridge. These grille blades encircle the parking lamps which have also been re-designed. The headlamps are encased in more durable chrome doors and are mounted on an improved flange which imparts richness and size to the front end.

Pontiac's power steering, available at extra cost on models with automatic transmission, is also a feature of the new line.

Mrs. Mrs. V. Schmalitz Honored On 25th Wedding

HEISEKER—Relative and friends gathered in the Memorial Hall on Sunday evening, Jan. 4, to honor Mr. and Mrs. Val Schmalitz, the occasion being their 25th wedding anniversary. A pleasant evening was spent playing court whist. Following card a very delightful lunch was served. After lunch Mrs. L. Brunstau rendered the solo "A Wedding Prayer."

Mr. Tony Vetter, acting as master of ceremonies, called upon Mrs. A. Wald to make a speech on behalf of the Catholic Women's League. Mrs. Wald in her speech related many little incidents happening to Mr. Schmalitz in his younger days before his marriage to Mrs. Schmalitz.

Rev. Father Tennant, in congratulating them on their 25 years of married life, said, although one of the family was missing on this occasion—meaning Vera—she was with them spiritually and will have her blessing.

Later, on behalf of those present, Mr. Vetter presented the couple with a festive lamp. Mr. Schmalitz, on behalf of his wife thanked everyone for the part they had taken in making the celebration so enjoyable.

Out-of-town guests arriving for the occasion, were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Heck and family; Mr. and Mrs. Wendland and family, all of Montana; Mrs. Wendland and Mr. Heck are sister and brother to Mrs. Schmalitz; Mr. and Mrs. Feldman and family of Edmonton also sister and brother-in-law. Mr. and Mrs. Mike Schmalitz of Calgary, Mr. and Mrs. Tony Vetter and family of Rockyfield.

To close the evening several beautiful colored slides were shown of Vera at the Place in Chatham, Ont.

Records show that 14 and 15 are the dangerous ages for delinquency; more than half the boys and over two-thirds of the girls found delinquent by Canadian courts in 1949 were of these ages.

Hydraulically as a booster mechanism and goes into operation at the turn of the steering wheel when the car engine is running. It has the advantage of making steering practically effortless in cornering at low speeds, parking, and singular situation where considerable effort is required normally. Furthermore, resistance to road shock is an inherent feature of the hydraulic control.

Greater driving control results from the fact that occasional severe road shock is absorbed in the hydraulic gear. Driving "feet" is retained by resistive built into the system, and practically effortless steering is had with positive control under all driving conditions. In negotiating turns or curves at other than low speed, release of the steering wheel permits the front wheels to return to normal center position without driver effort.

For 1953, the six-cylinder engine has been made more powerful. This engine, teamed with synchromesh transmission, has been stepped up to 115 horsepower at 3600 R.P.M., with a new compression ratio of 7.6 to 1. When used with automatic transmission, the horsepower is increased to 118 at 3600.

R.P.M. and has a compression ratio of 7.7 to 1. This increase has been accomplished by the use of duplex carburation with new intake manifold, new rambofan, more compact combustion chambers, and other detailed changes.

Another very definite improvement immediately apparent to the driver is the use of ignition key starting, which makes starting the car a simple, one-hand operation. When the ignition key is inserted, a clockwise turn of the lock cylinder activates the starter switch, at the same time completing the ignition circuit. After the engine has started the operator need only release the key and a spring automatically returns the lock cylinder to the ignition "on" position.

Improved front door hinges comprise an entirely new design which add approximately 2 1/2 lbs. to the useable door opening. With this hinging arrangement the forward edge of the door swings out from, rather than into, the front fender.

This type of door hinge permits one of compression type weather stripping around the complete perimeters of the opening, giving a more positive sealing since the door edge closes directly over the weather stripping.

If There's Smoke, There's Trouble

ST. JOSEPH, MO. (By Florence Clarence Filson) There didn't seem to be a fire but he couldn't locate the cause. If he waited long enough to find it he would be late in work and lose a day's pay.

The St. Joseph residence was filled with smoke at 6:15 a.m. A search of the house failed to reveal the cause. Fifteen minutes before a call to report fire work at 7, St. Joseph was on an alarm and had 60 duty three companies were sent to the St. Joseph home, where the fire men found a blaze in a wall caused by a defective fireplace.

Community Saddened By Minister's Death

CORONADO The community was shocked to hear of the death of Mr. Lawrence Moore, M.D., who had been serving this district, Gibbons and Redwater as United Church minister since early spring until he took ill in the fall.

Having undergone a serious operation about a month ago, reports were that he was recovering favorably. Mr. Moore was in his last year in University.

You may have any number of good reasons for not doing something, but nobody is interested in any of them.

Once standard equipment in a custom mill, the old style mule has long since gone by the board.

Dominion Textile's manufacturing equipment is kept among the most modern in the world. Machinery bought by our 7,239 shareholders (94.7 of them Canadians) helps us to turn out top quality goods and provide jobs for the 12,500 Canadians working in our plants.

But equipment improvements, such as replacing the mule, aren't everything. We have our troubles trying to compete with the producers of other countries which pay lower wages. In Japan and India, for instance, wages run about 15 cents an hour, while we pay well over a dollar an hour.

Alberta Plant To Make 'Wonder' Plastic

A $12,000,000 plant near Edmonton will soon be turning out a wonder plastic which has found uses in everything from unbreakable drinking glasses to insulation for submarine cables.

The product is called polyethylene, and it is made from natural gas which is produced in Alberta.

The plant is being built by the Canadian Industries Limited, a company which is a subsidiary of the Canadian National Industries Limited. The plant is being built in the town of Strathmore, Alberta, about 10 miles from Edmonton.

TRANS-ALBERTA CABLE

Trans-Alberta cable is under construction and will be completed by the end of the year. The cable will be used for the transmission of television and radio signals.

The cable will be made of a special material which is called polyethylene. This material is made from natural gas which is produced in Alberta.

BIU EXPERIENCES

Polyethylene was first used in 1933 and it has since been used in many different ways. It is used in the production of plastic bottles, pipes, and other products.

Tuition

I held out goodwill to give. What life could offer me. And they returned at evening. As empty as could be.

My eyes were dimmed by other's gaze.

My own I couldn't see; I'd lost it all in life's play. In sudden clarity.

I held out willing hands to give, And didn't think of gain; And life bestowed his gifts on me, Again and yet again.

More than 100 men were employed in Canada as cooks at the time of the 1963 census.

THE HIGHEST PRESSURES known to be used in any commercial process in the world will be employed in this plant, now rising in the municipality of Strathmore, Alta., on the outskirts of Edmonton, to make the most versatile plastic yet discovered: polythene. A 20-mile pipeline from the Leduc oilfields will bring natural gas at a daily rate of 10,000,000 cubic feet to the plant. Ethane will be extracted, converted to ethylene and subsequently used in a series of processes to make polythene. The plant will go into operation late this year.

"... the willingness to find a way"

'A man who started a new business a few years ago recently wrote to pay tribute to the bank's part in helping to make it a success:

"We were fortunate in having, as our banker, a man who could combine with experience the willingness to find a way that called not for experience alone but for imagination as well."

The chartered banks are forever alert to the fresh problems, the changing needs of their customers. At all times, in all your banking problems, you can depend on your local bank to bring experience and imagination to the task of helping you to "find a way".

PUBLIC CO-OPERATION NEEDED FOR EFFECTIVE CIVIL DEFENCE

By D. A. PETRIE, Deputy Controller

EDMONTON — Recently an exercise, simulating the results from the explosion of a normal atomic bomb, was carried out. Carefully, the number of casualties, dead, and homeless were calculated, and the tremendous problem of restoration laid before a large number of persons interested in Civil Defence.

The enormity of the problem, brought out clearly the great number of Civil Defence activities to carry out this task. It was also clearly demonstrated that a vast number of highly trained personnel would be required. Much more in fact than there are at present in the city.

To understand this apparent lack of men on the day of the city. The city is approximately 100 miles from north to south, and 50 miles from east to west, an area of approximately 10 square miles. The river cuts the city into two unequal parts. The southern portion being the larger.

The northern portion of the city is divided, for the purpose of Civil Defence, into three sub-divisions. Sub-division A runs from the city's east boundary to 121st Street. Sub-division B from 121st Street to 97th Street, and Sub-division C from 97th Street to the east boundary of the city.

South of the river there are two sub-divisions, Sub-division D from the west boundary to 104th Street, and Sub-division E from 104th Street to the East River. These Sub-divisions have been selected along geographical lines and were made to facilitate control of the river. Thus, if Sub-division B were damaged help could come from Sub-division A or C. The Sub-divisions D and E on the south side of the river could likewise support each other.

A point was chosen as the bomb-fall for this hypothetical atom bomb. The elevated area 1 mile in diameter from this location would include many of our technical services and thus provide the greatest number of problems. The power plant, communication—road, rail, telephone, telegraph, telepost, would all be seriously affected. Large buildings housing important services would be destroyed—food, clothing, gas, oil, machinery, trucks, cars, building supplies, personal belongings, supplies, the wholesale needs, lie in this area. The natural gas supply would be seriously effected. There would be no water supply. People would be killed, trapped in falling buildings and wounded.

Outside of this devastated area would be a ring of sub-divisions, 1 mile deep and approximately 5 miles in circumference, containing trapped, wounded and dead. Beyond this area of destruction would be shattered homes suffering varying degrees of damage, but without gas in power, and the houses with doors and roofs strained and damaged by the blast. The inhabitants, however, would be mostly unharmed but suffering from the shock. It would be from this area that help for the helples would be drawn. Let us stop the picture and survey the situation.

There would be thousands of people killed and about twice as many injured; more than half of the injured would require hospitalization and the remainder would run to fantastic numbers.

All utilities, food supplies, and fuel, would be cut off. If we had no pre-planning and no Civil Defence organization we could not find out what had happened, nor what to do.

It would have no organization to do it. But you cannot say "Let there be a Civil Defence," and have it do so. We say this, consequently there can be no Civil Defence Organization without YOU. You are a part of the Civil Defence machine and the operation of that machine depends on your knowledge, training and co-operation. You cannot ask anyone else to save you, security, your neighbor depends on you and you will have to depend on your neighbor. Are you satisfied with your knowledge and training? Are you satisfied with your own? Will you, like Robert Burns' mouse, survey your "Wee bit house now in ruin" and say "with naething new to build a new one"? Run away? Where? Of course this is the proper procedure for a mouse, but not for a man. You are here to do something better.

Now we have the nucleus of a Civil Defence organization. We have a nucleus of your neighbor. All the heads of our city services have discussed such a situation as I have outlined, but by this time you must realize the enormity of the task. It is not only far beyond the powers of the civil services which struggle to maintain our growing city in these expanding times; this restoration will require help from outside the city—five brigades from Red Deer, Fort Saskatchewan, all the towns around, and most of all help from YOU. But we won't have time to tell you what to do when the bomb has dropped, but we can tell you now. Do you want to learn? Here you go. Well, get in touch with your Civil Defence Training Headquarters, phone 42818, and if you can't get on the phone, come and see us. We're here waiting and working too. Don't think we don't do a day. We do. In fact, your neighbor, your family, your Civil Defence organization needs YOU.

Collectors Help Buy Valuable Stamp Book

Estimated to be the most valuable volume in the book "The History of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police" has been purchased jointly by the Calgary Stamp Collectors Club and the Foothills Stamp Club at a cost of $15.

The book, which will be on display with the next day or two at the library, contains a reproduction of some 100 of a million stamps in the royal collection which was founded by King George V and continued by King George VI.

An historical survey of international law, it is a signed for collectors of stamps, philatelia, libraries and educational institutions. It was also donated to illustrate the last in the printing.

In the masterly work, written by Sir John Wilson (B. A.), of the University of Birmingham, there are reproductions of most valuable stamps in the British Empire, including the Canadian 12-cent stamp issued in June 1952.

The first indication that the members of the Royal family were starting collections came in 1840, when the Government printer of the time collected the first stamp series in the world. The book had been issued in 1952.

When he was Prince of Wales, King George V began to collect stamps, envelopes and post cards. He collected the stamps and decided to specialize in stamps of the British Empire and Protectorate.

After his death his son King George VI carried on the collection. He approved the plan for the book about six years ago and also approved final proof, just before his death.

Scriptural Meditations

By Gladys Hild

"Christ, when contending with Satan about the body of Moses, 'durst not bring against him a railing accusation.' Jude 9. Had He done this, He would have placed Himself on Satan's ground; but accusation is the weapon of the evil one. He is called in Scripture, 'the accuser of our brethren.' Revelation 12: 10. Jesus would not comply with Satan's weapon. He met him with the words, 'The Lord rebuke thee.' Jude 9.

"His example is for us. When we are brought into conflict with the enemies of Christ, we should say nothing in a spirit of retaliation, or that would bring even the appearance of a railing accusation. He who stands as a mouthpiece for God should not utter words which even the Majesty of Heaven would not see when contending with Satan. We are in league with God the work of judging and condemning." — "Thoughts from the Mount of Blessing."

The agreement was made for a year provided that the Pulp and Paper Mills Ltd. had a deposit of $100,000 in the bank.

The original agreement which dealt with timber-cutting rights, was made Jan. 10, 1952, and the first payment of a cash deposit of $100,000 was required.

'Dud' Bomb Kills 4, Injures 3 at Sarcee

Three soldiers were killed and four injured when a bomb exploded accidentally at the army shooting range near Currie barracks Monday afternoon. All casualties were recruits of the 206 Battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry.

All names were withheld until next-of-kin have been notified, in accordance with army procedures, but it was understood all seven soldiers were from eastern Canada.

DURING LUNCH

Army authorities said the explosion occurred during the lunch hour break when one of the dead soldiers was investigating what he thought was a dud.

The men had just finished their picnic meal on the range when the accident occurred.

An army spokesman said the recruits had already been severely warned not to touch ammunition or explosives which had been suspected as duds.

The bomb, known as a bazooka or rocket launcher bomb, exploded before the effect-in-charge or NCO noticed the small, green, examining it.

The casualties, all young soldiers undergoing primary military training at Currie Barracks, had been among a party engaged in weapons training at the range. Located on the Sarcee Indian reserve, the range is several miles from the barracks.

The wounded were taken to the Red Cross hospital in Calgary, where the condition of one was serious.

A court of inquiry, said Capt. C. Pine has already been ordered to investigate the accident.

OTTAWA (UPI) — The nation's top jet fighter pilot said here the planes he had to fly to become the only Canadian to win the Distinguished Flying Cross in peacetime were weighted down by too many safety devices.

"We can cut some out and lighten the plane," he said, emphasizing that it was "my personal opinion."

Predicts Lower Cattle Prices

American cattle prices will drop 20 per cent in the next four years, says Wayne Darrow, president of Farm Reports International of Washington, D.C. He says that the prices, he says, will result from the highest cattle production level in the country's history. Last year's production, combined with this year's drought, have helped 1952 prices well below the anticipated level. He doubts if the removal of the American embargo on Canadian cattle next March will have much effect on prices, for since the volume to hit the American market would be small in relation to the total livestock production there.

U.S. Wheat Situation

Cereals are being expressed in the United States over the large volume of grain. Some 400 million bushels of wheat are going into the government grain. If the price does not rise by spring, farmers will liquidate their wheat into the government on wheat loans, simply by turning in their grain to the Commodity Credit Corporation.

The U.S. wheat crop from 1951 was 275 million bushels and the crop 1,300 million bushels. Exports of the current crop may reach 350 million bushels. The carryover next July may be as high as 560 million bushels. The government's wheat policy is one of the government's major policy claim is that maintaining the farm price of wheat at an average of $2.20 a bushel, encourages the farmer to grow in wheat production, which may lead to bumper crops.

Survey Of Churchgoers

We're certain if any up-to-date statistics are available on how many Canadians go to church and how often, many an interesting set of figures has come to us from mouth of the laity.

The first nationwide survey of religious beliefs and practices ever conducted in the United States was recently completed and showed that only 25,000,000 Americans go to church every week. An equal number, 25,000,000 never go to church. A slightly larger number, 30,000,000 go to church once in a while.

The survey showed that although only one-third of the population goes to church regularly, ninety per cent believe in God. It is interesting to note that of the 25,000,000 Americans who never go to church, many nevertheless identify themselves as either Protestants, Catholics, or members of various denominations.

The survey indicates the attitude of many Americans toward the church is a casual one. Nevertheless, the fact that ninety per cent of the population believe in God is a strong indication that the United States is a bulwark of Christianity.

Even so, it is a bit surprising that many Americans never go to church and this fact is a challenge to all churches.

Probably the figures are no better for Canada and it is true that two out of three Canadians never go to church or attend only on special occasions. It presents a challenge and an opportunity to the pastor of every Christian Church in our great country.

Form Price Index Down

Form prices hit a 4-year low in October, the bureau of statistics reports. Livestock and poultry prices fell to force the farm price index down to 24.5 from 26.7 in September, and 30.1 in August, 1951.

The index, based on 1933-35 prices equaling 100, was lowest since April, 1948.

CANADA TO GET EXTRA 35 CENTS ON WHEAT TO UNITED KINGDOM

OTTAWA.—During the coming year, Canada is to receive an increase of roughly 35 cents a bushel on a portion of her 115,000,000-bushel wheat sales to Great Britain this year. This healthy boost in price will mean several millions of dollars, and results from Britain's food shortage, rigidities of the International Wheat Agreement, and prospects for a bigger wheat crop in Australia.

Most of the 115,000,000 bushels will be sold under the I.W.A. price of $1.50 (Canadian) a bushel which includes carrying charges. The undivided balance will be at the non-I.W.A. or "Class II" price of $2.15 a bushel.

Under the I.W.A., 43 importing countries agree to buy and four exporters agree to sell a fixed quantity. Britain agreed to buy 177,000,000 bushels from the exporters during the current crop year. Australia, as one of the exporters agreed to export $2,500,000 bushels. Because of the outlook for her crop was discouraging it was thought at first she would be unable to meet this quota.

As a result Britain decided to concentrate more of her purchases to Canada. Now the estimate for Australia's crop has been lifted by about 18,000,000 bushels to 179,000,000 bushels.

That means she will have more wheat to meet her export quota. Britain needs more wheat.

To take advantage of the extra wheat available in Australia, she decided to reduce her I.W.A. commitments in Canada. To make up for the reduction she agreed to take an equivalent amount of Class II Canadian wheat.

Mr. B. L. Larnell, said the wheat involved in the switch is small, and while he gave no figures, it appeared likely that it was within the range of Australian crop increases.

Ottawa Expands Dog Rabies Ban

OTTAWA (RUP).—The Agriculture Department has extended its ban against the transfer of dogs into new areas of Western Canada in an effort to halt the spread of rabies from wild animals of the sub-Arctic.

The department extended the quarantine into northern British Columbia and Manitoba, as far south as Prince Rupert, Edmonton and Fort McMurray.

The new order bans a previous order which banned unnecessary movement of dogs in areas of Northern Alberta and Saskatchewan.

Under the quarantine, dogs may not be moved out of the area without permission of an inspector and all dogs, including sled dogs, must be tied up or controlled.

The new quarantine line includes the Yukon district and the District of Mackenzie, all of British Columbia north of the 53rd parallel; all of Alberta north of Township 40; all of Saskatchewan and Manitoba north of the 50th parallel.

The line cuts across Alberta 25 miles south of Edmonton to Lloydminster.

Britain To Buy Small Order Of Pork From Canada

OTTAWA. Britain has decided to buy about one million dollars' worth of Canadian hams from Canada. The purchase, however, will be only a tiny fraction of the huge surplus of pork products built up in Canada as a result of the hog-and-mouth disease and the I.W.A. embargo.

Officials estimated Britain would get between four and a half million and seven million pounds of hams, compared with the Canadian surplus of some 100 million pounds.

Previously it was announced that Great Britain would buy one and a half million dollars worth of hams.

Money for both deals was provided through Canadian payment to Britain for freight and handling charges arising out of the Canadian I.W.A. New Zealand meat deal under which Canada disposed of $5,000,000 pounds of surplus meat in Britain.

5,000 Farms in Alberta Clear $10,000 in Year

EDMONTON.—(RUP).—The Alberta department of agriculture reported Wednesday there are 54,215 farms in the province, but only 5,000 have an annual production of more than $10,000.

Having its report on a 1934 census and value of products in 1930, the department said 1,251 of the farms in the province have a production of more than $25,000 in a year.

Most of the farms, 21,117 of them, are the average of a living from value of products sold ranging from $1,200 to $2,499 a year. There are 15,541 farms in the next higher ranking bracket, with output valued at between $2,500 and $3,749 annually.

On the money side, there are 12,964 farms where value of products sold ranged from $250 to $1,199 a year, and there are 8,141 farms in the province with value of production less than $250 yearly.

The department also reported 4,118 part-time farms and 99 isolated farms in Alberta.

Coast, Kary Natchell To Ride At Carmichael

TRAIL, B.C.—Constable Stanley Kary of the Trail Royal Canadian Mounted Police, Edmonton, has been invited to attend the coronation ceremonies of Queen Elizabeth II at London in June.

Const. Kary is well fitted for the honor having had experience in the beautiful and world famous "masculine ride" of the mounted police. He is the only member of the famed police force, he is the only member of the United States and appeared in Toronto during the coronation of King George VI in 1927, and in all, including a show at Madison Square Gardens in New York.

Participants for the mounted ride are selected mainly for their riding ability but also characteristics such as height, weight and build, to keep a proper uniformity. Const. Kary, who is 54 years old, will be competing for Rockcliffe, Ontario, Thursday. There he will attend a special training course group. Kary will be stationed there from three to four months.

He left his hometown, Delta, Alta., in March 1941, to join the force. After a period of training in Rockcliffe and Regina, Const. Kary was stationed in southern Saskatchewan. He was transferred to B.C. a year and a half ago and has since been stationed in Nelson, British Columbia, and in Grand Forks, B.C. in April he came to Trail.

He was sent to Trail for a short time in the spring of 1939 where he helped restrain riotous demonstrators and a year later he was in Winnipeg for a few weeks when the Red River war on its disastrous rampage. He has been on the highway patrol in the Trail area since July.

In June of last year Const. Kary married and brought his wife to live at 2052 Topping St. in Trail.

FARM COMMENT

Proper Attention To Pasture Leads Important To Good Farming

By HAROLD EVANS, Stoney Plains

That people should be able to produce enough food to feed themselves is one of the first conditions of their comfort and happiness. We have seen how man has grappled with the food problems and by improved cultivation and skillful selection of the best plants has produced bigger and finer crops.

But it is not enough, especially in the northern lands to grow food only for man. To ensure security, supplies of milk and meat all the year round it is necessary that the stocks of animals should be kept through the winter and this can be done only if food is stored for the animals. It is essential for the farmer to grow crops for his cattle, sheep, swine and poultry. Of these the cattle and sheep should have in their diet some food such as hay and vegetables.

Perhaps there is no sphere in which the amateur progress of man is more strikingly seen than in his breakfast and dinner table. In these days the humble family has an astonishing variety and abundance of good foods always available in the depths of winter. A family can sit down to a meal in which fresh milk, fruit and eggs, with equally fresh beef, mutton or pork, play a large part. In the old days there was no such abundance.

During the absence of root crops and of adequate supplies of nourishing hay such as the clovers provide for feeding cattle and sheep in winter, large numbers of animals had to be killed off during the autumn and their flesh sold in readiness for winter food. In Europe a certain number of animals were kept alive through the winter for the benefit of the human body and their flesh, but the mass of the people had a miserable time, raising on a pitiable of poor bread and a little salted meat with no milk and no eggs. No wonder illness was common. No meat, milk and eggs, however, and better are common, and the wonderful change has been brought about by the scientific methods of agriculture which are able to grow all kinds of crops as forage for animals in winter so that they need not be killed off in late autumn before the cold weather sets in.

We have seen how important the grass-farm is to man. His principal plant foods, wheat, oats, barley, etc., come from the soil and are members of that family. And it is equally true that the grasses are extremely important to animals for their most regular and important foods are provided by the grass family. The chief domestic animals, horses, oxen and sheep are grass eaters, and it is no mere partial expression to say, in regard to our most supplies that all flesh is grass.

Our meadows and pastures, though they look so natural, are as much the product of man's care and industry as the wheatfields and the outfields, for in these pastures the farmer grows a crop of grass.

Retail Sales Set Record

OTTAWA — Canada's retail stores rank up the biggest sales in history during the first 11 months of 1953, with totals climbing to $10,174,000.

This was a 7.2 per cent increase from the previous high of $9,452,000 in 1949, the statistics reported recently.

Spending was higher in all provinces but in November and in the 11-month period, the bureau said. Dollar sales during November totalled $2,155,000, down 2.5 per cent from the all-time month high of $2,200,000, but up 2.8 per cent from the November, 1952, total of $2,090,000.

Ottawa Contributes To Yukon Road Link

OTTAWA — The federal government will provide contribution of $100,000 in 1953-54 for the project that will give Yukon the first road link with the outside world. The project involves construction of a 100-mile stretch of rough highway that will join the mining road now in operation between Mayo and Whitehorse. Ottawa is providing 50 per cent of the cost and the Yukon takes 40 per cent. It will probably take about two years to complete the project at something under $200,000.

The pit or trench also can be dug at any suitable place adjacent to the farm buildings and is not expensive. A medium sized bulldozer in a few hours can scrape out a trench large enough to hold

Premier Urges Albertans To Aid In Flood Relief

EDMONTON, June 17.—(M.A.P.) Premier of Alberta, called upon all Albertans citizens to contribute in the European Flood Relief Fund.

Mr. Manning in announcing the federal government's support of the fund said that money is needed urgently to relieve the distress of thousands of people who are homeless by the storm and floods which struck England. The Netherlands and other European countries early in February.

"The people of Alberta are sympathetically in the Winnipeg Flood Relief Fund in 1950 but the present need is greater," the premier said. "The damage, distress and relief caused by the European floods are overwhelming and require a considerably greater effort than that made in help the people of Winnipeg."

He said the urgent need for flood relief funds made it imperative to set up a national organization to raise money for funds. Contributions for flood relief could be made to all branches of charitable bodies in Alberta as well as private offices. Similar arrangements have been made for refugee money orders, housing which will be paid for income tax deductions will be provided.

Premier Manning requested the members and representatives of all Alberta associations to encourage the members of the Flood Relief Fund and urge the public's support. He emphasized that the appeal for funds to aid a flood crisis appears to be the administrative arm of the committee for the distribution of assistance through the international flood relief channels.

1,340 in Canada Top $50,000

OTTAWA The revenue department doesn't know them, but it estimates that 1,340 Canadians earned more than $50,000 in 1932 on the other hand, 1,300 Canadians earned less than $1,000 that year and paid no taxes.

From income tax returns for the 1932 year, the department today came up with these other significant facts in its annual "Fiscal Year" on taxation statistics.

1. On the average, consulting engineers and architects are the best-paying occupations.

2. The average lawyer makes more money than a dentist.

3. The largest group of taxpayers in 1932 earned between $2,000 and $2,500 a year.

4. The figure showed that of some 274,626 taxpayers, 28,116 were in the $2,000-$2,500 a year class; 142,710 formed the second largest group, earning between $2,500 and $5,000; and 141,700 the third largest, earning between $2,500 and $5,000.

Of the $225,000,000 total income tax paid that year, $52,000,000 came from those earning between $2,500 and $5,000 a year; $25,000,000 a year; $25,000,000 a year.

Those earning between $2,000 and $2,500 paid a total of $17,000,000; those between $2,500 and $5,000 paid a total of $17,000,000; those between $5,000 and $10,000 paid a total of $17,000,000.

Consulting engineers and architects were the peak earners in one of all occupations in 1932, an annual average income of $12,000. They paid the highest average tax, $2,211.

Fire Destroys Barn, Cattle, Hogs Perish

“CLOVER BAR — Fire of unknown origin destroyed a barn, six head of cattle and more than 40 pigs on the farm of Mr. Dave Matten.

Mr. Matten, said he had been in the barn around noon and had not noticed any sign of fire. A few minutes later he looked from the house, a window and saw smoke billowing from the barn. By the time he got to the building it was impossible for him to see the animals trapped inside.

A grain battle was fought in order to save the nearby chicken house which would, had it caught fire, spread to the garage and then to the house.

The barn was partially covered with insurance.

Edmonton Students Handicapped

EDMONTON (RUP) — More than half of the children attending Edmonton schools are handicapped, according to city medical officer Dr. M. H. Hayes.

Dr. Hayes told an annual convention of teachers that unknown defects are holding many children back and causing them to drop behind in their studies.

"In many cases," he said, "the children are allowed to attend school with ailments which could be discovered early and remedied."

"Fifty per cent of all students develop eye defects before they reach high school," Hayes said. "But the child's worst handicap is to feel different from his schoolmates. This develops a feeling of frustration."

List One Million For Building Here

A vote of $1,000,000 for a Federal office building in Edmonton tops estimates of the department of public works which were tabled to the Commons Wednesday.

Total of the public works estimates for Alberta is $2,550,000 for construction, acquisition and major repairs and improvements to public buildings during the next fiscal year opening April 1. In the current fiscal year, the total was $1,270,000, of which part was not spent and is being reverted for 1953-54.

The appropriation for the federal building in Edmonton includes a vote of $195,000.

Federal officials said at Ottawa Wednesday that work on the 10-story structure, estimated to ultimately cost more than $3,000,000, will be started this year.

The site is just east of the provincial government building, between 10th and 12th and 10th and 12th. Part of the property was owned by the city. Additional property in the block has also been acquired.

The Times said it was reported that some occupants of houses in the block have been notified to vacate by May 1.

The federal building will occupy a site approximately 285 feet by 150 feet. The main entrance will be on 10th st. There is provision for car parking on the west side of the property.

The architect is George Heath Macdonald FRAC, of Edmonton.

The estimates also provide $150,000 for an addition and alterations to the immigration hall in Edmonton.

For Fort Saskatchewan, there is a vote of $75,000 for a public building. This includes a vote of $50,000.

The items include $75,000 for a public building in Wetaskiwin and a similar sum for one in Havelock. For Edmonton, there is an appropriation of $150,000, of which $75,000 is a reserve.

The list shows $100,000 for a public building in Camrose, including a vote of $25,000. A public building in Athabasca is allocated a vote of $100,000.

Calgary is to receive $150,000 for accommodation for government services, while there is a vote of $100,000 for a public building in Lethbridge.

Estimated outlay for buildings for customs and immigration purposes at Chief Mountain is $100,000 and at Carway $100,000, the latter being a reserve. There is a vote of $100,000 for a public building at Banff.

The estimates also disclose provision for certain projects under the heading of improvements to harbors and rivers. These include $17,000 for a wharf at Abisko, in the Northwest Territories and $50,000 for a wharf extension at Fort Franklin, N.W.T. For wharf improvements at McNaughton Beach, on Fergus Lake, there is a vote of $16,000.

The public works estimates include $700,000 for a public building at Whitehorse, Yukon, and $300,000 for a public building at Yellowknife, N.W.T., of which $100,000 is a reserve. Also there is $150,000 for a public building at Fort St. John, B.C., which includes a vote of $70,000.

The Communist government is planning to demolish the camp, replacing it with a new village. The three-year term on the village council had expired and Krawsky was mayor of Villaring during his 1950-1951 term.

Canada Will Soon Be 3rd Oil Producing Country In The Western Hemisphere

DALLAS, Texas—Prospects are that Canada, with its open door policy to foreign oil companies, will soon pass Mexico to become the third largest producer in the Western Hemisphere. Operators in Canada have budgeted $400,000,000 for development of its expanding oil industry. This is almost twice 1952's record expenditure.

In 1952 its infant oil industry had proved oil reserves of only 22,000,000 bbl. Today, it boasts proved reserves of 1,700,000,000 bbl. The entire Canadian oil sector, from its extensive growth in producing drilling and producing, refining and pipelining methods to its future oil possibilities is thoroughly covered by a special February 1953 issue of The Petroleum Engineer.

Canada has achieved its oil success, in spite of tremendous difficulties, such as a rural oil sector, northern winter and chiefly, a lack of sufficient marketing facilities. Refineries have increased capacity from 40,000 bbl to 125,000 bbl per day. Large volume pipe lines are planned or are under construction to link the Pacific Northwest and the Great Lakes region with west coast Canada oil production.

Perhaps the greatest problem is a coordinated producing-marketing problem of supply and demand. "Canada's recent and first export of oil is another step in the right direction," says the editor. "On balance," a quantity of crude equivalent to our own requirements," asserts The Times, E. C. McCreary, Minister of Mines and Government of Alberta.

The first 40 per cent of the current production comes from the Province of Alberta. Western Canada has a vast "petroleum" base of almost 600,000 sq. acres, whose productive limits are relatively undetermined. An extensive exploratory program is underway and is increasing monthly.

Records were broken in 1952 in the "Canada" wells, where a total of 180 new discoveries were made. Alberta had the greatest number (140 per cent) of discoveries with 187 new oil wells drilled in 1952. Only 512 were dry holes. Total footage drilled was 1,500,000 feet.

Parents Urged To Warn Children About Rabies

EDMONTON—It has been publicly suggested that information on the handling of dogs and other animals be given all children of the Health Unit. Would you please draw this to the attention of your children:

1. If a person is bitten, report the incident—PH 28231—or the Municipal Office at once, and ask the owner of the animal not to kill the animal. If it up or otherwise restrict its freedom until we come to see him.

2. Do not play with dogs or try to hold, pet and comfort them on your terms. They are then likely to bite you about the head and neck, the most dangerous area to be bitten in a rabid dog.

3. If you see a dog running about alone in your neighborhood report this at once to the Town Clerk or Municipal Office. All dogs are now required to wear tags. It is best to use a chain as they will quickly chew through a rope or leather strap.

Singing Stars Of Tomorrow

Winner of his division in the Alberta Music Festival last year, Robert Giesler, baritone, 14 years old, will be singing Canada-wide recognition when he appears at the Singing Stars of Tomorrow radio competition of Sunday, March 8.

Two thousand dollars is the top scholarship award on the program heard 7:30 p.m. on K.S.T. on the Dominion Network. Many singers share in the eventual distribution of more than $10,000 in scholarship money. To share in the scholarship it is necessary to win enough scores on a regular competition program to make the semi-finals, which start on March 29.

Giesler, an Edmonton radio announcer is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Giesler of 11227-125 Street in Edmonton. Only 11 years old, he has already sung twice with the Edmonton "Pops" Symphony and sang the host role with the Edmonton Handicapped Choir's Christmas Concert program, also of Edmonton, was heard earlier this season. Many Alberta contestants have placed high in the singing history of the program although none has won the top award. Elizabeth McNeill of Edmonton was 1st; Beverly McNeill of Edmonton was 2nd; and Beverly McNeill of Edmonton was 3rd. The following year.

MILK MAJOR: This is a photograph of Canadian cheddar cheese being born. It shows the transition stage in cheesemaking when the pure, fresh milk, with the help of modern science, begins to turn into cheese. These slices will be mailed into small droplets of curd and pressed and aged into the delicious, crumbly cheese you buy at the store as "mild," "medium" and "old," depending on its age. Canadian cheddar, long a lunchbox favorite in the United Kingdom, is reaching world-wide fame for its fine texture, flavor and quality. Canadians are coming to realize the value of this entirely Canadian delivery through such programs as the National Cheese Festival which begins October 1 and continues for a month.

$4,000,000 Dollar Capital Program Planned

In order to keep pace with the ever-increasing growth of the system which it serves, North-western Utilities, Limited is planning another major capital works program during the present year. It is anticipated that the expenditure on this program will run close to $4,000,000.00.

In line with its efforts to provide and ensure adequate reserves for its customers over the long range future the Company committed late in 1951 and carried on in 1952 the development of a new source of supply in what is known as the Fort Saskatchewan-Leduc area. The major portion of the expenditure in 1953 will be the further development of this area and the connecting of it to the Company's main transmission line system from the Viking-Kim-elia Field to the City of Edmonton. The detailed planning of this program has not yet been completed. From the work done to date substantial additional reserves have been indicated.

Up to the present time 12 wells have been drilled in this new area and three have been purchased from Imperial Oil Limited. Of 15 drilled four have been abandoned. The remainder, including the wells purchased from Imperial Oil, are commercial producers and will be connected to the Company's system. Approximately $2,000,000.00 of this year's capital expenditures has been allocated to the development of these new areas and for the connecting of them to the Company's existing system.

In December, 1952, the Company connected to its system its 50,000th customer and at the end of the year was serving 50,261 customers. An additional 3,500 customers have been estimated for 1953. In order to serve these substantial additions and improvements have to be made to the distribution systems in the City of Edmonton and other communities which it serves. The extension of its distribution plant and the purchase of meters and regulators to serve its new customers will cost the Company approximately $1,000,000.00.

A franchise agreement has been submitted to the Village of Leduc and it is intended to connect the Village to wells which the Company owns in that area. The distribution system within the Village of Leduc and the transmission line to the wells would be laid this summer.

In order to increase the capacity of its transmission line south to the City of Red Deer in order to serve anticipated new business in the cities and towns south of Edmonton a new compressor station will be built at a cost of approximately $120,000.00 near the City of Wetaskiwin.

Office, residence and stockroom accommodation for its local agents will be built in the Town of Fort Saskatchewan and the Village of Halden. Many additions and alterations will be made to other buildings now owned by the Company.

A Good Investment

The Canadian Cancer Society is again conducting an annual campaign for funds in this community. In considering the request for contributions, most people, it is felt, will be quick to volunteer, and have important is that they give to this cause.

Can they also ask with justification, "I've given year after year and still were threatened by cancer?"

Each man's answer will be his own.

It must be remembered that the long hard road of research is on the turn at this moment. A look at the record of scientific achievement will demonstrate this better than anything else.

The death rate from rheumatic fever declined 53 per cent between 1944 and 1950, the last year for which figures are available. Deaths from pneumonia and influenza declined 47 per cent in the same period. From 1944 to 1949 appendicitis deaths were cut 53.7 per cent and the scarlet fever death rate dropped 70 per cent.

The overall death rate in Canada was reduced 15 per cent from 1937 to 1950.

Research is the key to the defeat of cancer, pneumonia and other antibiotics.

But there is no reason why the cancer death rate did not keep full blown from the minds of their people. They are the victims of many past years of plodding investigation.

And, too, can it be with cancer. If the scientists at this time, they will find the complete answer. Already, half the cancer deaths can be saved by early diagnosis and prompt treatment.

More than 100,000 cancer patients were added to research by the Canadian Cancer Society in 1952. The Society expects to increase the figure this year.

When you are asked to give, do it with great expectations—with the knowledge that cancer can be conquered and with every constant hope that it will be soon.

Wheat Agreement

Discussion

The latest information on the International Wheat conference being held in Washington, D.C., in the United States, has indicated that the wheat producing countries have reduced their figure for a 1953-54 crop to $2.19 billion. The wheat producing countries have increased their figure to $1.95 billion.

The difference in price reports would suggest that the difference in wheat prices is not as great as it has been. There is some hope for a price increase of about $2.00 a bushel.

If no wheat agreement is signed the key to the price situation will rest mainly with the United States. By the end of the crop year the government of that country will have the market and will be able to supply it. If it is dumped on the market prices will add.

Note and Comment

The British wheat crop in 1952 is estimated at 82.8 million bushels. Production in 1951 was 78 million. The average yield per acre was 22.2 bushels.

The livestock industry in France is suffering heavily from foot-and-mouth disease. About 15 per cent of the total cattle population have been infected.

The United States imported 16.6 million bushels of Canadian wheat during the first 10 months of the present year. Of this total 3.2 million bushels were for milling in Canada.

On February 20 some 25 million lbs. of butter was distributed in Canada. An increase of 7 million lbs. over the amount in storage on the same date the previous year.

Super Highways Super Crack-Ups

For many years Albertans have been rightly critical of the condition of highways in the Province. Many comments have been made, however are being replaced with 41 foot wide roadways and concrete curbs with plenty of shoulders and more space for the repair of potholes and potholes.

The Social Committee was instructed to make arrangements for a picnic for members and their families on Friday, June 12 — Farmers' Holiday. It was decided to cancel the May meeting and hold the next meeting on the 10th

Following the business session, Mr. Bruce Ellis of Nubakia and former Junior PUA President, one of the two young men in Canada to win the 1962 Nuffield scholarship which gave him a six-month trip to Britain where he lived with British farmers and studied their methods, showed 160 entree slides, with a running commentary on the scenery, crops and livestock from all parts of the British Isles, and reforestation in Scotland.

Some of the highlights of his talk were that 98 per cent of the British farmers belong to the Farmers Union which has a membership fee of from £25 to £50 per year, and is a voluntary organisation as our own; that each acre of land with three or four applications of commercial fertiliser will pasture one cow for a year; that wheat yields over 100 bushel; per acre where commercial fertiliser and a heavy application of manure was used; that the standard weight of oats is 48 lb. per bushel and oat weight is 56 lb.

Farmers told Bruce that last year was the driest harvest in memory and yet their grain had 18 per cent moisture when threshed. All grain goes in dryers before being stored.

U. of A. 4-H Club Has Successful Season

The University of Alberta 4-H Alumni Club first of its kind in Canada and already one of the most active clubs on the campus recently wound up its past activities with a banquet in the King Edward Hotel in line with other functions which this club has carried on almost 100 per cent of the members were in attendance.

The chairman, President H. Hays, is summing up the year's activities period, and the club has had a number of interesting discussions on various problems and had entertained visiting club members by taking them on tours of the campus. Highlight of the year though, stated Mr. Hays, was Varsity Guest Week End.

this event the Alumni Club extended an invitation to all 4-H members in Alberta, and up a display depicting Alumni activities and a welcoming committee to meet members coming to the campers. The results were nothing short of staggering for when the number closed, of the 1,500 visitors that day who had an insight into 4-H activities, over 1,000 were 4-H'ers.

Guest speaker at the banquet, Mr. H. M. Putnam, Assistant Deputy Minister of Agriculture, commended the club on its worthwhile objectives and the attempt it had made to meet them in the past year. However, he warned members of the club, many clubs fall into taking the easy road and thus gaining popularity through carrying on a blarney and not too constructive program in speaking of what the future held in store for the club.

Mr. Putnam felt it could do much to stimulate interest in young people furthering their education and in helping alumni members to become conversant with some of the problems facing agriculture today. In this connection he stressed the value of extension work and added that he hoped that some members at least would consider this field when thinking of their future careers.

At a final meeting held for the election of new officers, some of the aims of the club for the ensuing year were discussed. Foremost among these were:

- (1) 100% membership of all 4-H'ers on the campus, regardless of faculty or school.

Further education as offered by the University and Schools of Agriculture.

- (4) A fitting welcome for former 4-H members registering as freshmen work in the fall.
- (5) A study of the 4-H program in Alberta.

The executive has been elected to carry out this program in as follows: President, Buck Godwin, Bangsford; Vice-President, Don Robertson, Didsbury; Secretary, Don Buyer, Carbondale; Program, Committee, Betty Brown, Nanton, Howard Russell, Rockyford; Publicity, R. M. Gould, Roseland; Joyce Hastings, Forebuck; Honorary President, Dr. McCallie, Dean of the Faculty of Agriculture.

Lester Pearson, Son of a Methodist Minister, Wins International Acclaim

The name of Lester B. Pearson, the Methodist minister's son from Toronto, is a headline maker in the metropolitan papers of the world because he is in a unique position in the United Nations.

Down in New York where the United Nations assembly has been meeting for months, Pearson presides over the wrangles between Communist spokesmen and the representatives of the free nations, but for the deadlock between these two groups he would probably have been chosen for the biggest full time political job in the world—secretary-general of the United Nations.

No vote, however, can oust him from the position that Mike Pearson holds in the councils of nations. He has been in the thick of every important international meeting in recent years. He attended the United Nations Assembly at San Francisco in 1945, is an original member and former president of the council of the North American Treaty Organization.

The fact that a Canadian enjoys that kind of international prestige is symptomatic of the startling change that has come over Canada in the past 14 years. Canada has become a significant diplomatic force and, where, only a short time ago, the major concern of the parliament and government of Canada was with domestic problems, now world problems, military, economic and diplomatic—all built large in the attention of ministers and parliament.

The External Affairs Department was created in 1939 but it was only in 1943 when Mr. Pearson was already a man of 26—that Canada first asserted her right to be heard and sign a treaty on her own terms.

turn her own treaties in 1922, the decision in 1926 that the government-general no longer was an autocrat, the representative of the king, all these were milestones. Then came the Second World War and the start of a growth that has placed Canadian missions in every major capital, in all Commonwealth capitals, in every colonial region. The one big snag was in the Middle East where Canada is represented only in Turkey.

In this development, the emergence of Mr. Pearson as permanent and then political head of the Department as a member of the St. Laurent cabinet has perhaps been the outstanding fact. But the whole diplomatic service has grown steadily in stature until a non-Canadian Atlantic Park official said privately in Ottawa recently that Canada's political official teams that go to the international councils of the world are recognized and regarded for their sound and speedy judgment.

These post war years, with the birth of UN and the Atlantic Pact and with the steady evolution of the Commonwealth, have thrown upon him the challenge and responsibility of international representation in a way Canada has never before known. It has matured the diplomatic corps itself and produced a global vision of the Canadian as the same, quiet, energetic mediator who soothes division and keeps his eye on the ball.

It has also thrust the cabinet deeply into a new dimension of responsibility and brought such ministers as Mr. St. Laurent, Minister of Finance, Minister of Health in the international stage. Mr. St. Laurent has already been credited with fashioning the Atlantic Pact. Mr. Abbott was only recently described by Britain's Chancellor of the Exchequer, R. A. B. Butler, as the "boy of Finance Ministers." Mr. Claxton has assumed an unusual position in NATO because he is by far the most capable defence minister among the 14 member nations. Mr. Martin is one of the real veterans. His experience goes right back to the League of Nations.

For anything which requires planning and scheduling that diplomacy demands, but still the government is hard pressed to meet the demands of a world which has discovered housing Canada and is anxious to snuff every war she has. There were five Canadian missions in 1929. There are 44 today. There could be considerably more if Canada could meet the demand for them.

Actually representation of Canada abroad can be traced back as far as 1846 when the first High Commissioner was named to London and to 1882 when an Agent-General was posted to Paris. Neither post, however, carried diplomatic status.

It was in 1907 that the wheels began to turn. Sir Joseph Pope, minister of state, recommended to a Royal Commission that a separate Department of External Affairs be established. One reason, he said, was that there wasn't a single complete international correspondence in Ottawa. He suggested that the department be named after another decade.

The department of External Affairs was established in 1913. It was the first of the great departments of the government.

Charge Woman With Perjury

EDMONTON (BUP)—A young Edmonton woman was arrested in police court Thursday after she admitted she had committed perjury while testifying in the preliminary hearing of theft and shoplifting charges against two youths.

Lorraine Schuster was placed in custody after crown prosecutor T. G. Boudry warned her that a conviction on a charge of perjury carries a possible 14 year prison sentence.

Miss Schuster had been testifying in the hearing of the charges against Kenneth Pope and James McKee, who are alleged to have broken into the Calder Lumber and Hardware store and stolen some articles, including four boxes of cigarettes.

The woman claimed that she had driven around in a car with Pope and James Myhaluk on the day of the crime, March 22. However, she claimed they had never seen anyone near the stolen store.

Myhaluk, who is now serving a two-and-a-half year in prison term after pleading guilty to the charge, testified that all four of them had driven to the store but only he and McKee entered the building.

Mr. Schuster later admitted having gone to the Calder store.

"You admit you committed perjury," Boudry then asked.

"Yes," the witness replied.

The prosecutor asked her "why not you to do it?" "Nobody," she answered, "I was my own idea."

She was then placed in custody on a charge of perjury.

Firecracker Sets Fire To Clothes of Tot, 2

EDMONTON (BUP)—Edmonton police chief Ray G. Boudry warned parents not to allow their children to set off firecrackers carelessly.

His warning came on the heels of Sydney Davies, aged two, being injured when a firecracker exploded in his pocket and set fire to his clothing. Mrs. Davies said her daughter was riding her tricycle when the one-year-old boy placed the firecracker in her pocket.

This spring, several other children have reported being injured by two children. Although the children were not injured, the children were not injured.

Patronage cheques totaling $2,220,000 were mailed to members of the Alberta Wheat Pool Tuesday who delivered their grain to Pool elevators in the 1931-32 crop year.

Social Credit Hopes To Win Majority
Seats in British Columbia Election

VICTORIA, B.C.—British Columbia voters will go to the polls on June 9 in their third provincial election in four years but it is still a toss-up whether the election will bring political stability to the west coast province.

The minority Social Credit government of Premier W. A. G. Bennett, which won the rules of the election in June, 1935, in one of the greatest flukes in Canadian political history, is hoping for a renewed mandate and Bennett predicts the Socialists will win to unite and to prevent the vote.

With the election campaign turning into the heat, stretch, however, solid competition has emerged from what were for a time three confused and engaged groups—the Liberals, C.P. and Progressive Conservatives.

Liberals, who were thrown out last year after 10 years in office—the last 11 of them in coalition with the Conservatives, have come up with both a new program and a new leader. Chosen for the task of reorganizing the party was former South Vancouver federal MP, 45-year-old Arthur Laidlaw.

British Columbia's Socialists are still a potent force although they too have changed leadership, bringing up 34-year-old Vancouver school principal Arnold Webster to replace Harold Winch.

And the Conservatives are still in the running—also under a new leader—having picked 34-year-old Kamloops real estate dealer (Bennie) Playdon to take over from one-time coalition finance minister Herbert Anscomb.

Standing at the head of the last legislature was Social Credit 18 seats, C.P. 18, Liberal 6, Progressive 2, Labour 2, and vacant 2.

Premier Bennett, a crafty political strategist, admits that the belief among a large section of the public that Social Credit is the only group which can form a majority government "is the greatest single factor in favor of Social Credit."

Their campaign slogan of "Social Credit or chaos" reflects that thought. A second chaos reflects another trap card the Socialists would be holding—"Social Credit or socialism."

Probably nothing has sagged new Liberal leader Laidlaw more than this slogan, which seeks to develop the idea that the election is strictly a fight between Social Credit and the C.P. and in other words, between free enterprise and socialism.

"The Socialists are undermining democracy by spreading fear based on faith in the minds of the voters," Laidlaw charged at a recent campaign rally in Victoria.

The Socialists are probably the best-organized of any party. They plan on spending about $250,000. The Liberals will spend about $100,000, the C.P. $150,000, and the Tories about $100,000. Laidlaw is leading a drive to collect time raising funds about $100,000.

Underscore of a forthcoming federal election, now expected for August, is running clearly through this provincial campaign.

The Social Credit hopes to achieve a decisive victory, thus virtually restoring a section of some federal MP's from British Columbia in the next federal vote. Other parties find themselves united in a fight to turn back what would be a rising flood of Social Credit strength on the west coast.

Major issue in the campaign is Social Credit's radical new school financing system, dubbed the Robin Hood formula after education minister Tilly Robinson, although it was really devised by finance minister Elmer Gundersen. The Social Credit record, labor legislation, and the hospital insurance service are also important issues.

Meanwhile, Premier Bennett is attacking the other parties for defeating his government at the last session. Bennett has been telling campaign meetings that the Liberals and the C.P. are responsible for causing another election. They have replied with the charge that Bennett's record defied from the time the session started, citing his many challenges to vote for his out.

Opposition party speakers also denied their audience that they asked Bennett to not add the bill on the Robinson formula—the "rock on which the Social Credit of chaos" is founded—until after non-concurrent legislation had been done with. Bennett rejected that request, insisting that a confidence vote be taken on the formula.

The alternative voting system which British Columbia used for the first time last year will soon be employed. Under the system, the voters mark the ballot 1, 2, 3 and so in the order of his preference for the candidates. If the candidate he voted first choice for is the last man on the first count, the candidate is eliminated and his vote is transferred to his second choice candidate. The transfer continues until one candidate gets an absolute majority of the vote.

Outcome of the election will not be known on election night unless one party wins a majority on the first count. There is a three-week waiting period between counting of first and subsequent choices because absolute ballots must first be returned to their home ridings.

A total of 542,550 voters cast ballots in 1932, and the alternative vote did some strange things. Most spectacular feature of the transfer of ballots was that most C.P. voters cast their second choices for Social Credit, and vice versa.

It is generally agreed that this won't happen again, as the two parties are now second-counters.

If one party does not win on the first count, the second-choice ballot will probably determine the election outcome. And the alternative party which is leading on the first count election night. The party may not pick up a proportionate share of second choices, and could be ousted out in the final count by candidates who originally ran second.

For instance, in a riding where a Social Credit candidate is leading on the first count, he might not pick up many of the second choices of candidates who are eliminated. As a result, Liberal, C.P. or Conservative candidates—who ever might be running second—could come out the second by getting enough of the second choice ballots to win a majority.

How many products

do we get from crude oil?

From eggs, a hen can expect just one product—chicks. But from crude oil, Imperial refines 679 different products, ranging from wood liquids to heavy asphalt. And that is not all—crude oil also supplies petroleum gases and other raw materials for plastics and synthetic rubber.

Oil plays a large and growing part in our everyday living. How many of these questions about it can you answer?

Oil supplies are vital to defence. The gasoline required to move one armoured division 100 miles would run your car for 10 years! 91 years! 350 years!

777 117 237

Scientists believe oil was formed from the remains of tiny sea creatures which lived millions of years ago. Would you say oil is found in rock? peat? ricinop?

Since 1947, oil companies have spent $77½ millions on exploration and development in Alberta. In that time the gross value of all oil produced has been $450 millions! $7,500 millions! $10 millions!

It takes many millions of dollars in pipes and equipment to provide high-quality oil products when and where you need them. How much does this amount of per Imperial employee?

$3,156! $6,197! $30,717!

The average family car could be operated for 300 years on the gasoline needed to move one armoured division 100 miles.

Even though gasoline road taxes are higher in all provinces, today's average pay cheque will buy 135 gallons.

Oil is usually found far underground in the tiny pores of rock such as limestone or sandstone. The word petroleum is derived from the Latin "petra" and "oleum"—rock oil.

Not quite $450 millions. Oil companies have received much less than this, of course, because from it came the paid field operating expenses, royalties, taxes and other charges.

Imperial's investment in this 1947 campaign is $30,717 for each of its 13,500 employees—and it is still rising.

Farm Equipment Cost Absorbs Wheat Profit

If farmers had to operate with horsepower and hired labor there would be little profit today in wheat, as the cost of the price of wheat, says the Alberta Wheat Pool.

Discussing the costs of wheat production, an editorial in the Wheat Pool Budget suggests that although extensive mechanization has lowered the cost, say benefits have disappeared because of the higher price of farm equipment.

The larger farms and those with heavy production are in a preferred position, it states. But if misfortune comes through drought, hail, plant diseases or insect pests and a year's crop is lost, the year's pay is gone down the drain.

In the Wheat Pool's calculation, the farmer has been getting about $1.50 a bushel net after paying freight and handling charges on No. 1 Northern wheat selling at $1.65.

"In view of the inflationary trend following the Second World War, and the wheat outlook, that price certainly cannot be considered high." Only a small percentage of what grade No. 1 Northern.

Since 1937 farm mortgages in the prairie provinces have been down 77.7 per cent since 1937.

An article in the Wheat Pool Budget, in Alberta the reduction in outstanding mortgage debt has dropped from $7.7 billion in 1937 to $2.1 billion in 1962. It was down to $2.1 billion.

In Saskatchewan, hard hit by depression and drought in the 1930s, the average drop has been even higher at 88.5 per cent. The total debt dropped from $107,300,000 in 1937 to $12,788,000 last year.

Married Women Important Part Of Teaching Force In Alberta

EDMONTON—A generation ago, 80 per cent of the teachers were single women, but in Alberta today only 28 per cent of the teachers are single women. Twenty years ago it was considered almost a crime for a married lady to hold down a teaching job. But not today.

This is so remarkable a shift of emphasis that it constitutes almost a miracle. Does it mean that teachers are leaving the profession? No. On the contrary it is fashionable today for the glamorous school teacher — and what school teacher nowadays is not glamorous — to enter matrimony while remaining in the teaching profession. In at least one large Canadian city the school board has an arrangement whereby married teachers may be granted extended maternity leave on request. It is reported that their pupils hail their return with delight and rush to show them the progress that has been made in school in the interval.

Statistics recently released from Ottawa indicate that there will be a sharp increase in the school population all over Canada in the next ten years, particularly in the western provinces, Alberta, Manitoba and British Columbia. Thousands of new rooms will have to be built, and thousands of additional teachers will be required to staff them. Have you visited one of these new schools lately? If so you will agree that nowadays the most attractive building in town is likely to be the school. It is bright, well ventilated, beautiful as well as practical in its structure, and equipped not only as a centre of learning but in many communities as a centre for cultural and social purposes for the citizenry. He needs the children like to go to school, and no wonder if they were years of frustration when they were to day home? No wonder the misapprehensions practically always pass the vote to build the new schools.

A national emergency in education is almost upon us. A relentless horde of children will soon be descending in a mass invasion upon our schools, and we to that community which cannot supply the accommodation and staff the school with an adequate supply of teachers. The only untapped source of teacher supply is the reserve of married women who already have teaching certificates and a background of experience in the classroom. Already married women are being induced in large numbers to re-enter the teaching profession. Married women are fond of children; many of them have children of their own, and know more about children and what is good for them than any other part of the community can possibly know. In the schools of the immediate future it is fully expected that one out of every two or three teachers employed will be married women. Married women are the logical source of supply for the suggested school environments now imminent.

There are at present 7,000 teachers actively engaged in Alberta classrooms. Statistics indicate that by 1966 Alberta will be using 12,000 teachers.

Barley Contest For 1963

WINNIPEG — Encouraged by improvements in quality of western barley since the brewing and malting industry sponsored the first National Barley Contest in 1944, directors of the Barley Improvement Institute have decided to continue the competition this year.

The contest in 1963, as it was in 1962, will be confined to growers in Manitoba and Alberta.

The Saskatchewan Malting Barley and Improvement Committee has again decided that the farms which ordinarily would go to Saskatchewan winners in the competition will again be used for fertilizer and cultural experiments, and demonstrations at the university at Saskatoon, the barley nursery at Tisdale, and such other points as the Committee may decide.

As was done in other years, each province will be divided into two regions. The three top winners in each region will automatically compete in the respective provincial contests. The two top winners in each province will automatically compete for the major interprovincial prize of $500 for first and $200 for second. In addition to seven cash prizes in each region, there will be three provincial prizes of $200, $150 and $100.

In view of the fact that services of elevator operators are important agencies for handling and shipping; malting barley, a prize of $100 in each province will again be awarded the operator who handles and ships the first prize entry.

Again the contest is a closed competition. Contestants have to enter a minimum carload of 1,500 bushels of one of three eligible varieties of malting barley, Mustang, OJL or O.A.C. 21.

The contest is open to any bona fide farmer in malting barley area except that winners of the first place interprovincial award in previous contests will not be eligible. Entry forms will be available from local elevator operators.

Canadian Farmers Today Said On Land By Choice

"Canada has a generation of people on the land today who are there because they want to be there," Grant MacEwan, chairman of the Council of Canadian Beef Producers, (Western Section), told Wednesday's luncheon meeting of the Calgary Cym Club in the Fall at Hotel.

He said that in the 30's a lot of people were on the land across Canada because they had no choice and there was nothing else for them to do. But, when the war came and the wheels of industry began to turn many men took the opportunity to get away from the land. Consequently, this left as with a group of people on Canadian farms who were there by choice.

After giving details of a survey he had conducted among agricultural students at the University of Manitoba during the time when he was dean of agriculture there, Mr. MacEwan said that all this talk about rural depopulation — the fact that farm boys were leaving the farms to go into the cities and that there were not enough men left to man the farms — had been going on for the past 100 years.

"The important thing" he said, "is not that we have more people living on the land. The important thing is that the people on the land want to be there. The important thing is not to discourage the farm boy who wants to leave the land, any boy who wants to leave the city to go on the land."

Edmonton Is Still Short of Police

EDMONTON (UPI)—New appointments made by the city council of the Edmonton City Police are not overcoming the staff short, police officials say.

So far this year 10 constables have been recruited, but 12 others have left the force in the same period. Officials were from Irish recruits who arrived last November.

U.N.I.C.E.F. Does Important Work

The work of the United Nations U.N.I.C.E.F. stands out as one of the great achievements of that organization. With only $180,000,000 to spend since 1947 they have helped 75 million children giving them milk, medical care, etc.

Contributions to the fund come from many countries. According to population New Zealand has made the greatest contributions, Canada, Canada, and United States.

When the organization asked Hare, if he would help for the flood victims, Hare said no but instead sent $40,000 help.

There is no limit to the demand as the suffering among children can hardly be imagined. This work of the UN is very white.

Bill Pace, of Brewster, Tenn., complained about the first place interprovincial award in previous contests will not be eligible. Entry forms will be available from local elevator operators.

BERMUDA, BRITAIN'S OLDEST COLONY IS WORLD FAMOUS PARADISE

Tiny Bermuda, although not completely unmechanized, still retains the spirit of the long-dead past. Life on these lovely coral islands is still as easy and uncomplicated as it was in our father's time. The simple construction of homes, lime-washed in delicate rainbow shades, are built along the same lines and by the same methods as were used 200 and more years ago. Many of these buildings, characterized by their dazzling white roofs from which all the drinking water in the British colony is caught, have not a sound in construction that they are still standing after more than 200 years. The oldest building on the islands is the old State House in St. George, built of the native coral stone in 1620.

But the keyword which best characterizes Bermuda is its simplicity. Take a drive along the South Shore over the gentle rolling hills and look down on the long stretches of beaches and the little coves formed by arms of grey coral. There is no sound but the sea breeze through the oysters and the lazy wash of the waves over the sand.

Perhaps it was this same atmosphere of peace which Mark Twain noted in 1871 on one of his many visits to the islands. He wrote: "There are no harasments (here); the deep peace and quiet of the country sink into one's bones and gives his conscience a rest, and chloroform the legion of inviable devils that are always trying to whitewash his hair."

It was always quiet, orderly little British colony ever since it was founded by a group of British sailors 340 years ago. With the increase of air travel in the past 25 years it has become a crossroads of the Western Hemisphere with planes from Europe and America stopping at the islands to discharge or take on passengers.

Although quiet, Bermuda is never monotonous since there is so much to do here. There are four tennis courts, golf courses, dozens of fine-in-tout-cas, miles of Bermuda's famous pink beaches to sport on. Amidst this are some of the most beautiful surroundings to be found anywhere. The sea sports in all shades of blue, purple, coral, turquoise, green and myriad other colors are always in sight. The lovely houses perch on the sides of the gently rolling hills and overlook the countless little sounds, bays and harbors formed by encircling arms of land.

It is a legend that St. Brendan, an Irish monk, discovered the islands in the 6th century when he arrived here with a company of monks in the coracle of water. "St. Brendan's Island" was lost as early as 1492 to the sea and was rediscovered on Martin Behaim's famous Nuremberg Globe of 1492. The islands are approximately the same spot as the Azores, a Spanish, who probably sailed around them early in the 16th century. "La Bermuda" was settled and uninhabited except for the periodic sea visits of shipwrecked sailors until 1609 when the Sea Venture, flagship of a fleet of nine vessels sent out from England with supplies for the infant colony of Virginia, was wrecked off the reefs on the eastern coast of the islands. Admiral Sir George Somers, in command of the expedition, came ashore with his crew of 150 men and set about building a temporary settlement until ships could be constructed to transport them to America. When Sir George's men arrived back in England (the Admiral died on the islands the following year), their accounts of Bermuda so interested the Virginia Company that it decided to colonize the islands and sent out the first governor, 60 settlers in 1612. Their instructions were to discover pearls, ambergris, or gold which were rumored to be in abundant supply in Bermuda. In 1913 the Bermuda Company replaced the Virginia Company as the controlling organization of the islands.

The Colonial Parliament first met in 1620 in the old State House still standing in St. George on the eastern end of the islands. Next to the mother Parliament in London and the Parliament in Iceland, it is the oldest Parliament in the world. Over the 340 years of its settlement Bermuda has remained England's oldest and most loyal colony. As in the past, its governor is still appointed by the Crown.

The semi-tropical climate in Bermuda is about as perfect as it could be found anywhere. The yearly temperature is 70.7 degrees and seldom falls below 55 even in mid-winter. The Summer and Fall months, one of the loveliest periods on the islands, are filled with warm days and cool evenings. The temperature averages in the low seventies from the end of May through November. Perhaps this is the reason why the climate is one of the healthiest in the world and why many Bermudians over ninety are still vigorous and active.

No matter how you come or how much time you spend here, you will find Bermuda a truly enchanted place, possessing an atmosphere all its own, with much to see and explore and do. Whatever you enjoy most, whether it be meeting people from foreign lands, playing golf on one of the four first-rate courses, sailing or fishing on the many sounds and bays, there is one thing which will greatly impress you: the natural beauty of the islands and the contented, full and happy life of the people.

MR. WM. H. SHAPKA PURCHASES START OF PURE-BRED HERD

VILNA.—Recently Mr. Wm. H. Shapka scouted the Canadian prairies for some top Herefords in order to begin a breeding herd of his own. His recent trip to the west was a registered breed and pure bull calf from one of the finest and most intelligent Hereford breeders in western Canada, J. S. Palmer and Son, Medicine, Saskatchewan.

Shapka's visit is important, as by his visit of other wanted and to the British Isles. He is also the owner of the bull calf, which was purchased from the Wyoming Hereford Ranch, which he has been purchasing for some time. Shapka was accompanied by his father and his family to the Palmer's home in Canada. The purchase of the bull calf is a big step in the development of the Shapka herd.

When the bull was brought home, it was driven from their home in Poland to Canada and was then driven to the Shapka home in Canada. The bull was then driven to the Shapka home in Canada.

The family consists of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Shapka and their four children. The family is now living in the Shapka home in Canada.

Workers' Pay Hits New High

OTTAWA (BUP) — Canadian workers are earning the highest average wages in history. The Bureau of Statistics reports they took home $25,000,000 in pay, during February. This represents a total labor income to workers of eight per cent over the same month a year ago — a high it is below the total in some of January.

Every retroactive pay settlements boosted the total in January.

The average weekly pay in non-agricultural industry is $54.4 compared with $53.95 a year earlier.

Defence Test For Alberta

FAIRBANKS CITY, Utah — Civil defence directors drafted a plan to test defenses of eight western states: Hawaii, Alaska, Alberta and British Columbia.

The test would include a mock enemy attack that theoretically would sweep through Alaska, Canada and into the United States.

Civil defence representatives of the area involved set the date of the test for June 20 and planned to chart the details Saturday.

Lt. Gen. Henry Larsen, president of the National Association of State Civil Defence Directors, said a similar test has been conducted in 15 middle western states.

Charge Murder After Stabbing

BRANDON — A 37-year-old Irish postmaster faces a murder charge because of the result of a fatal stabbing early this week at Camp Hill military base nearby.

Pvt. Reginald John Finn was arrested following a coroner's inquest into the death of one of Finn's companions in battle — 20-year-old L/C W. N. Smith of Toronto.

Finn and Smith were fellow-members of the 3rd Battalion, Royal Canadian Regiment.

Smith was fatally stabbed in a bar at Berlin, as the two soldiers prepared to go out on a marching parade Wednesday at the request of a local argument between the two men preceded the stabbing.

Off-Warrior Is Thrown

PORT ARTHUR (BUP) — John Myers, a 19-year-old old worker, was drowned when his car plunged into a creek at Port Arthur, 90 miles northwest of Edmonton.

Myers said two boys found the submerged car and the body was recovered five hours later.

Police said Myers, an employee of Amerasia Oil, apparently tried to ford the Nigger Creek in his car by driving across it over a treacherous earth fill. There was no bridge nearby.

The creek, swollen by spring rainfall and melting snow from the Rockies, was flowing over the earth fill and the car tumbled into deep water. The driver was unable to struggle clear of his car before drowning.

Less than one hour of "head" known by 30 directly resources are to him.

In Sweden, the Swedish Home-when League is demanding that the Government grant all wives in the country an annual "salary" of at least 1,000 crowns ($194), plus an additional allowance of 500 crowns ($97) for each child. So far, the home-when proposal is not welcome in Government circles.

Churchill Gives Trade Mark Gift

LONDON — Prime Minister Churchill had to think of an appropriate little gift for the officers and one-commissioned officers of the Queen's Own Grenadier, who escorted him in the Coronation procession.

vicant, something to touch the heart.

So every Grenadier who went to 10 Downing Street to be photographed got from him a very large impersonal-looking cigar.

Work Banned The Clock To Get Crop Seeded

EDMONTON—Farmers in the Edmonton region are working round the clock to complete seeding operations while the weather holds. Field Crop Commissioner A. M. Wilson says.

"There is nothing to delay the farmers now," Mr. Wilson said. "The weather is still good and farmers don't want any more rain until their crops are in. Then a three-day delay would be bad."

Seeding in the area is about two weeks later than normal, he said, and is even later in southern Alberta.

He agreed with reports that wheat acreage may be reduced due to the late season. Farmers like to get their wheat planted by May 15 and if unable to do so will require additional land to make up for the shortfall, he said.

RCAP Run Shortest Swimming Course—Just Three Days

EDMONTON.—The RCAP Survival Training School is running what is believed to be the shortest swimming course in Canada. Non-swimming survival students, in these one-hour periods, are taught to swim so that should they be forced to land on a body of water, they would be able to reach land to put into practice the principles of survival taught in Edmonton.

Each holiday season brings a tremendous amount of stress to the victims of crime. Some of the victims are of course emergency responders, who are often called upon to assist in the water. But the majority are the victims of the crime, and their families. Public medical groups are making it a point to provide the necessary training to the emergency responders, and a large percentage of our work is done in the water. The reason for this appears to be the fact that the majority of the victims of crime are drowning victims. It is estimated that the average of the 10,000 victims of crime is drowning. This is a shocking figure.

When in September 1972, the RCMP issued a report on all survival students who had been in swimming pools. It was found that the majority of the victims of crime were drowning victims. This was a shocking figure. The reason for this appears to be the fact that the majority of the victims of crime are drowning victims. It is estimated that the average of the 10,000 victims of crime is drowning. This is a shocking figure.

SURVIVAL SCHOOL

AIRMEN SAY, "IF YOU LIVE, YOU'VE PASSED THE COURSE"

By Roland Wild, In the Calgary Alberta

I sat before a roaring fire in the Northern Alberta bush 200 miles north of Edmonton, Temperature: 20.

I was reproaching, as closely as possible, the plight of an animal of a plane crashed-landed in unknown country. The values I were given from emergency supplies, the way in the pot was from the plane's emergency rations. The flares were the dramatic orange and white sections of a parachute, making a tent for the four of us. Behind me, three fives were set ready for signals, in the triangle that is the R.C.A.F. signal of distress—green lights for daytime survival, small trees for night-time flames.

Our most valuable possessions were an axe, a shotgun, 21 ration boxes and a small red cut-lined Lant and Sun Envelopes. The look is the look of the Survival School of the R.C.A.F., the strongest school in North America. In 82 pages it gave me the laws of survival. It dictated every move I must make in the next six days—the size on this, a rough philosophy for use in the woods, even the fact that I must not eat anything of anything.

The 21 ration boxes, six inches by four by four, each contain 10 hawkfish biscuits, six ounces of dehydrated beef and pork extract, one oatmeal block, seven tangerine powder, 12 compressed matches, six lumps of sugar, one bar of chocolate, two corn flakes, salt, chicken noodle soup (one pint), one block of hard candy, one plastic spoon. Two sample meals suggested by a menu sheet placed in the bottom of each box are:

| BUCKFAST | SUPPER |
|------------------|---------------------|
| Outfront Black | Chicken Noodle Soup |
| Mint Bar (1 1/2) | Mint Bar (1 1/2) |
| Plastic (2) | Biscuits (2) |
| Ten, Sugar | Cocoa Beverage |

On this ration I am advised to reserve a compromise to save my energies. The book instructs me how to make snares and traps for small animals, and with the shotgun I can supplement the means with rabbits, squirrels, or even man. But the book reminds me that I must not expend energy if it means that it makes me more hungry. For the same reason I must keep warm, for a chilled man needs more vitamins. My three considerations, always to be kept in the front of my mind are: 1. Warmth, 2. Food, 3. Signals.

This way, I can survive in the bush.

The course was put together and is supervised by the R.C.A.F.'s greatest expert on the Northland, P.J. Scott Alexander, a strapping 40-year-old ex-house who spent 10 years in the North, much of the time alone.

When planning the course, he at first assumed that in every area there would be one or two men who were experienced in the bush. In the great outdoors, after a time he revised his opinion; he goes on the assumption today that nobody knows anything. None of the instructors will say who makes the best bushman, town boy or country boy, but it is ironic that the best is from London, England, P.J. Leonard Beadish, adjutant of the school and an instructor.

"Probably the easiest animal to catch is a rabbit," Beadish said, "but you can't live on rabbit for more than five days. Kill the whole animal, and eat the lot—stomach and entrails. Drink the water after; waste, and save the fat for waterproofing your boots."

He went on in the role of a Mr. Beaton of the bush, with other recipes from one of the world's most unusual cookbooks, part of the R.C.A.F. Manual on Survival, "Purposely are quality diets," he said, "and are not for health. Still the white side of the middle of the underbelly, and eat the whole side. The book has a lot of other things. Remember, Gamekeepers have a muley flavor, not bad. Take the wings off and fry the bones. Stuffed mice are O.K. if you forget what you're eating, and

The second day there was nothing in the snare, and Beadish advised them and prepared the same menu of neutral-tasting "mud food product." He declared against hunting rabbits with the shotgun in order to save energy. "Above all, we don't shoot for sport," he said. "Each camp set a foraging party with the shotgun every day, taking compass bearings to insure return, but without result. Our movements were becoming slower, and our preoccupation was with the next meal. The mind tended to exaggerate small details. Relationships were strained, and there were suddenly immense importance in the position by the fire, and layout of the sleeping bag in the cold tent at night, the infinitesimal details which wild men would ignore.

Not till the fourth day, when Beadish was cutting ice on the creek for a water hole, did the snare produce anything for the pot, and then it was only a whiskey jack that hung by the leg from the looser. The tiny black, moving, the pot for food, was the only variation from the monotonous ruse of the ration.

The 30 students of the course straggled through the woods with Indian and trapper instructors, and ex-Mounties commissioned in the R.C.A.F., were faring as badly in an area apparently empty of game. Each camp set a foraging party with the shotgun every day, taking compass bearings to insure return, but without result. Our movements were becoming slower, and our preoccupation was with the next meal. The mind tended to exaggerate small details. Relationships were strained, and there were suddenly immense importance in the position by the fire, and layout of the sleeping bag in the cold tent at night, the infinitesimal details which wild men would ignore.

On the fifth day, the beef extract was tasteless and only the chocolate bar and candy were welcome. The snare remained empty. We imagined the despair of a crew: checking the diminishing hopes as they prepared new sign flags, fired off their rockets and searched the skies for rescue.

But on the sixth day, when we marched slowly out of the bush to civilization, we had a new kind of confidence, with the knowledge that a forward landing and a week's wait for rescue would mean hardship but not death. The bush had been the same of the former day, the "straw man" who runs over the head-hungry terrain in North America, through one young officer said, "I only wish to get the last thing off my back and get home." The bush was the same, but the man was different: this course, if you're alive, you're saved.

RURAL ELECTRIC CO-OPERATIVES SHOULD POOL THEIR RESOURCES

By L. B. McNEIL

According to J. A. L. Hubner, Minister of Industries, there are some 1,200 rural electric co-operatives in Alberta. Under the present legislation, however, each co-operative is limited to a total of 1,000 members. This is a serious handicap to the rural electric co-operatives in Alberta. The Minister of Industries has suggested that the co-operatives should pool their resources and form a larger co-operative. This would allow them to pool their funds and purchase equipment in bulk, thus saving money. The Minister also suggested that the co-operatives should pool their technical resources and employ a common staff of engineers and technicians. This would also save money and improve the quality of service.

Gambing Out in Edmonton

Operation of a carnival at Edmonton's Borden Park focused attention Tuesday on the city's recent ruling prohibiting operation of such devices as wheels of fortune, coin tables and punch boards at carnivals.

Mayor William Hawrelak said complaints about the type of games operated by the carnival had been received and police would be ordered to check and enforce the games-of-chance ruling.

Sgt. William Smith of the morality department reported that to date carnival operators have heeded police warnings in this respect and no charges have been laid and no gaming devices confiscated.

Games requiring skill still are permitted under the new city code. But games of chance prohibited at carnivals are allowed in the midway during the annual summer exhibition.

Sgt. Smith said he had received complaints from carnival operators who contended Edmonton is the only major city imposing restrictions on gaming devices.

After citizens' complaints about the carnival's games were raised at Monday night's city council meeting, city commissioner John Hodgson said carnivals has been moved from one site to another until Borden Park was the only place left.

Commissioner D. B. Menzies, speaking about past troubles with carnival locations, said "there won't be any more as far as I am concerned," and Commissioner Hodgson indicated he was in agreement.

Drinking Ban May Go Soon

The controversial ban on mixed drinking in the beverage rooms of hotels in Calgary and Edmonton may now be lifted. It was learned in Calgary this week.

It was one of the strong recommendations made last February by the Alberta Hotel Association to a special committee appointed by the provincial government to examine the liquor problem.

Halving of the ban, which applies only to the two cities and not to rural hotels, would not require amendment of the new liquor act to come into force next month.

It is a regulation of the Alberta Liquor Board and can be altered without generating opposition in the legislature.

It is understood the board has been holding back until the effect of the new provisions for the control of beer parlors can be examined.

Liquor board chairman A. J. Mason hinted to the Alberta Hotel Association this week that with a higher standard in some city beer parlors, the board would be more than willing to consider its suggestions.

Association President A. G. Swinburn urged hoteliers to start a campaign for more comfort and a "club" atmosphere.

One difficulty in the cities, particularly in Edmonton, is the lack of seating accommodation in the beverage rooms.

The new ruling of the liquor board to allow a minimum floor space of 50 sq. ft. per table came under criticism at May boardroom convocations, said here now been postponed. Mr. Mason said it was an arbitrary figure selected after an Edmonton architect had recommended 60 sq. ft.

Main criticism came from rural hoteliers, who said most of their business was on Saturdays.

Big Water-fowl Population Presents Serious Problems To Western Farmers

By SEYMOUR H. STERNHEIM
The Canadian Wild Life Branch of the Department of Resources and Development is struggling with the problem of increasing the population of wild ducks and geese in Canada, and at the same time offer protection to farmers and ranchers.

However, the situation in the Prairie Provinces is the last few years has been a serious one. In the last few years, the population of wild ducks and geese has increased as high as 50 per cent in some areas. This has caused a serious problem for farmers and ranchers, who are not only losing their crops and livestock, but also their property. The problem is that the birds are not only eating the crops and livestock, but also the property. The birds are not only eating the crops and livestock, but also the property. Storm Lashes Aik; Crops Suffer Damage

ALIX—A hail storm of terrific intensity struck Aik and district on the afternoon of July 14. The storm struck around 4:30 in the afternoon and lasted for upwards of a half-hour.

The area damaged measured three miles wide, and properties within the area suffered heavy damage. The hailstones varied in size, some measuring as much as five inches in diameter, though most of the stones were the size of golf balls.

In the Village of Aik practically every business roof on the main street required repair. Damage was heavy losses in the storm for many cars were subjected to the pounding of the hailstones. Farmers in the storm area report a complete loss of crops and gardens.

Intelligent conversation is best served when some people we know are conversational.

Woodward's Feast Wins Parade Trophy

EDMONTON—Drawing scribbles from the thousands who jammed the parade route, the feast entered by C. Woodward Ltd. of Edmonton was judged the best in the parade.

An authentic replica of the Cornucopia, complete with marching grey horses and footmen, the float represented more than a month of work by the display staff of the store. This is the third straight year that Woodward's Edmonton store has taken the trophy.

The trophy was presented by Henry Birks and Sons, Western Ltd., and presented at the Exhibition grandstand opening night by L. S. Nelson, manager of the Birks Edmonton store.

The Purple Lantern restaurant won the Canada Safeway trophy for the best float entered by a city firm. The Pussak 4-H Club won the Exhibition trophy for the best float entered by a junior farm group.

Well Known Landmark Disappears

SALISBURY—What was probably one of the last few remaining old land marks in this part of the country has been demolished.

A barn built in 1908 on the farm of the late Mr. Albert Stannard, now owned by two of his sons, Ray and James and known as Stannard Bros., has been torn down to make way for a new and modern dairy barn.

Lumber for the old building was cut and saved from trees growing on the farm. The ground has been leveled and work on the new structure will begin shortly.

The Liberals say they can't cut your taxes!

WE WILL!

the Main Issue in this election is YOUR MONEY!

We will budget for Government's legitimate needs... we will stop budgeting for bloated surpluses which—in three years—took from the people's pockets the staggering sum of $1,613,000,000 more than the Government needed.

We will end the shocking conditions in our Defence Department which the Government's own investigator, (Col. G. S. Currie) described as: "A general breakdown in the system of administration, supervision and accounting... Accounting records in a chaotic condition and of little use in determining the nature and extent of irregularities... Waste and inefficiency far more costly in less than that covered by actual dishonesty".

We will, without impairing the efficiency of our Armed Forces, correct the appalling inefficiencies in the administration of the Department of National Defence.

We will provide the nation with an administration whose attitude towards the spending of public monies will be one of prudence and common sense. A new Government in fact will mean substantial savings to the taxpayer—it will replace a Government whose arrogant indifference to economy was best expressed by Mr. Howe's scornful remark, "What's a Million?". Or, "If they need a gold-plated plane it is our duty to buy it".

We will reduce or eliminate countless hidden, indirect taxes which grossly in... the cost of consumer goods, add to the grievous cost of living, increase the price of homes beyond the capacity of most of our people to pay, discourage saving and initiative.

We will reduce federal taxes by at least $500,000,000 a year... without reducing any pensions, family allowances, or other social security payments.

CORONATION After-Lites . . .

THOUGH Britain's Queen was officially crowned on June 2nd, the round of activities connected with Coronation year, did not subside until last week. The Queen, and her consort Prince Philip attended a multitude of functions, both military and social during the days and weeks which followed the coronation.

Coronation Armada Makes Impressive Spectacle At Spithead

ONE OF THE QUEEN'S first duties after her Coronation was to attend the review of the naval armada at Spithead. One of the most impressive gatherings of fighting ships ever seen, the Armada stretches for seven miles along the coast of Spithead.

JUNIOR SERVICE PROVIDES IMPRESSIVE FLY-PAST

WHEN THE QUEEN reviewed the air-force, there were air-craft of all types in use by the Commonwealth air-force units. The fly-past, an exceptional bit of planning and timing, was an impressive sight, not the least of which was this formation E.I.I.

ONE OF THE candidates for the position of Prime Minister of the United Kingdom was Mr. R. H. Laurent, Conservative member of the House of Commons. He was defeated by Mr. Harold Wilson, leader of the Labour Party.

Named In Queen's Coronation Honor List

ARMY PERSONNEL came in for their share of honor during the Coronation too. Besides reviewing troops, the Queen named several in her honor list. Two Canadians listed for awards were Lieut. Loomis, left, of Deep River, Ont., who received the Military Cross, and Major J. McLaughlin of Ottawa, who was made a member of the Order of the British Empire.

BUT A MOTHER AT HEART

DESPITE HER busy round of reviews and functions, despite her ever pressing duties of state, Queen Elizabeth still finds time to share in the quiet, happy joys of family life with her two children, Prince Charles and Princess Anne.

LIBERALS GAINS FOR ALBERTA FORECAST BY P.M.'s SON

Edmonton, July 28.—In a prediction made in Edmonton recently, Jean St. Laurent, son of the Prime Minister, forecast that the Liberal party will win an absolute majority in the next federal election. He stated that the Liberal representation would spread over a wider area.

His prediction on the election Mr. St. Laurent said, were based on reports received in the east before he started his trip west. This is what he predicted for other provinces.

West—million An increase of seats from five to six and possibly seven.

Quebec—Eight seats resulting from a vote of three or four seats from the P.C.'s but losing two from too much Liberal strength.

Quebec—Insufficient Liberal candidates are running against former Liberals thus splitting the vote.

Ontario—Some losses were anticipated for Ontario, but the Liberals are expected to obtain the majority.

Maritime—Expect a drop of two or three seats.

Mr. St. Laurent did not detail the other provinces, but he said that in Manitoba the Liberals are very happy, and though B.C. is Social Credit "eventually" it will go to the Liberals in the federal house. In Saskatchewan the CCF were losing ground federally.

He gave Social Credit little chance, stating that voters in Canada "will not go for a party that is basically a one-province group."

Mr. St. Laurent said he had no desire to follow his father into politics. He said he is working for the defeat of the Duplessis government in Quebec, which he declared poses a threat to Canada's democratic system of government.

Praise For The Lodge

The Ottawa Citizen says: "When Jasper Lodge burned down last summer, there was widespread sadness in Canada at the destruction of a building that had become almost a national landmark. The fears were premature. The Toronto Star reports, with some awe, that after nine months' labor by 500 men working double shift, a new Lodge had been opened this week. The Canadian National Railway handled the logistics problem in a manner brilliant for the organizers of the Normandy invasion. Four diesel engines hauled their output, and 1,800 tons of stone, steel and cement were hauled to the building site. The complete job is a credit to the railway's administrative staff.

The public's sentimental attachment to the old Lodge should shift to the new structure without difficulty. For all its beauty, the old building was after all as much a symbol as a material thing. It stood for the big sky and heaving air, for dim trails, and for the unmanageable. The new Lodge represents some same things. For most Canadians, in fact, it can hardly be anything but a symbol. Its cabins accommodate 650, of whom 85 per cent are usually Americans. But Canadians can view Jasper as residents of Long Island think of a Broadway show. There is always the satisfaction of knowing that it is there."

Civil Service On 5-Day Week

EDMONTON (B.P.)—About 4,600 Alberta civil servants will start working a five-day week Monday, under a new work schedule approved recently by the provincial cabinet.

Economic Affairs Minister A. J. Hoolie said civil servants will be off the job Saturdays but that employees of Land Titles office and court houses, whose hours are set by statute, will continue to work five and one-half days.

The new hours for government employees benefiting from the scheme will be from 8:30 to 11:45 a.m. and from 1 to 5 p.m. Former working schedule was from 8:30 to 11:30 a.m. and 1 to 4:30 p.m. Working hours in provincial Treasury Branches will be the same as those in other banks.
